PYMATUNING DAM, JAMESTOWN, Pa., Aug. 17—Thousands of western Pennsylvanians and political and civic leaders from this and the neighboring state of Ohio assembled here today as Gov. Gifford Pinchot dedicated the $3,750,000 Pymatuning dam and reservoir to the "use and service" of the Commonwealth.

Eager to witness the official opening of Pennsylvania's greatest single water conservation development, they came by rail, road and air to mount the 2400-foot retaining wall of earth and stone and hear the governor's tribute to the project and the men responsible for it.

From Ohio a stream of cars poured across the embankment constructed to bridge the one-time swamp which separated the villages of Espyville, Pa., and Andover, O. Other moving lines of cars twisted into this already famous dam-site from Erie, the Allegheny river centers of Oil City and Franklin, and the truly grateful cities of Sharon and New Castle.

Governor Speaks.

"Three years ago at this same place I promised to build the dam." Governor Pinchot, speaking from a point overlooking the partially filled lake, declared. "I said, 'The Pymatuning dam has been started and will be completed during my administration. That is a source of deep-

Dear Pa Newc:

In the year of 1904 the Chestnut blight appeared in this country coming from China and the results killed all of our chestnuts. Dead chestnuts studded the woods all over the land. And to save other trees and remove forest fire danger the dead chestnuts were all cut down. But in many cases young sprouts started to grow from the stumps, but these young growing sprouts were attacked and killed. The blight canker was so destroying that one single canker would kill the largest tree, but today young chestnut sprouts have seemed to overcome this disease and are growing vigorous and strong. In Gaston Park there are young chestnuts growing near blighted stumps and with protection and care the park will harbor once more one of our grandest of trees the chestnut.

County Sends Large Delegation To Dam

Early today the advance guard of Lawrence county citizens who are attending the Pymatuning Dam dedication exercises left New Castle for the site. An inspection trip of the dam was to be made early today with the exercises scheduled for 2:45 this afternoon at the dam.

Among those leaving early was Fred L. Rentz, general chairman of the day.

From Ellwood City Hon. M. A. Bickett and Carl Davidson left among the first and later in the day a large group of industrialists and prominent citizens were scheduled to leave.

E. E. Haslam, the first engineer on the Pymatuning Dam who was located at New Castle for several years arrived early today from Harrisburg and after visiting with friends left for the dam.

Lawrence county has played a prominent part in the securing of the Pymatuning Dam since it was first suggested and has a share in the dedication exercises today.

OLD TIMERS HAVE ANNUAL GATHERING

Costume Pageant Is Feature Of Event; Weather Clears Off For Occasion

With many old time residents of the city present from a distance, and a large number of the descendants of local pioneer families present, Old Timers Day was observed with all its dignity Thursday afternoon, in spite of threatening skies.

The weather man proved very kind during the afternoon, however, in spite of the shower during the morning, and at times the sun broke out and cast brightening light through the dance pavilion at Cascade Park, where the reunion and program of the day took place.

Pageant Is Feature

The big feature of this year's reunion was the old time costume pageant, which brought out dresses and suits which were worn by the ancestors of Lawrence county residents from the gay nineties back to days of a century ago and more.

Yesterday was the 28th annual gathering of the Old Timers, and while the weather undoubtedly kept many away this year, the reunion was a complete success. The spacious dance pavilion was crowded to the doors with the descendants of the pioneer families of the county and their friends, and many happy reunions took puace between friends of many years standing, many of whom had not seen each other for a great number of years.

Louisiana Legislators Bow To Dictates Of Senator Huey Long, Pass Many Bills

(International News Service)

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 17.—The Louisiana Senate took up the "spite" program of Senator Huey P. Long today, and new laws, crippling the city government of New Orleans, are expected to be in effect by the end of the week.

Following to the letter the wishes of the Kingfish, the House of Representatives late Thursday voted favorably on a series of bills which will bring the entire state under the heel of its red-haired senator.

The bills were passed during scenes of bedlam, while Long and several followers were yelling instructions to the seated legislators from positions at the rear of the chamber.

Bills passed by the House were immediately rushed to the Senate. The later body suspended its rules, and rushed the 28 measures to the finance committee.

They are scheduled to be given a second reading today and be put up for final vote Saturday.

Among the bills is one providing for an investigation of vice and graft in the Bayou City. This measure, it is believed, would provide the ammunition for Long's attempt to remove the mayor

CHECK HOLDINGS OF LARGE TRADERS

Aim To Maintain Free And Open Market Based On Demand

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—A vigilant watch on all grain and commodity operations was being maintained by federal agents today as reports showed that big traders had jumped into the wheat market.

Warned by President Roosevelt to prevent wild speculation, the grain futures administration is prepared to exercise its full authority at any time.

Check Holdings

Reports of holdings of each individual trader amounting to 200,000 bushels or more are being made. A closer check is being held on the market than at the time of skyrocketing prices last year, officials said.

Within the past two weeks, officials disclosed, more big traders had entered the Chicago market than at any period in years. The August open interest in wheat was said to be the largest in that period.

The aim of the department of agriculture was explained as an effort to maintain a free and open market based upon supply and demand and not upon speculative buying. Efforts are to be made to prevent a sudden bull move which might carry grain up 50 cents a bushel in a few days with a dull thud to follow.

Expects Higher Prices

The department expects higher prices for grain. But just how far the price will be allowed to rise before the government attempts to clamp down on speculation remained undecided.

Meantime, the department and federal relief agencies are carrying on their fight against conditions resulting from the drought on several fronts.

While food supplies were declared adequate, a rise in prices is expected to continue. The chief weapon against undue increases will be code authorities and publication of "fair

Income Tax Refund Suit Confronts 'Doug'

By TED SMITS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 17—It is not marital affairs alone that brings Douglas Fairbanks back to Hollywood.

When he returns within the next few days he will be confronted not only by the divorce suit filed by Mary Pickford, but also a civil suit of the federal government seeking to recover $72,000 income tax refunds, allegedly given erroneously.

The suit of the government was filed early this year, and the trial date will be set in September.

To Contest Suit

Fairbanks is expected to contest vigorously the government's claims.

The suit of divorce was filed by Miss Pickford Dec. 8, 1933, charging mental cruelty and too frequent absences from home.

Despite recurrent reports of the possibility of a reconciliation, a divorce appears to be the probable climax of the estrangement of Mary and Doug.

But it is also likely that Mary will not secure the decree until after Dough has wound up his business affairs here and left for some accessible portion of the globe. Mary has repeatedly said that she would never do anything that would hurt Doug.

See Divorce

Support of the belief that a divorce is impeding, instead of a reconciliation, was given today when it was learned that there would be no immediate meeting between Mary and Dough on the latter's arrival in Hollywood.

Reports were current in Hollywood that Fairbanks would charter the yacht of Jos. Schenck, head of United Artists and close friend of the screen star, and will be aboard

Freed Brewer Silent; Remains In Seclusion

John S. Labatt Mysteriously Returns To London, Ont., Home Today

BELIEVE HE WAS FREED IN TORONTO

No Information Given As To Whether Or Not Ransom Was Paid

By JAMES L. KILGALLEN
International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 17.—Greatly fatigued and under the care of a physician, John S. Labatt, millionaire Canadian brewer, who was mysteriously kidnaped last Tuesday morning, was back safely in his home city today, refusing to talk to the press but holding a lengthy conference with a high police official.

His silence led to the belief that the authorities were seeking information from which would lead to the apprehension of the "snatch" ring.

Ransom Is Mystery.

Spokesmen of the family declined to reveal whether or not the $150,000 ransom demanded by the kidnapers had been paid.

A friend of the family, who asked that his identity not be revealed, declared, however, that no ransom was paid, as did police at Toronto. Major General Sidney Mewburn, confirmed the report that no money was paid to effect Labatt's release.

Labatt's movements since his release were shrouded in mystery. Neither he, his family or his spokesmen would discuss that phase of the strange case.

Walks Into Hotel At Toronto.

The 55-year-old millionaire brewer is understood to be the man who shortly before one o'clock this morning walked into the main lobby of the Royal York hotel at Toronto and approached a room clerk. As he did so a man, recognizing him, congratulated him upon his release.

Labatt is believed to have gone upstairs to a room where his brother, Hugh, had been waiting in hopes of contacting the kidnapers.

This morning John Labatt, accompanied by his brother, Hugh, and R. G. Ivey, one of his lawyers, arrived by motor car at his home town of London, Ont., and went to Hugh Labatt's residence at 860 Waterloo street. The distance from Toronto to London is 130 miles.

Went Into Seclusion.

John Labatt immediately went into seclusion.

During the forenoon, Chief Inspector John Miller of the criminal division of the Ontario Provincial police went to Hugh Labatt's home and entered. He remained there for a considerable time.

A uniformed policeman was stationed at Hugh Labatt's home and no one was admitted without consent from within.

Newspapermen and photographers swarmed about the place. A large crowd of townspeople collected and gaped at the house.

The Hugh Labatt home is a palatial, three-story apartment house. It is constructed of white stone, has

Present Day Folks Get Glimpse Of Leading Styles Of Other Days In Costume Pageant At Park

Fashionables had a slant on modes of a half century and more ago yesterday witnessing the costume parade of Old Timers at Cascade Park.

Feathers—or more elegant—ostrich plumes—scads of them—waved from hats two feet wide (actually) and many of the trimmin's were long enough to trail. Hoop skirts and bustles were much in evidence and yes, even pantalettes were visioned peeping out beneath the gown of the lady in purple.

As the parade got under way promptly at 2 o'clock, everyone cranned his or her neck to get a glimpse of the first couple. They were none other than ex-sheriff Bob Whaley and demure Mrs. Carmi Glover in a many tiered gown, white lace mitts, side curls and poke bonnet. "Bob" was resplendent in a high stove pipe hat and carried a cane in one hand while in the other he kept track of his hat case.

Next came C. J. and Effie Peebles Kirk. Mrs. Kirk was gowned in a flowered print with large lace bertha, and long side curls fell to her shoulders from beneath a small black bonnet. C. J. appeared in a swallow tail coat and wore side burns which added a most distinguished air but had to be "shaved" off later to keep him cool.

One of the couples winning a prize was Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Fullerton of Mt. Jackson. The gown worn by Mrs. Fullerton was formerly the property of Mrs. Fullerton's mother. It was a bridal affair and let me tell you—the brides of nowadays will have to "go some" to keep up with the brides of long ago.

The long creamy satin was made en basque, with full skirt, and a tiny bonnet with velvet streamers, lace mitts and a fan, completed the outfit.

Most distinguished were W. H. Shipler and Mrs. Shipler. From somewhere W. H. had resurrected a tan swallow tail suit with which he wore an old fashioned "stove pipe". Where he found the long, white whiskers, nobody knows, but they added distinction a plenty. Mrs. Shipler wore a rose colored frock with a many ruffled cape effect collar.

How long ago did we used to see "beaver" hats? Well, anyway, one

Income Tax Refund Suit Confronts 'Doug'

By TED SMITS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 17—It is not marital affairs alone that brings Douglas Fairbanks back to Hollywood.

When he returns within the next few days he will be confronted not only by the divorce suit filed by Mary Pickford, but also a civil suit of the federal government seeking to recover $72,000 income tax refunds, allegedly given erroneously.

The suit of the government was filed early this year, and the trial date will be set in September.

To Contest Suit

Fairbanks is expected to contest vigorously the government's claims.

The suit of divorce was filed by Miss Pickford Dec. 8, 1933, charging mental cruelty and too frequent absences from home.

Despite recurrent reports of the possibility of a reconciliation, a divorce appears to be the probable climax of the estrangement of Mary and Doug.

But it is also likely that Mary will not secure the decree until after Dough has wound up his business affairs here and left for some accessible portion of the globe. Mary has repeatedly said that she would never do anything that would hurt Doug.

See Divorce

Support of the belief that a divorce is impeding, instead of a reconciliation, was given today when it was learned that there would be no immediate meeting between Mary and Dough on the latter's arrival in Hollywood.

Reports were current in Hollywood that Fairbanks would charter the yacht of Jos. Schenck, head of United Artists and close friend of the screen star, and will be aboard

Freed Brewer Silent; Remains In Seclusion

John S. Labatt Mysteriously Returns To London, Ont., Home Today

BELIEVE HE WAS FREED IN TORONTO

No Information Given As To Whether Or Not Ransom Was Paid

International News Service Staff Correspondent

LONDON, Ont., Aug. 17.—Greatly fatigued and under the care of a physician, John S. Labatt, millionaire Canadian brewer, who was mysteriously kidnaped last Tuesday morning, was back safely in his home city today, refusing to talk to the press but holding a lengthy conference with a high police official.

His silence led to the belief that the authorities were seeking information from which would lead to the apprehension of the "snatch" ring.

Ransom Is Mystery.

Spokesmen of the family declined to reveal whether or not the $150,000 ransom demanded by the kidnapers had been paid.

A friend of the family, who asked that his identity not be revealed, declared, however, that no ransom was paid, as did police at Toronto. Major General Sidney Mewburn, confirmed the report that no money was paid to effect Labatt's release.

Labatt's movements since his release were shrouded in mystery. Neither he, his family or his spokesmen would discuss that phase of the strange case.

Walks Into Hotel At Toronto.

The 55-year-old millionaire brewer is understood to be the man who shortly before one o'clock this morning walked into the main lobby of the Royal York hotel at Toronto and approached a room clerk. As he did so a man, recognizing him, congratulated him upon his release.

Labatt is believed to have gone upstairs to a room where his brother, Hugh, had been waiting in hopes of contacting the kidnapers.

This morning John Labatt, accompanied by his brother, Hugh, and R. G. Ivey, one of his lawyers, arrived by motor car at his home town of London, Ont., and went to Hugh Labatt's residence at 860 Waterloo street. The distance from Toronto to London is 130 miles.

Went Into Seclusion.

John Labatt immediately went into seclusion.

During the forenoon, Chief Inspector John Miller of the criminal division of the Ontario Provincial police went to Hugh Labatt's home and entered. He remained there for a considerable time.

A uniformed policeman was stationed at Hugh Labatt's home and no one was admitted without consent from within.

Newspapermen and photographers swarmed about the place. A large crowd of townspeople collected and gaped at the house.

The Hugh Labatt home is a palatial, three-story apartment house. It is constructed of white stone, has

Present Day Folks Get Glimpse Of Leading Styles Of Other Days In Costume Pageant At Park

Fashionables had a slant on modes of a half century and more ago yesterday witnessing the costume parade of Old Timers at Cascade Park.

Feathers—or more elegant—ostrich plumes—scads of them—waved from hats two feet wide (actually) and many of the trimmin's were long enough to trail. Hoop skirts and bustles were much in evidence and yes, even pantalettes were visioned peeping out beneath the gown of the lady in purple.

As the parade got under way promptly at 2 o'clock, everyone cranned his or her neck to get a glimpse of the first couple. They were none other than ex-sheriff Bob Whaley and demure Mrs. Carmi Glover in a many tiered gown, white lace mitts, side curls and poke bonnet. "Bob" was resplendent in a high stove pipe hat and carried a cane in one hand while in the other he kept track of his hat case.

Next came C. J. and Effie Peebles Kirk. Mrs. Kirk was gowned in a flowered print with large lace bertha, and long side curls fell to her shoulders from beneath a small black bonnet. C. J. appeared in a swallow tail coat and wore side burns which added a most distinguished air but had to be "shaved" off later to keep him cool.

One of the couples winning a prize was Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Fullerton of Mt. Jackson. The gown worn by Mrs. Fullerton was formerly the property of Mrs. Fullerton's mother. It was a bridal affair and let me tell you—the brides of nowadays will have to "go some" to keep up with the brides of long ago.

The long creamy satin was made en basque, with full skirt, and a tiny bonnet with velvet streamers, lace mitts and a fan, completed the outfit.

Most distinguished were W. H. Shipler and Mrs. Shipler. From somewhere W. H. had resurrected a tan swallow tail suit with which he wore an old fashioned "stove pipe". Where he found the long, white whiskers, nobody knows, but they added distinction a plenty. Mrs. Shipler wore a rose colored frock with a many ruffled cape effect collar.

How long ago did we used to see "beaver" hats? Well, anyway, one

Governor Outlines Progress Of Movement That Brought Project To Success

(International News Service)

PYMATUNING DAM, JAMESTOWN, Pa., Aug. 17—Thousands of western Pennsylvanians and political and civic leaders from this and the neighboring state of Ohio assembled here today as Gov. Gifford Pinchot dedicated the $3,750,000 Pymatuning dam and reservoir to the "use and service" of the Commonwealth.

Eager to witness the official opening of Pennsylvania's greatest single water conservation development, they came by rail, road and air to mount the 2400-foot retaining wall of earth and stone and hear the governor's tribute to the project and the men responsible for it.

From Ohio a stream of cars poured across the embankment constructed to bridge the one-time swamp which separated the villages of Espyville, Pa., and Andover, O. Other moving lines of cars twisted into this already famous dam-site from Erie, the Allegheny river centers of Oil City and Franklin, and the truly grateful cities of Sharon and New Castle.

Dear Pa Newc:

In the year of 1904 the Chestnut blight appeared in this country coming from China and the results killed all of our chestnuts. Dead chestnuts studded the woods all over the land. And to save other trees and remove forest fire danger the dead chestnuts were all cut down. But in many cases young sprouts started to grow from the stumps, but these young growing sprouts were attacked and killed. The blight canker was so destroying that one single canker would kill the largest tree, but today young chestnut sprouts have seemed to overcome this disease and are growing vigorous and strong. In Gaston Park there are young chestnuts growing near blighted stumps and with protection and care the park will harbor once more one of our grandest of trees the chestnut.

County Sends Large Delegation To Dam

Early today the advance guard of Lawrence county citizens who are attending the Pymatuning Dam dedication exercises left New Castle for the site. An inspection trip of the dam was to be made early today with the exercises scheduled for 2:45 this afternoon at the dam.

Among those leaving early was Fred L. Rentz, general chairman of the day.

From Ellwood City Hon. M. A. Bickett and Carl Davidson left among the first and later in the day a large group of industrialists and prominent citizens were scheduled to leave.

E. E. Haslam, the first engineer on the Pymatuning Dam who was located at New Castle for several years arrived early today from Harrisburg and after visiting with friends left for the dam.

Lawrence county has played a prominent part in the securing of the Pymatuning Dam since it was first suggested and has a share in the dedication exercises today.

OLD TIMERS HAVE ANNUAL GATHERING

Costume Pageant Is Feature Of Event; Weather Clears Off For Occasion

With many old time residents of the city present from a distance, and a large number of the descendants of local pioneer families present, Old Timers Day was observed with all its dignity Thursday afternoon, in spite of threatening skies.

The weather man proved very kind during the afternoon, however, in spite of the shower during the morning, and at times the sun broke out and cast brightening light through the dance pavilion at Cascade Park, where the reunion and program of the day took place.

Pageant Is Feature

The big feature of this year's reunion was the old time costume pageant, which brought out dresses and suits which were worn by the ancestors of Lawrence county residents from the gay nineties back to days of a century ago and more.

Yesterday was the 28th annual gathering of the Old Timers, and while the weather undoubtedly kept many away this year, the reunion was a complete success. The spacious dance pavilion was crowded to the doors with the descendants of the pioneer families of the county and their friends, and many happy reunions took puace between friends of many years standing, many of whom had not seen each other for a great number of years.

Louisiana Legislators Bow To Dictates Of Senator Huey Long, Pass Many Bills

(International News Service)

BATON ROUGE, La., Aug. 17.—The Louisiana Senate took up the "spite" program of Senator Huey P. Long today, and new laws, crippling the city government of New Orleans, are expected to be in effect by the end of the week.

Following to the letter the wishes of the Kingfish, the House of Representatives late Thursday voted favorably on a series of bills which will bring the entire state under the heel of its red-haired senator.

The bills were passed during scenes of bedlam, while Long and several followers were yelling instructions to the seated legislators from positions at the rear of the chamber.

Bills passed by the House were immediately rushed to the Senate. The later body suspended its rules, and rushed the 28 measures to the finance committee.

They are scheduled to be given a second reading today and be put up for final vote Saturday.

Among the bills is one providing for an investigation of vice and graft in the Bayou City. This measure, it is believed, would provide the ammunition for Long's attempt to remove the mayor

To Prevent Wheat Market Speculation

Vigilant Watch On Grain And Commodity Operations Is Maintained

CHECK HOLDINGS OF LARGE TRADERS

Aim To Maintain Free And Open Market Based On Demand

By WILLIAM S. NEAL
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—A vigilant watch on all grain and commodity operations was being maintained by federal agents today as reports showed that big traders had jumped into the wheat market.

Warned by President Roosevelt to prevent wild speculation, the grain futures administration is prepared to exercise its full authority at any time.

Check Holdings

Reports of holdings of each individual trader amounting to 200,000 bushels or more are being made. A closer check is being held on the market than at the time of skyrocketing prices last year, officials said.

Within the past two weeks, officials disclosed, more big traders had entered the Chicago market than at any period in years. The August open interest in wheat was said to be the largest in that period.

The aim of the department of agriculture was explained as an effort to maintain a free and open market based upon supply and demand and not upon speculative buying. Efforts are to be made to prevent a sudden bull move which might carry grain up 50 cents a bushel in a few days with a dull thud to follow.

Expects Higher Prices

The department expects higher prices for grain. But just how far the price will be allowed to rise before the government attempts to clamp down on speculation remained undecided.

Meantime, the department and federal relief agencies are carrying on their fight against conditions resulting from the drought on several fronts.

While food supplies were declared adequate, a rise in prices is expected to continue. The chief weapon against undue increases will be code authorities and publication of "fair

EDWARDS' TRIAL TO BE SET FOR SEPTEMBER 10

District Attorney Asks First Degree

FAMILY TO OCCUPY NEW HOME ON RETURN

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Aug. 17.—The mother of Freda McKechnie, victim of Wilkes-Barre's "American tragedy" murder, has fled the scenes of her daughter's tragic death and gone into seclusion on Long Island, N. Y., in an effort to forget and recover from shock.

This was learned by International News Service today as the machinery of the law was shifted into high gear to speed to conclusion the case of Bobby Edwards, 21-year-old mine surveyor who faces the electric chair on his reported admission of bludgeoning Freda, an expectant mother, to death to free the path for his newer love for Margaret Crain, East Aurora, N. Y., music teacher.

To Find New Home

When Mrs. George McKechnie left here for the address to which she went could not be learned. When she returns next month, however, it will be to a new home—for the McKechnies, backyard neighbors of the Edwards family for years in the little town of Edwardsville are going to find a new residence in Kingston.

Another family will lease the McKechnie home in Edwardsville from which Freda left with Edwards on the night of July 30 to go swimming in Harvey's Lake. She never returned to that house alive, and her family has decided they cannot continue to live there without her.

Breaking his silence for the first time, District Attorney Thomas M. Lewis declared that if he obtained a murder indictment next week he intended to schedule the trial of Edwards for September 10, the opening day of the next term of court. The grand jury meets Monday.

Edwards, scion of the pioneer family which founded Edwardsville where he and Freda were neighborhood sweethearts for four years, is in jail without bond on a charge of murder.

To Ask First Degree

Lewis who will prosecute the case personally, also promised to press for a verdict of first degree murder, which in Pennsylvania carries an automatic sentence of death in the electric chair or life imprisonment depending upon whether or not the jury recommends mercy.

Only five witnesses will be called before the grand jury, Lewis declared, explaining:

"We will get an indictment on the confessions made by Edwards to state police and city detectives."

The witnesses will be Dr. T. J. Wenner, Wilkes-Barre, who performed the autopsy on Freda's body; George Jones, a lifeguard who recovered the body from the lake; Chief County Detective Richard Powell; Chief of Police Ira C. Stevenson, of Harvey's Lake; and Captain William B. Clarke, of the state police.

REMEMBRANCE

There is so little we can do or say to express our sympathy at a time of bereavement. A clasp of the hand, a few murmured words, and little else can be done. Sympathy can be expressed by flowers, for they speak the language of sympathy. No matter the size of the order we are prepared to handle it. A few simple blooms or a pretentious bouquet, we take care of either with the same skill.

to a close with Gov. Gifford Pinchot on the rostrum and the election of officers. Brig. Gen. Edward C. Martin stirred the delegates with his address when he demanded "suppression of the Communistic menace slowly spreading its red tentacles throughout the land; . . . . payment of war debts dollar for dollar, ... 'red-blooded Americanism' and a battle to the finish against the enemy within our gates."

Shannon To Speak.

Today's sessions were to be climaxed by an address by Lt. Gov. Edward K. Shannon and the nomination of commanders for the state organization.

Col. David B. Simpson, Erie, withdrew from the race for the national vice commandership in favor of Frank L. Pinola, Wilkes-Barre, who intends to become a candidate for national commander. This move virtually paved the way for Pinola's nomination for the post.

In stepping aside, Simpson said:

"Frank Pinola has been a state commander of Pennsylvania and is entitled to the full support of the delegation and I see no reason why I should step into his way for a national post. He shall get my support and all the support I can give him."

Governor Pinchot was expected to arrive here tonight following his visit to the dedication of the Pymatuning Dam.

Reports Heard.

In the convention session, reports of committees on credentials, legislation, place of next convention city, internal organization and constitutional amendments were to be heard.

Herbert Ellis, department commander of West Virginia, and Thomas W. McGraw, Ohio commander, were to greet the convention during current sessions.

Band and drum competitions featured the entertainment program with Greensburg expected to successfully defend its title. Speed boat races were also on the program.

Sessions of the Legion Auxiliary were to be featured by a discussion of rehabilitation and child welfare.

To Can Mutton

With the chief shortage in food next winter expected to be in meats, the Federal Surplus Relief Corporation announced it would immediately inaugurate canning of mutton on a large scale.

People of the nation, department experts said, may have to temporarily change their regular diet to avoid exceptionally high prices in some commodities.

Meat forms about 15 per cent of the calories and about 25 per cent of the protein of the average American diet. The diet change may involve consumption of more milk, eggs and green vegetables, experts said.

est gratification to me. It is a great plan for true water conservation and beneficial use. . . .I am proud of it.'

"Today I am prouder of it still, for the promise has been kept, the work has been done and I am doubly proud of the way it has been carried out."

Tracing the development of plans for the project which provides for the impounding of millions of gallons of water, preservation of fish and animal life and recreational enjoyment of the state's residents, the governor declared:

Traces History.

"For many years the possibility of draining the Pymatuning swamp was advocated, but the conception of building a reservoir for flood control and river regulation was comparatively recent."

In 1868, he continued, the general assembly provided for a survey and estimate of expenses for reclaiming Pymatuning swamp land and a survey was made.

Later, in 1909, when plans for draining the area were submitted to the water commission, that body refused to approve the scheme after protests were made pointing out that the swamp was a valuable water storage area helping to maintain the dry weather flow of the Beaver and Shenango rivers.

Then the legislature, in 1913, passed the "Pymatuning dam act," and appropriated $100,000. No money was spent, however, until 1921, when the first land purchases were made with appropriations which had accrued in the interim.

Got Money's Worth.

"The state has got its money's worth in full measure," the governor said in a brief word of praise for the integrity of purpose displayed by Lewis E. Staley, secretary of forests and powers, and by the water and power resources board and the workers under its supervision.

"It is most gratifying to me to know that the state appropriations for the project materially relieved the unemployment situation in northwestern Pennsylvania," Governor Pinchot added, "and particularly that such a large portion of the money spent was utilized for labor payrolls in clearing the reservoir."

Four major operations were necessary in the construction program for the giant artificial lake, he explained. They were:

Program of Construction.

1—Construction of the dam itself. Begun in September, 1931, the massive wall was completed in the spring of 1933. Fifty feet high and 2400 feet long, it will eventually bear a state roadway along its 32-foot wide crest. Total cost: $368,139.

2—Clearing of the reservoir basin. A regular force of about 1,000 men, working from January, 1932, until February, 1933, removed timber and brush from 8,000 acres of land. There was not a single fatal accident. Total cost: $788,000.

3—Construction of the 2½-mile Espyville-Andover highway. Begun August 30, 1932, this was completed May 1, 1934. Total cost: $420,000.

4—Relocation and raising of Pennsylvania railroad line running between Pittsburgh and Erie, and of highway paralleling it. Embankment to carry both railroad and highway for two miles to a maximum height of 20 feet, forming secondary dam along the "upper lake", constructed. Begun June 14, 1933, now practically complete. Total cost, about $305,000.

"We must guard against any distortion of the primary purpose for which the reservoir was built," the chief executive concluded. "That purpose is definitely defined by act of legislature to be the regulation of flow of water in the Shenango and Beaver rivers. And that means the release of necessary water for domestic and industrial supply and for improving sanitation during dry times."

Although the morning downpour of rain had stopped there were two parasols in the parade. Miniature, black silk ones, they were, hardly big enough to stop a drizzle, but then maybe fifty years ago, they didn't have the rains we have nowadays.

One of the ladies carried a black lorgnette with her long black gown and poke bonnet, to "see the folks better."

Of a younger generation, there appeared in the line Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Rentz. Mrs. Rentz was striking in a white lace creation, belted with a blue and pink silk sash Her hat was a white panama with gorgeous white plumes.

Bound For Home In South Wales After Stay Here

Three Residents Of Swansea Conclude Three Month Visit In New Castle

(By WILLIAM A. JOHNS)
Brython

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Williams and Councilman Daniel Powell of Swansea, South Wales, left New Castle, on Wednesday, August 15, with their faces toward New York City where they are taking the famous ship "Majestic" back home to Swansea. They spent three months in the United States, most of the time at New Castle, where they were guests of Mrs. William W. Francis, Edgewood avenue.

Dr. Joseph H. Lloyd, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, Youngstown, O., will preach next Sunday evening at the Emmanuel Baptist church.

The Star of Wales lodge members are asked to remember the meeting Saturday evening, August 18. President Griffith Phillips will open the meeting at 7:30 o'clock.

The Swansea male party of South Wales came out victorious at the Neath eisteddfod last week. There were eight choirs competing and the prize was 150 pounds. The conductor of this famous male party is Ivor Owens, a well known musician in Wales and well known to many of the Welsh in New Castle.

Mrs. Mary Tilden Gilbert

Mrs. Mary Tilden Gilbert, aged 75, wife of John Gilbert, 318 West Falls street, died at the family home Thursday, Aug. 16, at 3:50 p. m. following an illness of one week.

She was born in New Castle January 1, 1859, the daughter of John and Rozetta Streets Tilden, and had spent her entire life here. She was a member of the Second Baptist church.

Surviving are her husband, five nieces, Lydia Kelley, Cora Hill and Rose Hill of Atlantic City, N. J.; Cecelia Mays and Mannella Hoon, Cleveland, O., and a nephew, Commodore L. Tilden, this city.

Funeral services will be held Monday, Aug. 20, at 1:30 from the Second Baptist church, West North street, with interment in the Greenwood cemetery. Rev. L. Pollard will be the officiating minister.

Mrs. Thomas Stephenson.

Mrs. Catherine Ann Stephenson, aged 71, wife of Thomas Stephenson, died at her residence, 804 Harbor street, at 5:00 p. m. Thursday.

Mrs. Stephenson was born in Sunnybrow, England, on October 5, 1863, the daughter of Michael and Barbara Turner. She married Thomas Stephenson 55 years ago on June 1 of this year, and is survived by him and the following children: Mrs. Joseph Bartley, of Detroit, Mich., Thomas, of Swissvale, Pa., Mrs. Elizabeth Foster, Christopher, William and Joseph, of this city; nineteen grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren; and two brothers in England.

Mrs. Stephenson was a member of the Christian and Missionary Alliance church. She had resided in New Castle for the past 41 years.

Funeral services will be conducted from the home, 804 Harbor street, Monday at 2:30 p. m. with Rev. Richard Owrey in charge. Until Saturday noon the body will be at the Hodge Funeral Home. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

John C. Vance.

This community lost another pioneer resident in the death last night of John C. Vance, aged 74, at his home, 324 Shaw street. The end to a long, active and constructive life in New Castle came at 10:30 o'clock, the result of a stroke which Mr. Vance had suffered last Monday.

Mr. Vance was born in Shenango township, Lawrence county, on August 5, 1860, the son of James W. and Sarah Walker Vance.

He came to New Castle when a young lad of 14 and resided here for the rest of his lifetime. With Charles L. Warnock he formed the house painting firm of Charles L. Warnock and John L. Vance. Later he organized the John C. Vance Sign Painting establishment, which he operated over a period of many years. He was the first painter in New Castle to do gold leaf lettering. Some years ago he retired from his chosen profession.

Mr. Vance was a member of the First Christian church and fraternally he was affiliated with the Modern Woodmen of America. He was widely known and held the respect of his community.

Nineteen years ago his wife, Georgie March Vance, died. He is survived by one daughter, Miss Elizabeth E. Vance, at home; one sister, Mrs. Harriett Thompson of New Wilmington, and the following nephews: Clifford Vance of New Castle, James Vance of New Bedford, Howard Vance of California, Orville Brown of New Castle and Dr. Thomas March of Avoca, N. Y.

Funeral services will be conducted from the home, 324 Shaw street, Monday at 2:30 p. m. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

Jos. S. Rice Funeral.

New Castle paid final tribute to one of its pioneer and most outstanding citizens, Jos. S. Rice, of Walmo, Thursday afternoon. A huge crowd of friends, filling the Jos. S. Rice Co. Chapel and the second floor of the East North street building, heard the sad and impressive funeral services, conducted by Dr. C. B. Wingerd, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church.

An amplifying system had been set up in various parts of the large building in order that the funeral sermon might be heard by all of the many hundreds of friends.

The Rotary club of New Castle attended in a body. The Lawrence County Funeral Directors' Association conducted the funeral, and both the Western Pennsylvania Funeral Directors Association and the National Selected Morticians were represented. Present also were officers and members from the many fraternal organizations of which Mr. Rice was an active and beloved members.

The chapel was filled with scores of beautiful baskets, wreaths and bouquets of flowers, standing as further homage to the memory of the departed citizen. It was Mr. Rice who inaugurated the idea of a funeral chapel in New Castle back in 1915.

Pallbearers were members of the Knights Templar. They were: honorary, E. Sir Herb. D. McGoun, E. Sir John G. Nothdurft, E. Sir Edwin C. McComb and E. Sir Walter S. Reynolds; active, E. Sir James L. Fink, E. Sir G. Dallas Hildebrand, E. Sir Edward M. Fisher, E. Sir Byron H. Hill, Sir Charles C. Lees and Sir Clayton Reeves.

At Oak Park cemetery the Lodge of the Craft, 433, F. & A. M., had charge of the Masonic service at the mausoleum.

LOOK OUT FOR THESE SYMPTOMS OF CONSTIPATION

Get Relief with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sallow complexions, and sleeplessness are often warning signs of common constipation. Unless checked, constipation may impair health.

Today, you can usually get rid of common constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid regularity. ALL-BRAN is also a good source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than taking patent medicines.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. Chronic cases, with every meal. If seriously ill, see your doctor. ALL-BRAN is not a "cure-all."

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

"Bootleg" Miners And Truckers To Have Big Meeting

Will Meet At Millersville Baseball Park To Effect Organization

(International News Service)

ASHLAND, Pa., Aug. 17.—A mass meeting of "bootleg" anthracite miners and truckers hauling illicit coal into the Philadelphia market today was called for tomorrow afternoon at Millersville Ball Park, near here.

"The truckers and bootleggers will have to get together and organize," called the meeting by inserting an advertisement in the Ashland Daily News. It could not be learned who Mrs. Howey represents, although it was believed she was acting for Philadelphia truckers.

There has been a growing movement to form a "bootlegger's" union of the 5,000 or more jobless miners who are working in make-shift shafts here "bootlegging" coal. Sentiment for an organization of some kind increased measurably recently since Philadelphia's city government has begun a campaign to cut off the "bootlegger's" richest retail market.

EDWARDS' TRIAL TO BE SET FOR SEPTEMBER 10

District Attorney Asks First Degree

FAMILY TO OCCUPY NEW HOME ON RETURN

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Aug. 17.—The mother of Freda McKechnie, victim of Wilkes-Barre's "American tragedy" murder, has fled the scenes of her daughter's tragic death and gone into seclusion on Long Island, N. Y., in an effort to forget and recover from shock.

This was learned by International News Service today as the machinery of the law was shifted into high gear to speed to conclusion the case of Bobby Edwards, 21-year-old mine surveyor who faces the electric chair on his reported admission of bludgeoning Freda, an expectant mother, to death to free the path for his newer love for Margaret Crain, East Aurora, N. Y., music teacher.

To Find New Home

When Mrs. George McKechnie left here for the address to which she went could not be learned. When she returns next month, however, it will be to a new home—for the McKechnies, backyard neighbors of the Edwards family for years in the little town of Edwardsville are going to find a new residence in Kingston.

Another family will lease the McKechnie home in Edwardsville from which Freda left with Edwards on the night of July 30 to go swimming in Harvey's Lake. She never returned to that house alive, and her family has decided they cannot continue to live there without her.

Breaking his silence for the first time, District Attorney Thomas M. Lewis declared that if he obtained a murder indictment next week he intended to schedule the trial of Edwards for September 10, the opening day of the next term of court. The grand jury meets Monday.

Edwards, scion of the pioneer family which founded Edwardsville where he and Freda were neighborhood sweethearts for four years, is in jail without bond on a charge of murder.

To Ask First Degree

Lewis who will prosecute the case personally, also promised to press for a verdict of first degree murder, which in Pennsylvania carries an automatic sentence of death in the electric chair or life imprisonment depending upon whether or not the jury recommends mercy.

Only five witnesses will be called before the grand jury, Lewis declared, explaining:

"We will get an indictment on the confessions made by Edwards to state police and city detectives."

The witnesses will be Dr. T. J. Wenner, Wilkes-Barre, who performed the autopsy on Freda's body; George Jones, a lifeguard who recovered the body from the lake; Chief County Detective Richard Powell; Chief of Police Ira C. Stevenson, of Harvey's Lake; and Captain William B. Clarke, of the state police.

Then the legislature, in 1913, passed the "Pymatuning dam act," and appropriated $100,000. No money was spent, however, until 1921, when the first land purchases were made with appropriations which had accrued in the interim.

Got Money's Worth.

"The state has got its money's worth in full measure," the governor said in a brief word of praise for the integrity of purpose displayed by Lewis E. Staley, secretary of forests and powers, and by the water and power resources board and the workers under its supervision.

"It is most gratifying to me to know that the state appropriations for the project materially relieved the unemployment situation in northwestern Pennsylvania," Governor Pinchot added, "and particularly that such a large portion of the money spent was utilized for labor payrolls in clearing the reservoir."

Four major operations were necessary in the construction program for the giant artificial lake, he explained. They were:

Program of Construction.

1—Construction of the dam itself. Begun in September, 1931, the massive wall was completed in the spring of 1933. Fifty feet high and 2400 feet long, it will eventually bear a state roadway along its 32-foot wide crest. Total cost: $368,139.

2—Clearing of the reservoir basin. A regular force of about 1,000 men, working from January, 1932, until February, 1933, removed timber and brush from 8,000 acres of land. There was not a single fatal accident. Total cost: $788,000.

3—Construction of the 2½-mile Espyville-Andover highway. Begun August 30, 1932, this was completed May 1, 1934. Total cost: $420,000.

4—Relocation and raising of Pennsylvania railroad line running between Pittsburgh and Erie, and of highway paralleling it. Embankment to carry both railroad and highway for two miles to a maximum height of 20 feet, forming secondary dam along the "upper lake", constructed. Begun June 14, 1933, now practically complete. Total cost, about $305,000.

"We must guard against any distortion of the primary purpose for which the reservoir was built," the chief executive concluded. "That purpose is definitely defined by act of legislature to be the regulation of flow of water in the Shenango and Beaver rivers. And that means the release of necessary water for domestic and industrial supply and for improving sanitation during dry times."

Three Residents Of Swansea Conclude Three Month Visit In New Castle

(By WILLIAM A. JOHNS)
Brython

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Williams and Councilman Daniel Powell of Swansea, South Wales, left New Castle, on Wednesday, August 15. with their faces toward New York City where they are taking the famous ship "Majestic" back home to Swansea. They spent three months in the United States, most of the time at New Castle, where they were guests of Mrs. William W. Francis, Edgewood avenue.

Dr. Joseph H. Lloyd, pastor of the Calvary Baptist church, Youngstown, O., will preach next Sunday evening at the Emmanuel Baptist church.

The Star of Wales lodge members are asked to remember the meeting Saturday evening, August 18. President Griffith Phillips will open the meeting at 7:30 o'clock.

The Swansea male party of South Wales came out victorious at the Neath eisteddfod last week. There were eight choirs competing and the prize was 150 pounds. The conductor of this famous male party is Ivor Owens, a well known musician in Wales and well known to many of the Welsh in New Castle.

RIDE COST HIS LIFE

Mrs. Thomas Stephenson.

Mrs. Catherine Ann Stephenson, aged 71, wife of Thomas Stephenson, died at her residence, 804 Harbor street, at 5:00 p. m. Thursday.

Mrs. Stephenson was born in Sunnybrow, England, on October 5, 1863, the daughter of Michael and Barbara Turner. She married Thomas Stephenson 55 years ago on June 1 of this year, and is survived by him and the following children: Mrs. Joseph Bartley, of Detroit, Mich., Thomas, of Swissvale, Pa., Mrs. Elizabeth Foster, Christopher, William and Joseph, of this city; nineteen grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren; and two brothers in England.

Mrs. Stephenson was a member of the Christian and Missionary Alliance church. She had resided in New Castle for the past 41 years.

Funeral services will be conducted from the home, 804 Harbor street, Monday at 2:30 p. m. with Rev. Richard Owrey in charge. Until Saturday noon the body will be at the Hodge Funeral Home. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

John C. Vance.

This community lost another pioneer resident in the death last night of John C. Vance, aged 74, at his home, 324 Shaw street. The end to a long, active and constructive life in New Castle came at 10:30 o'clock, the result of a stroke which Mr. Vance had suffered last Monday.

Mr. Vance was born in Shenango township, Lawrence county, on August 5, 1860, the son of James W. and Sarah Walker Vance.

He came to New Castle when a young lad of 14 and resided here for the rest of his lifetime. With Charles L. Warnock he formed the house painting firm of Charles L. Warnock and John L. Vance. Later he organized the John C. Vance Sign Painting establishment, which he operated over a period of many years. He was the first painter in New Castle to do gold leaf lettering. Some years ago he retired from his chosen profession.

Mr. Vance was a member of the First Christian church and fraternally he was affiliated with the Modern Woodmen of America. He was widely known and held the respect of his community.

Nineteen years ago his wife, Georgie March Vance, died. He is survived by one daughter, Miss Elizabeth E. Vance, at home; one sister, Mrs. Harriett Thompson of New Wilmington, and the following nephews: Clifford Vance of New Castle, James Vance of New Bedford, Howard Vance of California, Orville Brown of New Castle and Dr. Thomas March of Avoca, N. Y.

Funeral services will be conducted from the home, 324 Shaw street, Monday at 2:30 p. m. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

Jos. S. Rice Funeral.

New Castle paid final tribute to one of its pioneer and most outstanding citizens, Jos. S. Rice, of Walmo, Thursday afternoon. A huge crowd of friends, filling the Jos. S. Rice Co. Chapel and the second floor of the East North street building, heard the sad and impressive funeral services, conducted by Dr. C. B. Wingerd, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church.

An amplifying system had been set up in various parts of the large building in order that the funeral sermon might be heard by all of the many hundreds of friends.

The Rotary club of New Castle attended in a body. The Lawrence County Funeral Directors' Association conducted the funeral, and both the Western Pennsylvania Funeral Directors Association and the National Selected Morticians were represented. Present also were officers and members from the many fraternal organizations of which Mr. Rice was an active and beloved members.

The chapel was filled with scores of beautiful baskets, wreaths and bouquets of flowers, standing as further homage to the memory of the departed citizen. It was Mr. Rice who inaugurated the idea of a funeral chapel in New Castle back in 1915.

Pallbearers were members of the Knights Templar. They were: honorary, E. Sir Herb. D. McGoun, E. Sir John G. Nothdurft, E. Sir Edwin C. McComb and E. Sir Walter S. Reynolds; active, E. Sir James L. Fink, E. Sir G. Dallas Hildebrand, E. Sir Edward M. Fisher, E. Sir Byron H. Hill, Sir Charles C. Lees and Sir Clayton Reeves.

At Oak Park cemetery the Lodge of the Craft, 433, F. & A. M., had charge of the Masonic service at the mausoleum.

LOOK OUT FOR THESE SYMPTOMS OF CONSTIPATION

Get Relief with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sallow complexions, and sleeplessness are often warning signs of common constipation. Unless checked, constipation may impair health.

Today, you can usually get rid of common constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid regularity. ALL-BRAN is also a good source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than taking patent medicines.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. Chronic cases, with every meal. If seriously ill, see your doctor. ALL-BRAN is not a "cure-all."

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

"Bootleg" Miners And Truckers To Have Big Meeting

Will Meet At Millersville Baseball Park To Effect Organization

(International News Service)

ASHLAND, Pa., Aug. 17.—A mass meeting of "bootleg" anthracite miners and truckers hauling illicit coal into the Philadelphia market today was called for tomorrow afternoon at Millersville Ball Park, near here.

"The truckers and bootleggers will have to get together and organize," called the meeting by inserting an advertisement in the Ashland Daily News. It could not be learned who Mrs. Howey represents, although it was believed she was acting for Philadelphia truckers.

There has been a growing movement to form a "bootlegger's" union of the 5,000 or more jobless miners who are working in make-shift shafts here "bootlegging" coal. Sentiment for an organization of some kind increased measurably recently since Philadelphia's city government has begun a campaign to cut off the "bootlegger's" richest retail market.

EDWARDS' TRIAL TO BE SET FOR SEPTEMBER 10

District Attorney Asks First Degree

FAMILY TO OCCUPY NEW HOME ON RETURN

(International News Service)

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Aug. 17.—The mother of Freda McKechnie, victim of Wilkes-Barre's "American tragedy" murder, has fled the scenes of her daughter's tragic death and gone into seclusion on Long Island, N. Y., in an effort to forget and recover from shock.

This was learned by International News Service today as the machinery of the law was shifted into high gear to speed to conclusion the case of Bobby Edwards, 21-year-old mine surveyor who faces the electric chair on his reported admission of bludgeoning Freda, an expectant mother, to death to free the path for his newer love for Margaret Crain, East Aurora, N. Y., music teacher.

To Find New Home

When Mrs. George McKechnie left here for the address to which she went could not be learned. When she returns next month, however, it will be to a new home—for the McKechnies, backyard neighbors of the Edwards family for years in the little town of Edwardsville are going to find a new residence in Kingston.

Another family will lease the McKechnie home in Edwardsville from which Freda left with Edwards on the night of July 30 to go swimming in Harvey's Lake. She never returned to that house alive, and her family has decided they cannot continue to live there without her.

Breaking his silence for the first time, District Attorney Thomas M. Lewis declared that if he obtained a murder indictment next week he intended to schedule the trial of Edwards for September 10, the opening day of the next term of court. The grand jury meets Monday.

Edwards, scion of the pioneer family which founded Edwardsville where he and Freda were neighborhood sweethearts for four years, is in jail without bond on a charge of murder.

To Ask First Degree

Lewis who will prosecute the case personally, also promised to press for a verdict of first degree murder, which in Pennsylvania carries an automatic sentence of death in the electric chair or life imprisonment depending upon whether or not the jury recommends mercy.

Only five witnesses will be called before the grand jury, Lewis declared, explaining:

"We will get an indictment on the confessions made by Edwards to state police and city detectives."

The witnesses will be Dr. T. J. Wenner, Wilkes-Barre, who performed the autopsy on Freda's body; George Jones, a lifeguard who recovered the body from the lake; Chief County Detective Richard Powell; Chief of Police Ira C. Stevenson, of Harvey's Lake; and Captain William B. Clarke, of the state police.

to a close with Gov. Gifford Pinchot on the rostrum and the election of officers. Brig. Gen. Edward C. Martin stirred the delegates with his address when he demanded "suppression of the Communistic menace slowly spreading its red tentacles throughout the land; . . . . payment of war debts dollar for dollar. . . . . 'red-blooded Americanism' and a battle to the finish against the enemy within our gates."

Shannon To Speak.

Today's sessions were to be climaxed by an address by Lt. Gov. Edward K. Shannon and the nomination of commanders for the state organization.

Col. David B. Simpson, Erie, withdrew from the race for the national vice commandership in favor of Frank L. Pinola, Wilkes-Barre, who intends to become a candidate for national commander. This move virtually paved the way for Pinola's nomination for the post.

In stepping aside, Simpson said: "Frank Pinola has been a state commander of Pennsylvania and is entitled to the full support of the delegation and I see no reason why I should step into his way for a national post. He shall get my support and all the support I can give him."

Governor Pinchot was expected to arrive here tonight following his visit to the dedication of the Pymatuming Dam.

Reports Heard.

In the convention session, reports of committees on credentials, legislation, place of next convention city, internal organization and constitutional amendments were to be heard.

Herbert Ellis, department commander of West Virginia, and Thomas W. McGraw, Ohio commander, were to greet the convention during current sessions.

Band and drum competitions featured the entertainment program with Greensburg expected to successfully defend its title. Speed boat races were also on the program.

Sessions of the Legion Auxiliary were to be featured by a discussion of rehabilitation and child welfare.

To Can Mutton

With the chief shortage in food next winter expected to be in meats, the Federal Surplus Relief Corporation announced it would immediately inaugurate canning of mutton on a large scale.

People of the nation, department experts said, may have to temporarily change their regular diet to avoid exceptionally high prices in some commodities.

Meat forms about 15 per cent of the calories and about 25 per cent of the protein of the average American diet. The diet change may involve consumption of more milk, eggs and green vegetables, experts said.

It was stated that Miss Johnson attempted to turn onto a side road off the highway, and believed that she had ample time before a car driven by a man named Tanney, of the New Wilmington road reached the spot. The latter's car struck the one driven by Miss Johnson, knocking them off the road.

PINCHOT SPEAKS AT DEDICATION OF PYMATUNING

est gratification to me. It is a great plan for true water conservation and beneficial use. . . . I am proud of it.'

"Today I am prouder of it still, for the promise has been kept, the work has been done and I am doubly proud of the way it has been carried out."

Tracing the development of plans for the project which provides for the impounding of millions of gallons of water, preservation of fish and animal life and recreational enjoyment of the state's residents, the governor declared:

Traces History.

"For many years the possibility of draining the Pymatuning swamp was advocated, but the conception of building a reservoir for flood control and river regulation was comparatively recent."

In 1868, he continued, the general assembly provided for a survey and estimate of expenses for reclaiming Pymatuning swamp land and a survey was made.

Later, in 1909, when plans for draining the area were submitted to the water commission, that body refused to approve the scheme after protests were made pointing out that the swamp was a valuable water storage area helping to maintain the dry weather flow of the Beaver and Shenango rivers.

Then the legislature, in 1913, passed the "Pymatuning dam act," and appropriated $100,000. No money was spent, however, until 1921, when the first land purchases were made with appropriations which had accrued in the interim.

Got Money's Worth.

"The state has got its money's worth in full measure," the governor said in a brief word of praise for the integrity of purpose displayed by Lewis E. Staley, secretary of forests and powers, and by the water and power resources board and the workers under its supervision.

"It is most gratifying to me to know that the state appropriations for the project materially relieved the unemployment situation in northwestern Pennsylvania," Governor Pinchot added, "and particularly that such a large portion of the money spent was utilized for labor payrolls in clearing the reservoir."

Four major operations were necessary in the construction program for the giant artificial lake, he explained. They were:

Program of Construction.

1—Construction of the dam itself. Begun in September, 1931, the massive wall was completed in the spring of 1933. Fifty feet high and 2400 feet long, it will eventually bear a state roadway along its 32-foot wide crest. Total cost: $368,139.

2—Clearing of the reservoir basin. A regular force of about 1,000 men, working from January, 1932, until February, 1933, removed timber and brush from 8,000 acres of land. There was not a single fatal accident. Total cost: $788,000.

3—Construction of the 2½-mile Espyville-Andover highway. Begun August 30, 1932, this was completed May 1, 1934. Total cost: $420,000.

4—Relocation and raising of Pennsylvania railroad line running between Pittsburgh and Erie, and of highway paralleling it. Embankment to carry both railroad and highway for two miles to a maximum height of 20 feet, forming secondary dam along the "upper lake", constructed. Begun June 14, 1933, now practically complete. Total cost, about $305,000.

"We must guard against any distortion of the primary purpose for which the reservoir was built," the chief executive concluded. "That purpose is definitely defined by act of legislature to be the regulation of flow of water in the Shenango and Beaver rivers. And that means the release of necessary water for domestic and industrial supply and for improving sanitation during dry times."

The Star of Wales lodge members are asked to remember the meeting Saturday evening, August 18. President Griffith Phillips will open the meeting at 7:30 o'clock.

The Swansea male party of South Wales came out victorious at the Neath eisteddfod last week. There were eight choirs competing and the prize was 150 pounds. The conductor of this famous male party is Ivor Owens, a well known musician in Wales and well known to many of the Welsh in New Castle.

RIDE COST HIS LIFE

(International News Service)

NYSSA, Ore.—A short ride on a freight train "just for the lark of it" recently cost the life of 16-year-old William Spencer, who was crushed to death as he leaped from the train upon its return to the station here.

Deaths of the Day

P. B. Gordon Funeral.

Funeral services for Perry B. Gordon were held Thursday afternoon from the family residence, New Castle-Ellwood road, with the Rev. A. J. Galbraith, D.D. officiating.

Mrs. Jennie Quest Chambers.

Mrs. Ida Robinson, 125 North Walnut street, has received word of the death of her aunt, Mrs. Jennie Quest Chambers, a former resident of this city, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bess Botts, Richmond, Va., Thursday afternoon, August 16.

Mrs. Chambers is survived by only the one daughter.

Funeral services will be held at Toledo, Ohio, Saturday and she will be buried at that place.

Mrs. John Masters

Mrs. Diana Pagley Masters, aged 64, wife of John Masters of 221 South Cedar St., died in a Youngstown hospital at 2:00 a. m. today after an operation.

Mrs. Masters had been a resident of this city for the past 35 years and had a wide circle of friends. She was a member of St. Lucy's church.

Surviving her in addition to her husband are two sons, Andrew, of Lowellville, O., and Thomas, of this city.

Funeral mass will be celebrated at St. Lucy's church Monday morning with interment following at St. Vitus cemetery.

W. D. Logue Funeral.

Funeral services for William Daniel Logue, Euclid avenue, were held this morning at St. Mary's church with the Rev. Fr. P. J. McKenna and the Rev. Fr. W. M. F. Galvin officiating.

Interment was made in St. Mary's cemetery with Bernard Flynn, Thomas J. Flynn, Thomas J. Flynn, Jr., Emerson Richards, Joseph Vogus and Ffancis Logue as pallbearers.

Mrs. Mary Tilden Gilbert

Mrs. Mary Tilden Gilbert, aged 75, wife of John Gilbert, 318 West Falls street, died at the family home Thursday, Aug. 16, at 3:50 p. m. following an illness of one week.

She was born in New Castle January 1, 1859, the daughter of John and Rozetta Streets Tilden, and had spent her entire life here. She was a member of the Second Baptist church.

Surviving are her husband, five nieces, Lydia Kelley, Cora Hill and Rose Hill of Atlantic City, N. J.; Cecelia Mays and Mannella Hoon, Cleveland, O., and a nephew, Commodore L. Tilden, this city.

Funeral services will be held Monday, Aug. 20, at 1:30 from the Second Baptist church, West North street, with interment in the Greenwood cemetery. Rev. L. Pollard will be the officiating minister.

Mrs. Thomas Stephenson.

Mrs. Catherine Ann Stephenson, aged 71, wife of Thomas Stephenson, died at her residence, 804 Harbor street, at 5:00 p. m. Thursday.

Mrs. Stephenson was born in Sunnybrow, England, on October 5, 1863, the daughter of Michael and Barbara Turner. She married Thomas Stephenson 55 years ago on June 1 of this year, and is survived by him and the following children: Mrs. Joseph Bartley, of Detroit, Mich., Thomas, of Swissvale, Pa., Mrs. Elizabeth Foster, Christopher, William and Joseph, of this city; nineteen grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren; and two brothers in England.

Mrs. Stephenson was a member of the Christian and Missionary Alliance church. She had resided in New Castle for the past 41 years.

Funeral services will be conducted from the home, 804 Harbor street, Monday at 2:30 p. m. with Rev. Richard Owrey in charge. Until Saturday noon the body will be at the Hodge Funeral Home. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

John C. Vance.

This community lost another pioneer resident in the death last night of John C. Vance, aged 74, at his home, 324 Shaw street. The end to a long, active and constructive life in New Castle came at 10:30 o'clock, the result of a stroke which Mr. Vance had suffered last Monday.

Mr. Vance was born in Shenango township, Lawrence county, on August 5, 1860, the son of James W. and Sarah Walker Vance.

He came to New Castle when a young lad of 14 and resided here for the rest of his lifetime. With Charles L. Warnock he formed the house painting firm of Charles L. Warnock and John L. Vance. Later he organized the John C. Vance Sign Painting establishment, which he operated over a period of many years. He was the first painter in New Castle to do gold leaf lettering. Some years ago he retired from his chosen profession.

Mr. Vance was a member of the First Christian church and fraternally he was affiliated with the Modern Woodmen of America. He was widely known and held the respect of his community.

Nineteen years ago his wife, Georgie March Vance, died. He is survived by one daughter, Miss Elizabeth E. Vance, at home; one sister, Mrs. Harriett Thompson of New Wilmington, and the following nephews: Clifford Vance of New Castle, James Vance of New Bedford, Howard Vance of California, Orville Brown of New Castle and Dr. Thomas March of Avoca, N. Y.

Funeral services will be conducted from the home, 324 Shaw street, Monday at 2:30 p. m. Interment will be made in Oak Park cemetery.

Jos. S. Rice Funeral.

New Castle paid final tribute to one of its pioneer and most outstanding citizens, Jos. S. Rice, of Walmo, Thursday afternoon. A huge crowd of friends, filling the Jos. S. Rice Co. Chapel and the second floor of the East North street building, heard the sad and impressive funeral services, conducted by Dr. C. B. Wingerd, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church.

An amplifying system had been set up in various parts of the large building in order that the funeral sermon might be heard by all of the many hundreds of friends.

The Rotary club of New Castle attended in a body. The Lawrence County Funeral Directors' Association conducted the funeral, and both the Western Pennsylvania Funeral Directors Association and the National Selected Morticians were represented. Present also were officers and members from the many fraternal organizations of which Mr. Rice was an active and beloved members.

The chapel was filled with scores of beautiful baskets, wreaths and bouquets of flowers, standing as further homage to the memory of the departed citizen. It was Mr. Rice who inaugurated the idea of a funeral chapel in New Castle back in 1915.

Pallbearers were members of the Knights Templar. They were: honorary, E. Sir Herb. D. McGoun, E. Sir John G. Nothdurft, E. Sir Edwin C. McComb and E. Sir Walter S. Reynolds; active, E. Sir James L. Fink, E. Sir G. Dallas Hildebrand, E. Sir Edward M. Fisher, E. Sir Byron H. Hill, Sir Charles C. Lees and Sir Clayton Reeves.

At Oak Park cemetery the Lodge of the Craft, 433, F. & A. M., had charge of the Masonic service at the mausoleum.

LOOK OUT FOR THESE SYMPTOMS OF CONSTIPATION

Get Relief with Kellogg's ALL-BRAN

Headaches, loss of appetite and energy, sallow complexions, and sleeplessness are often warning signs of common constipation. Unless checked, constipation may impair health.

Today, you can usually get rid of common constipation by eating a delicious cereal. Laboratory tests show that Kellogg's ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" and vitamin B to aid regularity. ALL-BRAN is also a good source of blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that in leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass. Gently, it clears the intestines of wastes. How much better than taking patent medicines.

Two tablespoonfuls daily will overcome most types of constipation. Chronic cases, with every meal. If seriously ill, see your doctor. ALL-BRAN is not a "cure-all."

Enjoy ALL-BRAN as a cereal, or use in cooking. Appetizing recipes on the red-and-green package. At all grocers. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

"Bootleg" Miners And Truckers To Have Big Meeting

Will Meet At Millersville Baseball Park To Effect Organization

(International News Service)

ASHLAND, Pa., Aug. 17.—A mass meeting of "bootleg" anthracite miners and truckers hauling illicit coal into the Philadelphia market today was called for tomorrow afternoon at Millersville Ball Park, near here.

"The truckers and bootleggers will have to get together and organize," called the meeting by inserting an advertisement in the Ashland Daily News. It could not be learned who Mrs. Howey represents, although it was believed she was acting for Philadelphia truckers.

There has been a growing movement to form a "bootlegger's" union of the 5,000 or more jobless miners who are working in make-shift shafts here "bootlegging" coal. Sentiment for an organization of some kind increased measurably recently since Philadelphia's city government has begun a campaign to cut off the "bootlegger's" richest retail market.

REMEMBRANCE

There is so little we can do or say to express our sympathy at a time of bereavement. A clasp of the hand, a few murmured words, and little else can be done. Sympathy can be expressed by flowers, for they speak the language of sympathy. No matter the size of the order we are prepared to handle it. A few simple blooms or a pretentious bouquet, we take care of either with the same skill.

COMING MARRIAGE REVEALED AT TEA

Unique in every detail was the lovely informal tea given Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Herbert Dean, Harlansburg road, at which Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Jones entertained in honor of their daughter, Miss Ruth Jones.

The occasion made known the engagement of the honored guest to Kenneth Dufford, of New Castle, and proved one of the outstanding social events of the season due to the prominence of the young people.

From 4 to 6 guests numbering twenty-nine were received in the spacious reception room of the Dean home. At an appointed time dainty refreshments were served, with tiny hearts utilized in a clever plan carrying out the nuptial idea.

Aides to the hostess were Miss Marian Lockhart and Miss Hazel Smith. Tea was poured by Mrs. Ralph Nevel and Mrs. Minnie Dufford.

Concealed in miniature corsages, distributed by little Edith Jones Dufford, who appeared in a dainty frock, was the news of "a secret in the garden." Going to the garden the guests discovered a novel bird house made especially for the occasion on which attached to pink ribbons on two blue birds, were photographs of the engaged couple and the word "October."

Bridge formed the program for the remainder of the afternoon.

The bride-elect, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Jones, of 606 Croton avenue, is a past advisor of the Order of Rainbow For Girls, and is a graduate of New Castle senior high school in the June class of '30.

The groom-to-be is the son of Mrs. Minnie Dufford, of 201 North Crawford avenue, and is a member of the January '29 class of New Castle senior high school Both are popular members of the younger set.

Wicks-Double Reunion

Annual reunion of the Wicks and Double families will take place at Stoughton Beach on the Slippery Rock, all day Saturday, August 18.

AFTERNOON PARTY AT CRAWFORD HOME

Mrs. Edwin W. Crawford, of East Wallace avenue, will entertain Saturday afternoon at 1:30 at a dessert-contract bridge party. There will be six tables in play.

The affair will honor Mrs. John Q. Stewart of Harrisburg, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Crawford, since the middle of June, and who will return to her home early in September.

Mrs. Crawford will entertain at another party in the near future.

SINGLES AND DOUBLES AT FLORENCE WRIGHT'S

Miss Florence Wright extended the hospitality of her East Washington street home Thursday evening to the Singles and Doubles.

Miss Gertrude Wolfe was a guest and participated in the bridge contests at which the girls spent a delightful evening. Miss Harriet Beadel won the favor.

Crystal and yellow tones predominated in late supper appointments with beautiful bouquets of varicolored gladioli harmonizing. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. A. Pearson Furst.

Miss Harriet Beadel will be hostess for the assembly August 30.

Change Residence

Dr. and Mrs. J. C. B. Douthett and family have changed their residence from Lutton street to 217 West Sheridan avenue. For the winter a daughter, Mrs. William V. Johns and Mr. Johns whose marriage took place this summer, will reside at the Douthett home while Mrs. Douthett is in Arizona.

Mrs. J. C. B. Douthett and son Bruce Douthett of West Sheridan avenue, left early yesterday morning for Tucson, Arizona, where the latter will enter Arizona School of Mines. Mrs. Douthett expects to remain in Tucson for several months.

FULL CALENDAR MARKS CLUB WEEK

This week's calendar at the New Castle Field club has been marked with many lovely social events, making the closing weeks of the summer a round of jovial gatherings.

Thursday evening Dr. and Mrs. John McConahy acted as hosts to the members at the bi-weekly bridge with prizes awarded to Mrs. S. H. Rhoads, Mrs. B. F. Kariher, C. L. Shira and L. W. Strayer when the play was over. Refreshments were then served at the small tables.

This evening at 6 o'clock the members will assemble, with their families, for a corn roast, which will be supplemented by plenty of entertainment during the evening.

The week will come to a close with one of the merry dancing parties Saturday evening, when many out of town visitors will be among the guests.

TAYLOR FAMILY ASSEMBLES AT PARK

The descendants of William and Anna Taylor, Little Beaver township, assembled at Yellow Creek Park, Struthers, Ohio, Thursday, with 92 gathering around the festive board at noon, with all appetites amply appeased.

During the afternoon a memorial was observed to honor the passing on of the last of the noted family of ex-Judge Samuel Taylor of Lawrence county, his daughter, Mrs. Ada White.

Guests from a distance included Mrs. Mary Taylor Miller of Los Angeles, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Roy Taylor, Detroit, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Outhwaite, Tiffin, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Weiss of Pittsburgh. Other relatives were present from Canton, Youngstown, East Palestine, Ohio, Sharon and New Castle.

A program of sports and games interested the group during the remainder of the afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sherer of the Mt. Jackson road, invited the Taylor Cousins club to their home for a tureen dinner Saturday evening, to honor Mrs. Mary Taylor Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Outhwaite.

GRADUATE HONORED AT STATE COLLEGE

Miss Katherine M. Anderson, who has been a teacher in the Lincoln-Garfield school for the past several years, was honored this week at a dinner in the Nittany Lion hotel at State College.

Miss Anderson received her Bachelor of Science degree in education from State College last week.

Among the many lovely graduating gifts received was a framed picture of "Old Maine" with the autographs of the dinner group inscribed upon it.

Miss Anderson will return to her teaching duties here for the fall.

W. E. Club.

Wednesday evening the members of the W. E. club were entertained in the home of Mrs. Lois Arrow, East Leasure avenue, with 500 as the entertainment of the evening.

Mrs. Eleanor Dufford, Mrs. Mildred Michaels and Mrs. Florence Dupuy held high scores when play was over and were awarded prizes.

Birthday showers were given Mrs. Fay Richards and Mrs. Florence Dupuy. Plans were made for a corn roast at Cascade park Wednesday, August 22, at 6 o'clock and for the regular meeting August 29 at the home of Gertrude Arrow, Dushane street.

To Return From Trip

Miss Leona Sankey of Garfield avenue health instructor in Aiken and Thaddeus schools is expected home Sunday from a vacation. She visited in Youngstown with the Thomas family for several weeks and then accompanied the Thomas family on a sight seeing trip to Washington, D. C.

BRIDE AND GROOM ARE ON HONEYMOON

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Herrmann, nee Julia Ann McCoy, are honeymooning in Bermuda, concluding which they will be at home, after September first, at the Edgeway apartments, 1310 West boulevard, Cleveland.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. McCoy of Stewart Place, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Herrmann, 7508 Dearborn avenue, Cleveland.

Their wedding was an impressive event in St. Ignatius church, Cleveland, August 13, with the Rev. A. B. Stuber performing the beautiful ceremony.

The bride wore a simple white satin gown with high collar and three-quarter length veil which fell over her face, and she carried a double bouquet of calla lilies. At the close of the mass, she placed part of her bouquet at the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

The maid of honor, Cecelia McCoy, sister of the bride, wore blue lace and carried cream roses. Lights, everchanging in color, amber, red and white, played on the alter during the ceremony, adding beauty to the pageantry of the mass.

Jacques Pollock, a violinist in Maurice Spitalny's orchestra, of which the groom is a member, accompanied the organ during the mass and played "Ave Maria" as a solo. The choir under the direction of Carlo Peroni sang the recessional.

Carl V. Herrmann, brother of the groom, served as best man. Alfred Herrmann, brother of the groom, and George Kresge were ushers.

A wedding breakfast for the immediate families was held at the Lake Shore hotel.

SHOWER AFFAIR FOR TEACHER AND BRIDE

Complimenting their teacher Mrs. J. C. B. Douthett who has departed for Tucson, Arizona and her daughter Evelyn (Mrs. William V. Johns) who is a bride of the summer, the Upstreamers Class of Epworth M. E. church entertained informally, this week in the home of Miss Rheda Edwards on Garfield avenue.

A lovely shower of miscellaneous gifts was presented to Mrs. Johns while Mrs. Douthett received a shower of dainty handkerchiefs.

Special guests were Mrs. Mable Davis, who is the new class teacher, Misses Sara Swan and Esther Watson, the latter from Washington, Pa. Serving a dainty repast, the hostess was assisted by Misses Swan and Watson.

G. M. T. Club

Mrs. John Zank, Winslow avenue, was hostess to the member of the G. M. T. club in her home Thursday for a one o'clock luncheon, the occasion being the anniverssary of her birth.

A color scheme of pink and white was daintily carried out in appointments, while the home was lovely with bowls and baskets of summer flowers. Aides to the hostess were her daughter, Mrs. Katherine Cunningham and Mrs. J. Weiss.

After the women had done ample justice to the delicious repast served the afternoon was spent in visiting and discussing current events.

A luncheon at one o'clock on August 30 at Cascade Park will mark the next regular meeting of the group.

Dinner Guest.

James P. Sankey of Crafton, Pa., was a dinner guest Thursday evening in the Sheridan avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Edgar and Miss Grace Woodworth.

Mr. Sankey has been in New Castle since Tuesday, having come out, as he has for the past many years, for the reunion of Roundheads, of which he is president, and for Old Timers' Day. Mr. Sankey is in his eighty eighth year but is still jovial and spry.

While in the city, he has been stopping at the Nicklin home on Falls street. He will return home Saturday.

Chop Suey Luncheon.

A chop suey luncheon was given recently by Miss Dorothy Kaufman of Youngstown as a courtesy to Miss Ethel Mittman, fiancee of Gus Slovonsky, at which the marriage date, August 28, was cleverly disclosed by favors containing assorted candies. The honored guest received a shower of beautiful personal gifts.

Among the out of town guests were Mrs. S. Slovan, Mrs. M. Slovonsky, Miss Minnie Slovonsky of New Castle.

Guests Of Wellers

Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Weller of Clenmore boulevard, have for their house guests this week, Mr. and Mrs. John Miller and Miss Mary Eleanor Galbraith of Philadelphia.

Yesterday, Mr. Miller went on to Erie to attend the American Legion convention and will return Saturday to remain over the week end. Miss Galbraith will visit here for several weeks.

Birthday Party

Mrs. William Todd, of Hutchinson street, entertained a few guests in her home on Thursday evening, in honor of the birthday anniversary of her sister-in-law, Miss Irene Dodd.

Music and dancing were the chief pastimes of the evening. During the course of the evening, delicious refreshments were served.

EAST BROOK PROGRAM SILVER TEA SUCCESS

With the rain clearing off late yesterday afternoon and the ground drying off a bit by supper time, the weather did not mar the attendance at the entertainment and silver tea sponsored by the East Brook young people's branch and the W. C. T. U. in the East Brook M. E. church.

Over 100 were present and for their amusement, two short playlets entitled "Getting Ready for the Theatre" and "Abner Plays Parson" were given. They were humorous and well executed, the various characters keeping the audience in an uproar from beginning to end.

Miss Mildred Sargeant had charge of the affair and she was assisted by Mrs. Pearl Dean, who planned the music, which consisted of selections by an orchestra of young people. Several readings were enjoyed.

After the program, the guests wended their way outdoors where the lawn was illuminated with strings of Japanese lanterns, and tea with good home made cake was served. The 28 tables were decorated in lovely garden flowers which lent a festivity to the occasion.

A nice sum was realized for the work of the organizations.

EUROPEAN VISITORS SAIL FOR ENGLAND

Mr. and Mrs. William Worth of Liverpool, England, sailed today for England, having enjoyed a three months' tour of the United States, visiting the world's fair and other points of interest in this country.

While in New Castle they stopped at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Wignall on Maryland avenue and were extensively feted during their visit in this vicinity.

Going to Youngstown Tuesday evening, the visitors, together with Mrs. Charles Young of Vancouver, British Columbia, and others, were entertained at a dinner party in the home of Mrs. Emma Edwards, Gilbert Drive.

Lovely white garden flowers centered the table where places were marked for the guests of honor, Dr. and Mrs. William Wignall, Miss Anne Hitchen, Ben Pennry and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Flannery of New Castle.

Mrs. Young will continue her stay until September.

METHODIST MEN ENTERTAIN FAMILIES

The Men's Bible class of the First Methodist church again displayed their ability as perfect hosts when the members, with their families, went to Cascade park Thursday evening for the annual corn roast.

There were 250 in the group and after they were gathered about the tables in the grove a menu of corn and wieners, with all accessories, was served by Archie Gordon, J. R. Hodge, W. A. Myers, Ira D. Campbell and Robert Garvin.

The evening hours were given over to enjoying the Old Timers' celebration.

Weimer Reunion.

At the 33rd annual reunion of the Weimer family which was held this year at Slippery Rock pavilion, Mill Creek park, Fred G. Weimer was elected president.

Charles L. Patterson was named vice president, M. William Weimer secretary and John L. Weimer treasurer. There was an attendance of 150, guests being from New Castle, Akron, Cleveland, Niles, Girard, Wheeling, Pittsburgh and Atlantic City.

Next year the reunion will be held at the same place the second Saturday in August.

I. W. T. Club

Mrs. Sam Porsilio, Wilson avenue, was a charming hostess to the members of the I. W. T. club in her home Thursday evening at a spaghetti supper.

During the evening the members were entertained by the singing and dancing of little Janette Gurneal. Mrs. Joseph Orico was a special guest.

Plans were made for a corn roast Thursday, August 30, at the home of Mrs. Harry Watt, 810 Vogan avenue.

Kelly Reunion

The annual Kelly reunion will take place this year on Saturday, August 25, at the home of Lou Kelly on the Graceland road.

Dinner will be served at 6 p. m. when all relatives and friends will be welcomed.

Sail For Europe

Daniel Powell and T. E. Williams of this city, sailed late Thursday on the S. S. Majestic for Europe. Mr. Powell will visit in England and France before returning home sometime in September.

E. M. M. Club.

Mrs. Albert Weaver, Mrs. Warren VanHorn and Mrs. A. Vaughn succeeded in winning the prizes awarded Wednesday evening when Mrs. Edward Sager, Dickson street, entertained the members of the E. M. M. club.

After a period at cards the hostess served a dainty lunch and plans were made to meet August 29 at the home of Mrs. Edward Trimble, Arlington avenue.

Entertains Friends

Mrs. Jerome Pyle entertained 43 friends Thursday evening at a corn roast at the home of her brother, William Wallace on the Edinburg road.

Esther, Grace and Billy Wallace formed an orchestra which played for dancing and Mrs. Myra Parks entertained with readings.

Husbands Are Guests

The M. and K. Class of the People's Mission met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Herman Byler, at the Harbor with Mrs. Parks leading the devotional period.

After the class meeting the members, with the husbands as guests had an enjoyable corn and wiener roast, with 70 present.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. George Ryan and Mrs. B. Proctor.

Mrs. Proctor and Mrs. Conzit will be hostesses at the September meeting.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Turner, Almira Avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Frances, to Frank Brenneman, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Brenneman, Garfield avenue.

The betrothal will terminate in their wedding Saturday, September 1.

Here Old Timers' Day

Mrs. Howard B. Munnell of Akron, a former resident, is spending a few days with local friends, having come over for Old Timers Day.

Here's Family Health Insurance

Many Doctors will tell you that a mighty good way to protect the health of your family is to give them Shredded Wheat, milk, and fruit for at least one meal every day.

Shredded Wheat is so nourishing that one single Shredded Wheat Biscuit contains as much nourishment as a whole bowl of home-cooked cereal.

These hot days, it's important to remember that Shredded Wheat is easily digested. It doesn't slow you up. Shredded Wheat is whole wheat—one of Nature's best foods—nothing added, nothing taken away. It contains the carbohydrates you need for energy, proteins to build tissue, the vitamins you need to resist disease, and bran to keep you regular.

Give your family Shredded Wheat. They will feel better! It tastes good, and it's mighty economical, too.

COMING MARRIAGE REVEALED AT TEA

Unique in every detail was the lovely informal tea given Thursday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Herbert Dean, Harlansburg road, at which Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Jones entertained in honor of their daughter, Miss Ruth Jones.

The occasion made known the engagement of the honored guest to Kenneth Dufford, of New Castle, and proved one of the outstanding social events of the season due to the prominence of the young people.

From 4 to 6 guests numbering twenty-nine were received in the spacious reception room of the Dean home. At an appointed time dainty refreshments were served, with tiny hearts utilized in a clever plan carrying out the nuptial idea.

Aides to the hostess were Miss Marian Lockhart and Miss Hazel Smith. Tea was poured by Mrs. Ralph Nevel and Mrs. Minnie Dufford.

Concealed in miniature corsages, distributed by little Edith Jones Dufford, who appeared in a dainty frock, was the news of "a secret in the garden." Going to the garden the guests discovered a novel bird house made especially for the occasion on which attached to pink ribbons on two blue birds, were photographs of the engaged couple and the word "October."

Bridge formed the program for the remainder of the afternoon.

The bride-elect, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Jones, of 606 Croton avenue, is a past advisor of the Order of Rainbow For Girls, and is a graduate of New Castle senior high school in the June class of '30.

The groom-to-be is the son of Mrs. Minnie Dufford, of 201 North Crawford avenue, and is a member of the January '29 class of New Castle senior high school Both are popular members of the younger set.

AFTERNOON PARTY AT CRAWFORD HOME

Mrs. Edwin W. Crawford, of East Wallace avenue, will entertain Saturday afternoon at 1:30 at a dessert-contract bridge party. There will be six tables in play.

The affair will honor Mrs. John Q. Stewart of Harrisburg, who has been visiting her sister, Mrs. Crawford, since the middle of June, and who will return to her home early in September.

Mrs. Crawford will entertain at another party in the near future.

SINGLES AND DOUBLES AT FLORENCE WRIGHT'S

Miss Florence Wright extended the hospitality of her East Washington street home Thursday evening to the Singles and Doubles.

Miss Gertrude Wolfe was a guest and participated in the bridge contests at which the girls spent a delightful evening. Miss Harriet Beadel won the favor.

Crystal and yellow tones predominated in late supper appointments with beautiful bouquets of varicolored gladioli harmonizing. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. A. Pearson Furst.

Miss Harriet Beadel will be hostess for the assembly August 30.

Change Residence

Dr. and Mrs. J. C. B. Douthett and family have changed their residence from Lutton street to 217 West Sheridan avenue. For the winter a daughter, Mrs. William V. Johns and Mr. Johns whose marriage took place this summer, will reside at the Douthett home while Mrs. Douthett is in Arizona.

Mrs. J. C. B. Douthett and son Bruce Douthett of West Sheridan avenue, left early yesterday morning for Tucson, Arizona, where the latter will enter Arizona School of Mines. Mrs. Douthett expects to remain in Tucson for several months.

FULL CALENDAR MARKS CLUB WEEK

This week's calendar at the New Castle Field club has been marked with many lovely social events, making the closing weeks of the summer a round of jovial gatherings.

Thursday evening Dr. and Mrs. John McConahy acted as hosts to the members at the bi-weekly bridge with prizes awarded to Mrs. S. H. Rhoads, Mrs. B. F. Kariher, C. L. Shira and L. W. Strayer when the play was over. Refreshments were then served at the small tables.

This evening at 6 o'clock the members will assemble, with their families, for a corn roast, which will be supplemented by plenty of entertainment during the evening.

The week will come to a close with one of the merry dancing parties Saturday evening, when many out of town visitors will be among the guests.

TAYLOR FAMILY ASSEMBLES AT PARK

The descendants of William and Anna Taylor, Little Beaver township, assembled at Yellow Creek Park, Struthers, Ohio, Thursday, with 92 gathering around the festive board at noon, with all appetites amply appeased.

During the afternoon a memorial was observed to honor the passing on of the last of the noted family of ex-Judge Samuel Taylor of Lawrence county, his daughter, Mrs. Ada White.

Guests from a distance included Mrs. Mary Taylor Miller of Los Angeles, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Roy Taylor, Detroit, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Robert Outhwaite, Tiffin, Ohio, and Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Weiss of Pittsburgh. Other relatives were present from Canton, Youngstown, East Palestine, Ohio, Sharon and New Castle.

BRIDE AND GROOM ARE ON HONEYMOON

Mr. and Mrs. William A. Herrmann, nee Julia Ann McCoy, are honeymooning in Bermuda, concluding which they will be at home, after September first, at the Edgeway apartments, 1310 West boulevard, Cleveland.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. F. McCoy of Stewart Place, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Herrmann, 7508 Dearborn avenue, Cleveland.

Their wedding was an impressive event in St. Ignatius church, Cleveland, August 13, with the Rev. A. B. Stuber performing the beautiful ceremony.

The bride wore a simple white satin gown with high collar and three-quarter length veil which fell over her face, and she carried a double bouquet of calla lilies. At the close of the mass, she placed part of her bouquet at the altar of the Blessed Virgin.

The maid of honor, Cecelia McCoy, sister of the bride, wore blue lace and carried cream roses. Lights, everchanging in color, amber, red and white, played on the altar during the ceremony, adding beauty to the pageantry of the mass.

Jacques Pollock, a violinist in Maurice Spitalny's orchestra, of which the groom is a member, accompanied the organ during the mass and played "Ave Maria" as a solo. The choir under the direction of Carlo Peroni sang the recessional.

Carl V. Herrmann, brother of the groom, served as best man. Alfred Herrmann, brother of the groom, and George Kresge were ushers.

A wedding breakfast for the immediate families was held at the Lake Shore hotel.

SHOWER AFFAIR FOR TEACHER AND BRIDE

Complimenting their teacher Mrs. J. C. B. Douthett who has departed for Tucson, Arizona and her daughter Evelyn (Mrs. William V. Johns) who is a bride of the summer, the Upstreamers Class of Epworth M. E. church entertained informally this week in the home of Miss Rheda Edwards on Garfield avenue.

A lovely shower of miscellaneous gifts was presented to Mrs. Johns while Mrs. Douthett received a shower of dainty handkerchiefs.

Special guests were Mrs. Mable Davis, who is the new class teacher, Misses Sara Swan and Esther Watson, the latter from Washington, Pa. Serving a dainty repast, the hostess was assisted by Misses Swan and Watson.

G. M. T. Club

Mrs. John Zank, Winslow avenue, was hostess to the member of the G. M. T. club in her home Thursday for a one o'clock luncheon, the occasion being the anniversary of her birth.

A color scheme of pink and white was daintily carried out in appointments, while the home was lovely with bowls and baskets of summer flowers. Aides to the hostess were her daughter, Mrs. Katherine Cunningham and Mrs. J. Weiss.

After the women had done ample justice to the delicious repast served the afternoon was spent in visiting and discussing current events.

A luncheon at one o'clock on August 30 at Cascade Park will mark the next regular meeting of the group.

Dinner Guest.

James P. Sankey of Crafton, Pa., was a dinner guest Thursday evening in the Sheridan avenue home of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Edgar and Miss Grace Woodworth.

Mr. Sankey has been in New Castle since Tuesday, having come out, as he has for the past many years, for the reunion of Roundheads, of which he is president, and for Old Timers' Day. Mr. Sankey is in his eighty eighth year but is still jovial and spry.

While in the city, he has been stopping at the Nicklin home on Falls street. He will return home Saturday.

Chop Suey Luncheon.

A chop suey luncheon was given recently by Miss Dorothy Kaufman of Youngstown as a courtesy to Miss Ethel Mittman, fiancee of Gus Slovonsky, at which the marriage date, August 28, was cleverly disclosed by favors containing assorted candies. The honored guest received a shower of beautiful personal gifts.

Among the out of town guests were Mrs. S. Slovan, Mrs. M. Slovonsky, Miss Minnie Slovonsky of New Castle.

Guests Of Wellers

Mr. and Mrs. Paul D. Weller of Clenmore boulevard, have for their house guests this week, Mr. and Mrs. John Miller and Miss Mary Eleanor Galbraith of Philadelphia.

Yesterday, Mr. Miller went on to Erie to attend the American Legion convention and will return Saturday to remain over the week end. Miss Galbraith will visit here for several weeks.

Birthday Party

Mrs. William Todd, of Hutchinson street, entertained a few guests in her home on Thursday evening, in honor of the birthday anniversary of her sister-in-law, Miss Irene Dodd.

Music and dancing were the chief pastimes of the evening. During the course of the evening, delicious refreshments were served.

EAST BROOK PROGRAM SILVER TEA SUCCESS

With the rain clearing off late yesterday afternoon and the ground drying off a bit by supper time, the weather did not mar the attendance at the entertainment and silver tea sponsored by the East Brook young people's branch and the W. C. T. U. in the East Brook M. E. church.

Over 100 were present and for their amusement, two short playlets entitled "Getting Ready for the Theatre" and "Abner Plays Parson" were given. They were humorous and well executed, the various characters keeping the audience in an uproar from beginning to end.

Miss Mildred Sargeant had charge of the affair and she was assisted by Mrs. Pearl Dean, who planned the music, which consisted of selections by an orchestra of young people. Several readings were enjoyed.

After the program, the guests wended their way outdoors where the lawn was illuminated with strings of Japanese lanterns, and tea with good home made cake was served. The 28 tables were decorated in lovely garden flowers which lent a festivity to the occasion.

A nice sum was realized for the work of the organizations.

EUROPEAN VISITORS SAIL FOR ENGLAND

Mr. and Mrs. William Worth of Liverpool, England, sailed today for England, having enjoyed a three months' tour of the United States, visiting the world's fair and other points of interest in this country.

While in New Castle they stopped at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Wignall on Maryland avenue and were extensively feted during their visit in this vicinity.

Going to Youngstown Tuesday evening, the visitors, together with Mrs. Charles Young of Vancouver, British Columbia, and others, were entertained at a dinner party in the home of Mrs. Emma Edwards, Gilbert Drive.

Lovely white garden flowers centered the table where places were marked for the guests of honor, Dr. and Mrs. William Wignall, Miss Anne Hitchen, Ben Pennry and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Flannery of New Castle.

Mrs. Young will continue her stay until September.

METHODIST MEN ENTERTAIN FAMILIES

The Men's Bible class of the First Methodist church again displayed their ability as perfect hosts when the members, with their families, went to Cascade park Thursday evening for the annual corn roast.

There were 250 in the group and after they were gathered about the tables in the grove a menu of corn and wieners, with all accessories, was served by Archie Gordon, J. R. Hodge, W. A. Myers, Ira D. Campbell and Robert Garvin.

The evening hours were given over to enjoying the Old Timers' celebration.

Weimer Reunion.

At the 33rd annual reunion of the Weimer family which was held this year at Slippery Rock pavilion, Mill Creek park, Fred G. Weimer was elected president.

Charles L. Patterson was named vice president, M. William Weimer secretary and John L. Weimer treasurer. There was an attendance of 150, guests being from New Castle, Akron, Cleveland, Niles, Girard, Wheeling, Pittsburgh and Atlantic City.

Next year the reunion will be held at the same place the second Saturday in August.

I. W. T. Club

Mrs. Sam Porsilio, Wilson avenue, was a charming hostess to the members of the I. W. T. club in her home Thursday evening at a spaghetti supper.

During the evening the members were entertained by the singing and dancing of little Janette Gurneal. Mrs. Joseph Orico was a special guest.

Plans were made for a corn roast Thursday, August 30, at the home of Mrs. Harry Watt, 810 Vogan avenue.

Kelly Reunion

The annual Kelly reunion will take place this year on Saturday, August 25, at the home of Lou Kelly on the Graceland road.

Dinner will be served at 6 p. m. when all relatives and friends will be welcomed.

Sail For Europe

Daniel Powell and T. E. Williams of this city, sailed late Thursday on the S. S. Majestic for Europe. Mr. Powell will visit in England and France before returning home sometime in September.

E. M. M. Club.

Mrs. Albert Weaver, Mrs. Warren VanHorn and Mrs. A. Vaughn succeeded in winning the prizes awarded Wednesday evening when Mrs. Edward Sager, Dickson street, entertained the members of the E. M. M. club.

After a period at cards the hostess served a dainty lunch and plans were made to meet August 29 at the home of Mrs. Edward Trimble, Arlington avenue.

Entertains Friends

Mrs. Jerome Pyle entertained 43 friends Thursday evening at a corn roast at the home of her brother, William Wallace on the Edinburg road.

Esther, Grace and Billy Wallace formed an orchestra which played for dancing and Mrs. Myra Parks entertained with readings.

Husbands Are Guests

The M. and K. Class of the People's Mission met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Herman Byler, at the Harbor with Mrs. Parks leading the devotional period.

After the class meeting the members, with the husbands as guests had an enjoyable corn and wiener roast, with 70 present.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. George Ryan and Mrs. B. Proctor.

Mrs. Proctor and Mrs. Conzit will be hostesses at the September meeting.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Turner, Almira Avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Frances, to Frank Brenneman, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Brenneman, Garfield avenue.

The betrothal will terminate in their wedding Saturday, September 1.

Here's Family Health Insurance

Many Doctors will tell you that a mighty good way to protect the health of your family is to give them Shredded Wheat, milk, and fruit for at least one meal every day.

Shredded Wheat is so nourishing that one single Shredded Wheat Biscuit contains as much nourishment as a whole bowl of home-cooked cereal.

These hot days, it's important to remember that Shredded Wheat is easily digested. It doesn't slow you up. Shredded Wheat is whole wheat—one of Nature's best foods—nothing added, nothing taken away. It contains the carbohydrates you need for energy, proteins to build tissue, the vitamins you need to resist disease, and bran to keep you regular.

Give your family Shredded Wheat. They will feel better! It tastes good, and it's mighty economical, too.

Over 100 were present and for their amusement, two short playlets entitled "Getting Ready for the Theatre" and "Abner Plays Parson" were given. They were humorous and well executed, the various characters keeping the audience in an uproar from beginning to end.

Miss Mildred Sargeant had charge of the affair and she was assisted by Mrs. Pearl Dean, who planned the music, which consisted of selections by an orchestra of young people. Several readings were enjoyed.

After the program, the guests wended their way outdoors where the lawn was illuminated with strings of Japanese lanterns, and tea with good home made cake was served. The 28 tables were decorated in lovely garden flowers which lent a festivity to the occasion.

A nice sum was realized for the work of the organizations.

EUROPEAN VISITORS SAIL FOR ENGLAND

Mr. and Mrs. William Worth of Liverpool, England, sailed today for England, having enjoyed a three months' tour of the United States, visiting the world's fair and other points of interest in this country.

While in New Castle they stopped at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Wignall on Maryland avenue and were extensively feted during their visit in this vicinity.

Going to Youngstown Tuesday evening, the visitors, together with Mrs. Charles Young of Vancouver, British Columbia, and others, were entertained at a dinner party in the home of Mrs. Emma Edwards, Gilbert Drive.

Lovely white garden flowers centered the table where places were marked for the guests of honor, Dr. and Mrs. William Wignall, Miss Anne Hitchen, Ben Pennry and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Flannery of New Castle.

Mrs. Young will continue her stay until September.

METHODIST MEN ENTERTAIN FAMILIES

The Men's Bible class of the First Methodist church again displayed their ability as perfect hosts when the members, with their families, went to Cascade park Thursday evening for the annual corn roast.

There were 250 in the group and after they were gathered about the tables in the grove a menu of corn and wieners, with all accessories, was served by Archie Gordon, J. R. Hodge, W. A. Myers, Ira D. Campbell and Robert Garvin.

The evening hours were given over to enjoying the Old Timers' celebration.

Weimer Reunion.

At the 33rd annual reunion of the Weimer family which was held this year at Slippery Rock pavilion, Mill Creek park, Fred G. Weimer was elected president.

Charles L. Patterson was named vice president, M. William Weimer secretary and John L. Weimer treasurer. There was an attendance of 150, guests being from New Castle, Akron, Cleveland, Niles, Girard, Wheeling, Pittsburgh and Atlantic City.

Next year the reunion will be held at the same place the second Saturday in August.

I. W. T. Club

Mrs. Sam Porsilio, Wilson avenue, was a charming hostess to the members of the I. W. T. club in her home Thursday evening at a spaghetti supper.

During the evening the members were entertained by the singing and dancing of little Janette Gurneal. Mrs. Joseph Orico was a special guest.

Plans were made for a corn roast Thursday, August 30, at the home of Mrs. Harry Watt, 810 Vogan avenue.

Kelly Reunion

The annual Kelly reunion will take place this year on Saturday, August 25, at the home of Lou Kelly on the Graceland road.

Dinner will be served at 6 p. m. when all relatives and friends will be welcomed.

Sail For Europe

Daniel Powell and T. E. Williams of this city, sailed late Thursday on the S. S. Majestic for Europe. Mr. Powell will visit in England and France before returning home sometime in September.

E. M. M. Club.

Mrs. Albert Weaver, Mrs. Warren VanHorn and Mrs. A. Vaughn succeeded in winning the prizes awarded Wednesday evening when Mrs. Edward Sager, Dickson street, entertained the members of the E. M. M. club.

After a period at cards the hostess served a dainty lunch and plans were made to meet August 29 at the home of Mrs. Edward Trimble, Arlington avenue.

Entertains Friends

Mrs. Jerome Pyle entertained 43 friends Thursday evening at a corn roast at the home of her brother, William Wallace on the Edinburg road.

Esther, Grace and Billy Wallace formed an orchestra which played for dancing and Mrs. Myra Parks entertained with readings.

Husbands Are Guests

The M. and K. Class of the People's Mission met Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. Herman Byler, at the Harbor with Mrs. Parks leading the devotional period.

After the class meeting the members, with the husbands as guests had an enjoyable corn and wiener roast, with 70 present.

The hostess was assisted by Mrs. George Ryan and Mrs. B. Proctor.

Mrs. Proctor and Mrs. Conzit will be hostesses at the September meeting.

Announce Engagement

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Turner, Almira Avenue, announce the engagement of their daughter, Frances, to Frank Brenneman, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. S. Brenneman, Garfield avenue.

The betrothal will terminate in their wedding Saturday, September 1.

Here Old Timers' Day

Mrs. Howard B. Munnell of Akron, a former resident, is spending a few days with local friends, having come over for Old Timers Day.

Here's Family Health Insurance

Many Doctors will tell you that a mighty good way to protect the health of your family is to give them Shredded Wheat, milk, and fruit for at least one meal every day.

Shredded Wheat is so nourishing that one single Shredded Wheat Biscuit contains as much nourishment as a whole bowl of home-cooked cereal.

These hot days, it's important to remember that Shredded Wheat is easily digested. It doesn't slow you up. Shredded Wheat is whole wheat—one of Nature's best foods—nothing added, nothing taken away. It contains the carbohydrates you need for energy, proteins to build tissue, the vitamins you need to resist disease, and bran to keep you regular.

Give your family Shredded Wheat. They will feel better! It tastes good, and it's mighty economical, too.

NO PROFITEERING

DROUGHT has seriously cut the food resources of the nation. But there is no need to get excited about possible famine. Neither is there any excuse for wild increases in the price of food nor for the toleration of profiteering in its distribution.

While drought has turned large food-producing areas into temporary deserts, other sections of the nation have crops measurably above the average. Generally speaking, the eastern and southeastern states have not been seriously affected by the dry weather which has plagued the midwest. Likewise the Pacific states are producing more than average yields of foodstuffs.

Furthermore, there are the heavy surpluses of staple food products overhanging the markets for years. Now they can be used up, supplementing any possible shortages in current production.

It is on the basis of these facts that President Roosevelt and Secretary Wallace prepare policies aimed to prevent drought profiteering. Wallace warns that living costs may be expected to rise in the fall, but is justified in his estimate that the increase should not be more than 6 or 7 per cent.

The government has the power to prevent unreasonable increases. That authority will be invoked, as it should be, against any who seek to cash in on the drought.

Burke confessed that he did not know how to indict a nation, but some of our rash and headlong radicals find no difficulty in indicting a generation. Pretending to speak for the Administration, they describe Americans who lived before they came on the scene to set everything right as moved only by greed and actuated by selfishness to the point of savagery. Under-Secretary Tugwell has invented a phrase for it which he rolls as a sweet morsel under his tongue. He describes the social and political system before the New Deal as "cannibalism." Men waxed rich and powerful by preying upon their fellows, exploiting them to the last gasp, tearing them economically limb from limb, and rejecting every idea and principle of human welfare and brotherhood.

This is a picture in which the colors are false and the drawing distorted out of all recognition. The period thus defamed was really one of great social advance. Labor was more and more coming into its own. The standards of living were steadily lifted. More was done for free education than ever before. The good things of life were "in widest commonalty spread." Of course, there were greedy and grasping citizens, just as there are now, and will be, under the New Deal. But a large body of enlightened legislation was enacted to curb their power, clip their privilege, and punish them for crimes against society. Statistics could be piled up and living memories drawn upon to prove that these violent attacks upon a generation now passing are unfounded and slanderous.

It may be said that they are so extreme as to defeat themselves. Why take trouble to confute maligners whom no sensible man believes? The answer may be like that which Sir Horace Plunkett once gave when asked why he did not ignore those who were opposing his plans for Ireland. He replied that he was perfectly willing to let sleeping dogs lie, but would never consent to let lying dogs sleep. People do well to resent such gross misrepresentations of the times through which they have lived and which they understand by actual experience. They are entitled to repel with indignation reckless and untruthful charges against their own fathers and mothers. It is not true that the rule of tooth and claw prevailed in this country until March 4, 1933. It is not true that the milk of human kindness was unknown in this country before that date. If the New Deal is to succeed, it will be because it has caught up and embodied ideals and aspirations which had their birth and growth in the epoch now so ignorantly denounced by those who fancy that they are making all things new.

Exaggeration and vituperation ought to be shunned by the New Dealers. Let them modestly strive to build a little higher and broader upon the foundations well laid by their ancestors. Unless they can fit their work into the American tradition, which has been one of steady progress in social amelioration, it will crumble and perish in their hands. It ought to be sufficient for them to endeavor to make their future copy fair our past, without painting that past as something revolting and abominable.—New York Times

CUTTING THE COSTS

The secretary of the treasury's decision to cut out many useless trimmings in the construction of federal buildings in the future is a good one.

Mr. Morgenthau's purpose is economy. The cost of construction, the secretary believes, can be reduced from 10 to 20 per cent by eliminating merely decorative features that add nothing to the utilitarian value of the structures. He explains, at the same time, that it is not his intention to make public buildings ugly piles of steel and granite, devoid of any features appealing to the eye. But few ornate decorations will be employed and there will be a more economical use of space. Instructions to this effect have been given federal architects. Simplicity rather than ornateness is to be the rule.

The money saved, which in its total should run into large figures, certainly could be put to better use than in the installing of huge and elaborately decorated bronze doors where smaller and less costly ones would serve the purpose.

The secretary's ruling is in keeping with the need of economy in governmental expenditures.

It couldn't have been a bigger story if a minister had bitten a rattlesnake down in North Carolina.

OUR BLIND STREETS

You're driving along and you start to make a turn into another street. But there at the corner, you see a sign that warns you it is a "blind street"....If you go up that street, you'll merely have to turn around and come back, wasting time and gasoline. Nobody you know lives on that street: it doesn't go anywhere: you have no business on it....So you don't make the turn.

That's obvious enough. So obvious that it's hardly worth mentioning.

And yet there are many blind streets, and we make the turns and go along them, sometimes fully aware that they ARE streets that don't go anywhere.

Envy is a blind street. Envy makes you sick, makes you hard, leads to no benefits at all.

Malice is a blind street. We say bitter things about people, half ashamed of ourselves as we say them, and they bounce back and hit us in the face.

Revenge is a blind street. It has been called blind justice, but it is no justice, at all. Revenge is supposed to make things even and to right the injury you have received But it does not: instead it tilts the scale against you.

Self-indulgence is a blind street. You do things that you know are harmful to you, knowing all the time that you will regret them, but you do them just the same.

Self-pity, another form of self-indulgence, is a blind street. It draws down the corners of your mouth and inspires distaste rather than pity in other people.

Anger is a blind street. Even what we like to call "righteous anger" is blind and has the same effect on us as the anger that we all deplore.

Selfishness is a blind street. It turns in upon us and strips us of the liking of our friends.

There are blind streets all around us and though they are not marked with signs that a child can read, nevertheless we KNOW they are blind and will never take us into the open country of a happier life.... Then why do we take them?

KEEP ABREAST OF THE PROCESSION

When you look back upon your work of a few years ago, are you satisfied with the standard represented?

If so, you have ceased to advance.

If your efforts do not progress in worthwhile manner, you stagnate.

Much can be learned in a year if there is the will to learn.

But there's the rub.

Too many are content to drift and pick up with a minimum of effort what the tide brings.

Most persons give up efforts for achievement too early in life.

They are too easily satisfied.

They prefer to coast rather than expend the energy necessary to keep themselves abreast of the times.

It takes self discipline and self prodding to advance, but it is worth the effort.

Most men are demoted to inferior positions because they do not make enough effort to modernize themselves in their work.

Are you becoming a has-been?

It is not hard to keep up with the advancing procession if you try hard enough.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

PURPOSE

Just to get on together and live
In ways that are simple and sweet;
To know all our faults and forgive
And share both success and defeat;
To walk our small garden at eve;
Know sunshine and gray clouds and flowers
And still in each other believe
And rejoice in the joys which are ours.

Just to walk arm in arm through the years
Asking never too much of delight
Nor rebellious when trouble appears,
But sure that its purpose is right;
To cherish our hopes and our dreams
And accomplish some good with our lives,
Knowing kindness, though trival it seems
All forms of disaster survives.

Just to cling to each other and keep
The home warm and safe to the end,
Its joys neither lavish nor cheap,
With a welcome for neighbor and friend;
To give with glad hearts what we can
And whether we lose or we gain
Still to cling to this purpose and plan
That steadfast our love shall remain.

Like the pedigreed dogs he owned, Richard Croker, the most famous and most powerful of all Tammany chiefs in the history of the organization, was a hundred percenter as a party man. By his creed, you were either all for Tammany or you weren't for Tammany at all. You were either a full-blooded thoroughbred party-man without a taint or you were just an "ain't." You accepted the Tammany platform in its entirely—rotten planks and sound planks alike—or you got off the platform and out in the cold. Croker would not tolerate divided loyalty. At a meeting of Tammany Sachems during one of those hectic periods in his political career when there were rumors of discontent and rebellion among certain members in the tribe, Croker subtly warned his District Leaders what might happen to them by telling them about the old lady who called on a dog fancier with the purpose of purchasing a dog for herself. She didn't know what breed of canine she wanted but described her preference as one with a head like that of a Scotch terrier and a tail like that of a collie. "Do you keep dogs like that?" the old lady asked. "No" replied the dog fancier in a mournful tone of voice, "we drown 'em."

Dear Hints and Dints: Your looking for your hat when it was on your head, recalled a crazy stunt of mine, when young.

I always hated an umbrella. One day mother said "Take the umbrella with you" and I said "Oh, I don't need it." She said "Take it and don't lose it." After going a short distance, it began to rain, unconsciously I must have put it up. Soon I missed it and began going back to find it. After going several blocks I discovered I was carrying it over my head.

The World At A Glance

President Must Satisfy Many Groups Task Is To Please Divergent Interests How Various Groups Are Lining Up

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The greatest task of President Roosevelt within the next few months may be in satisfy the many groups into which the population has divided.

The groups are opposed to one another, to a large degree, but in a greater degree they shout at the president to "do something."

Whichever way the president turns, he cannot satisfy all. If he "does something" for one group, he is likely to have other groups denounce him for it.

His principal weakness, critics say, is his desire to please by compromise rather than by a direct stand.

Be that as it may, the situation looms up as approximately this:

The group known as Big Business is, on the whole, definitely antagonistic now to the New Deal; Small Business is less enthusiastic than it was and sees itself being crushed; the White Collar workers holds Roosevelt as his salvation, but is suffering from inflationary costs; the farmer seems whole-heartedly with the president; the worker sees in the president its only hope, but is bewildered by its experiences so far; the conservative union feels that the administration is behind it, but is uneasy over a youth movement within its own organization; the independent or "youth movement" unions are determined to clean out the American Federation of Labor, which has the blessing of the administration; the liberals are in complete despair, seeing liberal principles going by the boards and fascism setting in; and the radicals evidently are willing to suffer clubbings, imprisonment and deprivation generally of civil rights in the belief evidently that in despair workers and farmers will flock to their standard.

* * *

BIG BUSINESS

Big Business, generaly speaking, sees in the furtherance of the Roosevelt program an end in its era.

Being normal, Big Business is fighting for its life.

Big Business naturally will put up the greatest fight of its life, using every weayon at hand to estop what it terms "socialization, inroads by labor and business collapse."

* * *

SMALL BUSINESS

Small Business, unorganized as it is, does not know which way to turn. It sees monopoly of Big Business and growing costs due to inflation putting it out of the running.

Small business is answerable, of course, to some extent, of being "sweatshop", but, now, if it changes, it cannot exist.

It must find a way out—or give in to monopoly, either private or governmental.

* * *

WHITE COLLAR WORKER

The real Unforgotten Man is the White Collar Worker. He sees himself intimidated on all sides. His standards of living are declining. He is fearful of organizing—there are too many of him out of work. He is timid, to begin with. He clings to a hope that Roosevelt may give him security for old age. He fears the bosses, he fears the radicals. He—the millions of him—looks to the White House for a light of hope.

* * *

THE FARMER

The farmer, in spite of what city folk say, is the repeated victim of circumstances. He who has to battle nature for his living wages, a continuous and heart-rending fight.

The Roosevelt administration, the "Brain Trust", has done more for the farmer than any administration in the present century, the farmer believes. But it is not enough. Drought and world economic conditions make economic freedom an impossibility for farmers for some years to come.

Thus the degree of recovery in the United States may be hinged on the farmer's ability to bring about readjustment of world tariffs and quotas, which have caused a world trade deadlock. The deterring factor there is the refusal of the farmer to face true world conditions and his unwillingness to trade American economic isolation for world economic participation.

* * *

LABOR

Labor cannot understand the Roosevelt administration. Labor believed that it was insured the right of organization and collective bargaining—but, too date, it has suffered the most severe attacks and denunciations it ever has experienced. Yet, its leaders say, it has been fighting for its very existence. Was it lured by bright promises only to be caught in the open by machine gun fire? That, in brief, is the question put by its leaders.

* * *

CONSERVATIVE UNIONS

Conservative unions, like Big Business, are fighting for their existence.

Whether these unions have served their purpose and now give way to a new degree of organization remains to be seen. Industrials and union men see the contest most likely to occur in the steel and auto regions. It may be a contest devoid of outward battle. It simply may be a matter of evolution.

The battle, however, within labor itself is as poignant as any contest now being fought.

The conservative unions believe that the administration is behind them, but that does not prevent internal eruption.

* * *

"YOUTH MOVEMENT" UNIONS

The "youth movement" in unions—such as in the automobile industry—seems to many observers in business itself as likely to set in command of the labor situation.

Liberals in business look upon this as a good thing—as a guarantee against either communism or fascism. Standpatters, of course, tremble in their boots and would crush the movement now.

* * *

LIBERALS

Liberals, at present, are in a hopeless state of mind. They see fascism engulfing the nation unless the "liberal elements in the Roosevelt administration can have they say." But they do not believe that "liberal elements" will have much say if the Roosevelt administration "must compromise in order to put over pet measures to appease this and that group."

TODAY Is The Day

FRIDAY, AUGUST 17.

World War Day-By-Day—August 17, 1914—The Belgian capital is moved from Brussels to Antwerp. (It will be moved from there, too; will be but a figure of speech for four years. For a time, even, the Belgian capital will be in France!)

The expected French and British aid has not arrived. King Albert has expected—has been promised—allied forces will move up in time to make possible the defense of Belgium on the line of the Greete, or at least on the lines of the Dyle, famous in the wars of Louis XIV, with one flank resting on Antwerp, the center covering Brussels, and the line continued through Namur and prolonged by French troops behind the Meuse to the forts of Givet in France. On August 15 the first German attack upon the line of the Meuse south of Namur had been repulsed by French troops which arrived dramatically at the 11th hour.

The French have underestimated the size and extent of the German sweep. They have not realized that Germany can mobilize reserves so thoroughly trained that they can be hurled into the forefront of the advance alongside regulars. Their intelligence officers have fallen down.

Albert now is faced by six German corps—three advancing from the Meuse, having crossed north of Leige; three from the south, which had forced the passage of the river at Huy. These were the advance corps of the armies of Kluck and Bulow. Behind them five more corps are advancing. To face the 11 corps—500,000 men, the Belgians have but 100,000. They cannot wait any longer for the French and British. Albert orders a retreat to Antwerp, where fortifications have been constructed with the idea of serving as a place of asylum in just such an emergency as had now arrived.

Great Days—August 17, 1619—Slavery began in America.

A Dutch ship came into the James River, Virginia, with abducted Africans and sold 20 to tobacco planters.

These were not the first slaves in the new world. Christopher Columbus stole natives from Hispaniola (Haiti), took them to Spain.

August 17, 594 B. C.—Date, upon which authorities, checking back via references of contemporaries to eclipses, battles, etc., figure that Shappho, the most often quoted and most widely discussed woman genius in history, died—possibly by diving 2,000 feet into the sea from Leucadian Rock in a fit of unrequited love for handsome, younger Phaon.

Ever after thousands of historians were to debate her morals, and regularly her poems were to be burned by religious authorities as demoralizing. But she attacked the loose morals of Rhodopis, the girl her brother loved, in an ode that has penetrated 24 centuries with its brilliance. Excerpt:

"And thou, Rhodopis, dark lynx, put thy nose to the ground and go elsewhere on thy hunt for vice."

Probably she was homely, for she wrote:

"I would not exchange my mind for your beauty, fair maids."

And perhaps, too, her reputation as a wanton is undeserved, for there is loneliness in her classic lyrics; and she was a mother who wrote that she would not exchange her

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

WHY NOT?

The President and his advisors have given out that from the time Congress adjourned in June until it reassembles next December, there will be an intensive study made to determine the course of further legislation regarding the New Deal.

As the Administration has already assumed the responsibility of repealing the natural laws of supply and demand, here is a suggestion:

Congress might legislate concerning the weather. It might determine by an enactment that the rainfall next year is going to be evenly distributed to proper areas and that the heat of the sun is going to be controlled in these areas. This sort of thing has been tried before, so has legislation regarding the natural laws, such as the laws of supply and demand.

King Kanute, it will be remembered, undertook to regulate the movements of the tides of the oceans. It should not make any difference to our respective Congressmen or our respective Administration whether these efforts have failed hertofore. They might be tried again.

NO PROFITEERING

DROUGHT has seriously cut the food resources of the nation. But there is no need to get excited about possible famine. Neither is there any excuse for wild increases in the price of food nor for the toleration of profiteering in its distribution.

While drought has turned large food-producing areas into temporary deserts, other sections of the nation have crops measurably above the average. Generally speaking, the eastern and southeastern states have not been seriously affected by the dry weather which has plagued the midwest. Likewise the Pacific states are producing more than average yields of foodstuffs.

Furthermore, there are the heavy surpluses of staple food products overhanging the markets for years. Now they can be used up, supplementing any possible shortages in current production.

It is on the basis of these facts that President Roosevelt and Secretary Wallace prepare policies aimed to prevent drought profiteering. Wallace warns that living costs may be expected to rise in the fall, but is justified in his estimate that the increase should not be more than 6 or 7 per cent.

The government has the power to prevent unreasonable increases. That authority will be invoked, as it should be, against any who seek to cash in on the drought.

Burke confessed that he did not know how to indict a nation, but some of our rash and headlong radicals find no difficulty in indicting a generation. Pretending to speak for the Administration, they describe Americans who lived before they came on the scene to set everything right as moved only by greed and actuated by selfishness to the point of savagery. Under-Secretary Tugwell has invented a phrase for it which he rolls as a sweet morsel under his tongue. He describes the social and political system before the New Deal as "cannibalism." Men waxed rich and powerful by preying upon their fellows, exploiting them to the last gasp, tearing them economically limb from limb, and rejecting every idea and principle of human welfare and brotherhood.

This is a picture in which the colors are false and the drawing distorted out of all recognition. The period thus defamed was really one of great social advance. Labor was more and more coming into its own. The standards of living were steadily lifted. More was done for free education than ever before. The good things of life were "in widest commonalty spread." Of course, there were greedy and grasping citizens, just as there are now, and will be, under the New Deal. But a large body of enlightened legislation was enacted to curb their power, clip their privilege, and punish them for crimes against society. Statistics could be piled up and living memories drawn upon to prove that these violent attacks upon a generation now passing are unfounded and slanderous.

It may be said that they are so extreme as to defeat themselves. Why take trouble to confute maligners whom no sensible man believes? The answer may be like that which Sir Horace Plunkett once gave when asked why he did not ignore those who were opposing his plans for Ireland. He replied that he was perfectly willing to let sleeping dogs lie, but would never consent to let lying dogs sleep. People do well to resent such gross misrepresentations of the times through which they have lived and which they understand by actual experience. They are entitled to repel with indignation reckless and untruthful charges against their own fathers and mothers. It is not true that the rule of tooth and claw prevailed in this country until March 4, 1933. It is not true that the milk of human kindness was unknown in this country before that date. If the New Deal is to succeed, it will be because it has caught up and embodied ideals and aspirations which had their birth and growth in the epoch now so ignorantly denounced by those who fancy that they are making all things new.

Exaggeration and vituperation ought to be shunned by the New Dealers. Let them modestly strive to build a little higher and broader upon the foundations well laid by their ancestors. Unless they can fit their work into the American tradition, which has been one of steady progress in social amelioration, it will crumble and perish in their hands. It ought to be sufficient for them to endeavor to make their future copy fair our past, without painting that past as something revolting and abominable.—New York Times

The secretary of the treasury's decision to cut out many useless trimmings in the construction of federal buildings in the future is a good one.

Mr. Morgenthau's purpose is economy. The cost of construction, the secretary believes, can be reduced from 10 to 20 per cent by eliminating merely decorative features that add nothing to the utilitarian value of the structures. He explains, at the same time, that it is not his intention to make public buildings ugly piles of steel and granite, devoid of any features appealing to the eye. But few ornate decorations will be employed and there will be a more economical use of space. Instructions to this effect have been given federal architects. Simplicity rather than ornateness is to be the rule.

The money saved, which in its total should run into large figures, certainly could be put to better use than in the installing of huge and elaborately decorated bronze doors where smaller and less costly ones would serve the purpose.

The secretary's ruling is in keeping with the need of economy in governmental expenditures.

OUR BLIND STREETS

You're driving along and you start to make a turn into another street.

But there at the corner, you see a sign that warns you it is a "blind street"....If you go up that street, you'll merely have to turn around and come back, wasting time and gasoline. Nobody you know lives on that street: it doesn't go anywhere: you have no business on it....So you don't make the turn.

That's obvious enough. So obvious that it's hardly worth mentioning.

And yet there are many blind streets, and we make the turns and go along them, sometimes fully aware that they ARE streets that don't go anywhere.

Envy is a blind street. Envy makes you sick, makes you hard, leads to no benefits at all.

Malice is a blind street. We say bitter things about people, half ashamed of ourselves as we say them, and they bounce back and hit us in the face.

Revenge is a blind street. It has been called blind justice, but it is no justice, at all. Revenge is supposed to make things even and to right the injury you have received But it does not: instead it tilts the scale against you.

Self-indulgence is a blind street. You do things that you know are harmful to you, knowing all the time that you will regret them, but you do them just the same.

Self-pity, another form of self-indulgence, is a blind street. It draws down the corners of your mouth and inspires distaste rather than pity in other people.

Anger is a blind street. Even what we like to call "righteous anger" is blind and has the same effect on us as the anger that we all deplore.

Selfishness is a blind street. It turns in upon us and strips us of the liking of our friends.

There are blind streets all around us and though they are not marked with signs that a child can read, nevertheless we KNOW they are blind and will never take us into the open country of a happier life.... Then why do we take them?

KEEP ABREAST OF THE PROCESSION

When you look back upon your work of a few years ago, are you satisfied with the standard represented?

If so, you have ceased to advance.

If your efforts do not progress in worthwhile manner, you stagnate.

Much can be learned in a year if there is the will to learn.

But there's the rub.

Too many are content to drift and pick up with a minimum of effort what the tide brings.

Most persons give up efforts for achievement too early in life.

They are too easily satisfied.

They prefer to coast rather than expend the energy necessary to keep themselves abreast of the times.

It takes self discipline and self prodding to advance, but it is worth the effort.

Most men are demoted to inferior positions because they do not make enough effort to modernize themselves in their work.

Are you becoming a has-been?

It is not hard to keep up with the advancing procession if you try hard enough.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

PURPOSE

Just to get on together and live
In ways that are simple and sweet;
To know all our faults and forgive
And share both success and defeat;
To walk our small garden at eve;
Know sunshine and gray clouds and flowers
And still in each other believe
And rejoice in the joys which are ours.

Just to walk arm in arm through the years
Asking never too much of delight
Nor rebellious when trouble appears,
But sure that its purpose is right;
To cherish our hopes and our dreams
And accomplish some good with our lives,
Knowing kindness, though trival it seems
All forms of disaster survives.

Just to cling to each other and keep
The home warm and safe to the end,
Its joys neither lavish nor cheap,
With a welcome for neighbor and friend;
To give with glad hearts what we can
And whether we lose or we gain
Still to cling to this purpose and plan
That steadfast our love shall remain.

At a meeting of Tammany Sachems during one of those hectic periods in his political career when there were rumors of discontent and rebellion among certain members in the tribe, Croker subtly warned his District Leaders what might happen to them by telling them about the old lady who called on a dog fancier with the purpose of purchasing a dog for herself. She didn't know what breed of canine she wanted but described her preference as one with a head like that of a Scotch terrier and a tail like that of a collie. "Do you keep dogs like that?" the old lady asked. "No" replied the dog fancier in a mournful tone of voice, "we drown 'em."

President Must Satisfy Many Groups Task Is To Please Divergent Interests How Various Groups Are Lining Up

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The greatest task of President Roosevelt within the next few months may be in satisfy the many groups into which the population has divided.

The groups are opposed to one another, to a large degree, but in a greater degree they shout at the president to "do something."

Whichever way the president turns, he cannot satisfy all. If he "does something" for one group, he is likely to have other groups denounce him for it.

His principal weakness, critics say, is his desire to please by compromise rather than by a direct stand.

Be that as it may, the situation looms up as approximately this:

The group known as Big Business is, on the whole, definitely antagonistic now to the New Deal; Small Business is less enthusiastic than it was and sees itself being crushed; the White Collar workers holds Roosevelt as his salvation, but is suffering from inflationary costs; the farmer seems whole-heartedly with the president; the worker sees in the president its only hope, but is bewildered by its experiences so far; the conservative union feels that the administration is behind it, but is uneasy over a youth movement within its own organization; the independent or "youth movement" unions are determined to clean out the American Federation of Labor, which has the blessing of the administration; the liberals are in complete despair, seeing liberal principles going by the boards and fascism setting in; and the radicals evidently are willing to suffer clubbings, imprisonment and deprivation generally of civil rights in the belief evidently that in despair workers and farmers will flock to their standard.

* * *

BIG BUSINESS

Big Business, generaly speaking, sees in the furtherance of the Roosevelt program an end in its era.

Being normal, Big Business is fighting for its life.

Big Business naturally will put up the greatest fight of its life, using every weayon at hand to estop what it terms "socialization, inroads by labor and business collapse."

* * *

SMALL BUSINESS

Small Business, unorganized as it is, does not know which way to turn. It sees monopoly of Big Business and growing costs due to inflation putting it out of the running.

Small business is answerable, of course, to some extent, of being "sweatshop", but, now, if it changes, it cannot exist.

It must find a way out—or give in to monopoly, either private or governmental.

* * *

WHITE COLLAR WORKER

The real Unforgotten Man is the White Collar Worker. He sees himself intimidated on all sides. His standards of living are declining. He is fearful of organizing—there are too many of him out of work. He is timid, to begin with. He clings to a hope that Roosevelt may give him security for old age. He fears the bosses, he fears the radicals. He—the millions of him—looks to the White House for a light of hope.

* * *

THE FARMER

The farmer, in spite of what city folk say, is the repeated victim of circumstances. He who has to battle nature for his living wages, a continuous and heart-rending fight.

The Roosevelt administration, the "Brain Trust", has done more for the farmer than any administration in the present century, the farmer believes. But it is not enough. Drought and world economic conditions make economic freedom an impossibility for farmers for some years to come.

Thus the degree of recovery in the United States may be hinged on the farmer's ability to bring about readjustment of world tariffs and quotas, which have caused a world trade deadlock. The deterring factor there is the refusal of the farmer to face true world conditions and his unwillingness to trade American economic isolation for world economic participation.

* * *

LABOR

Labor cannot understand the Roosevelt administration. Labor believed that it was insured the right of organization and collective bargaining—but, too date, it has suffered the most severe attacks and denunciations it ever has experienced. Yet, its leaders say, it has been fighting for its very existence. Was it lured by bright promises only to be caught in the open by machine gun fire? That, in brief, is the question put by its leaders.

* * *

Conservative unions, like Big Business, are fighting for their existence.

Whether these unions have served their purpose and now give way to a new degree of organization remains to be seen. Industrials and union men see the contest most likely to occur in the steel and auto regions. It may be a contest devoid of outward battle. It simply may be a matter of evolution.

The battle, however, within labor itself is as poignant as any contest now being fought.

The conservative unions believe that the administration is behind them, but that does not prevent internal eruption.

* * *

"YOUTH MOVEMENT" UNIONS

The "youth movement" in unions—such as in the automobile industry—seems to many observers in business itself as likely to set in command of the labor situation.

Liberals in business look upon this as a good thing—as a guarantee against either communism or fascism. Standpatters, of course, tremble in their boots and would crush the movement now.

* * *

LIBERALS

Liberals, at present, are in a hopeless state of mind. They see fascism engulfing the nation unless the "liberal elements in the Roosevelt administration can have they say." But they do not believe that "liberal elements" will have much say if the Roosevelt administration "must compromise in order to put over pet measures to appease this and that group."

TODAY Is The Day

By CLARK KINNAIRD Copyright 1934 Central Press

FRIDAY, AUGUST 17.

World War Day-By-Day—August 17, 1914—The Belgian capital is moved from Brussels to Antwerp, (It will be moved from there, too; will be but a figure of speech for four years. For a time, even, the Belgian capital will be in France!)

The expected French and British aid has not arrived. King Albert has expected—has been promised—allied forces will move up in time to make possible the defense of Belgium on the line of the Greete, or at least on the lines of the Dyle, famous in the wars of Louis XIV, with one flank resting on Antwerp, the center covering Brussels, and the line continued through Namur and prolonged by French troops behind the Meuse to the forts of Givet in France. On August 15 the first German attack upon the line of the Meuse south of Namur had been repulsed by French troops which arrived dramatically at the 11th hour.

The French have underestimated the size and extent of the German sweep. They have not realized that Germany can mobilize reserves so thoroughly trained that they can be hurled into the forefront of the advance alongside regulars. Their intelligence officers have fallen down.

Albert now is faced by six German corps—three advancing from the Meuse, having crossed north of Leige; three from the south, which had forced the passage of the river at Huy. These were the advance corps of the armies of Kluck and Bulow. Behind them five more corps are advancing. To face the 11 corps—500,000 men, the Belgians have but 100,000. They cannot wait any longer for the French and British. Albert orders a retreat to Antwerp, where fortifications have been constructed with the idea of serving as a place of asylum in just such an emergency as had now arrived.

* * *

Great Days—August 17, 1619—Slavery began in America.

A Dutch ship came into the James River, Virginia, with abducted Africans and sold 20 to tobacco planters.

These were not the first slaves in the new world. Christopher Columbus stole natives from Hispaniola (Haiti), took them to Spain.

August 17, 594 B. C.—Date, upon which authorities, checking back via references of contemporaries to eclipses, battles, etc., figure that Shappho, the most often quoted and most widely discussed woman genius in history, died—possibly by diving 2,000 feet into the sea from Leucadian Rock in a fit of unrequited love for handsome, younger Phaon.

Ever after thousands of historians were to debate her morals, and regularly her poems were to be burned by religious authorities as demoralizing. But she attacked the loose morals of Rhodopis, the girl her brother loved, in an ode that has penetrated 24 centuries with its brilliance. Excerpt:

"And thou, Rhodopis, dark lynx, put thy nose to the ground and go elsewhere on thy hunt for vice."

Probably she was homely, for she wrote:

"I would not exchange my mind for your beauty, fair maids."

WHY NOT?

The President and his advisors have given out that from the time Congress adjourned in June until it reassembles next December, there will be an intensive study made to determine the course of further legislation regarding the New Deal.

As the Administration has already assumed the responsibility of repealing the natural laws of supply and demand, here is a suggestion:

Congress might legislate concerning the weather. It might determine by an enactment that the rainfall next year is going to be evenly distributed to proper areas and that the heat of the sun is going to be controlled in these areas. This sort of thing has been tried before, so has legislation regarding the natural laws, such as the laws of supply and demand.

King Kanute, it will be remembered, undertook to regulate the movements of the tides of the oceans. It should not make any difference to our respective Congressmen or our respective Administration whether these efforts have failed hertofore. They might be tried again.

NO PROFITEERING

DROUGHT has seriously cut the food resources of the nation. But there is no need to get excited about possible famine. Neither is there any excuse for wild increases in the price of food nor for the toleration of profiteering in its distribution.

While drought has turned large food-producing areas into temporary deserts, other sections of the nation have crops measurably above the average. Generally speaking, the eastern and southeastern states have not been seriously affected by the dry weather which has plagued the midwest. Likewise the Pacific states are producing more than average yields of foodstuffs.

Furthermore, there are the heavy surpluses of staple food products overhanging the markets for years. Now they can be used up, supplementing any possible shortages in current production.

It is on the basis of these facts that President Roosevelt and Secretary Wallace prepare policies aimed to prevent drought profiteering. Wallace warns that living costs may be expected to rise in the fall, but is justified in his estimate that the increase should not be more than 6 or 7 per cent.

The government has the power to prevent unreasonable increases. That authority will be invoked, as it should be, against any who seek to cash in on the drought.

Burke confessed that he did not know how to indict a nation, but some of our rash and headlong radicals find no difficulty in indicting a generation. Pretending to speak for the Administration, they describe Americans who lived before they came on the scene to set everything right as moved only by greed and actuated by selfishness to the point of savagery. Under-Secretary Tugwell has invented a phrase for it which he rolls as a sweet morsel under his tongue. He describes the social and political system before the New Deal as "cannibalism." Men waxed rich and powerful by preying upon their fellows, exploiting them to the last gasp, tearing them economically limb from limb, and rejecting every idea and principle of human welfare and brotherhood.

This is a picture in which the colors are false and the drawing distorted out of all recognition. The period thus defamed was really one of great social advance. Labor was more and more coming into its own. The standards of living were steadily lifted. More was done for free education than ever before. The good things of life were "in widest commonalty spread." Of course, there were greedy and grasping citizens, just as there are now, and will be, under the New Deal. But a large body of enlightened legislation was enacted to curb their power, clip their privilege, and punish them for crimes against society. Statistics could be piled up and living memories drawn upon to prove that these violent attacks upon a generation now passing are unfounded and slanderous.

It may be said that they are so extreme as to defeat themselves. Why take trouble to confute maligners whom no sensible man believes? The answer may be like that which Sir Horace Plunkett once gave when asked why he did not ignore those who were opposing his plans for Ireland. He replied that he was perfectly willing to let sleeping dogs lie, but would never consent to let lying dogs sleep. People do well to resent such gross misrepresentations of the times through which they have lived and which they understand by actual experience. They are entitled to repel with indignation reckless and untruthful charges against their own fathers and mothers. It is not true that the rule of tooth and claw prevailed in this country until March 4, 1933. It is not true that the milk of human kindness was unknown in this country before that date. If the New Deal is to succeed, it will be because it has caught up and embodied ideals and aspirations which had their birth and growth in the epoch now so ignorantly denounced by those who fancy that they are making all things new.

Exaggeration and vituperation ought to be shunned by the New Dealers. Let them modestly strive to build a little higher and broader upon the foundations well laid by their ancestors. Unless they can fit their work into the American tradition, which has been one of steady progress in social amelioration, it will crumble and perish in their hands. It ought to be sufficient for them to endeavor to make their future copy fair our past, without painting that past as something revolting and abominable.—New York Times

The secretary of the treasury's decision to cut out many useless trimmings in the construction of federal buildings in the future is a good one.

Mr. Morgenthau's purpose is economy. The cost of construction, the secretary believes, can be reduced from 10 to 20 per cent by eliminating merely decorative features that add nothing to the utilitarian value of the structures. He explains, at the same time, that it is not his intention to make public buildings ugly piles of steel and granite, devoid of any features appealing to the eye. But few ornate decorations will be employed and there will be a more economical use of space. Instructions to this effect have been given federal architects. Simplicity rather than ornateness is to be the rule.

The money saved, which in its total should run into large figures, certainly could be put to better use than in the installing of huge and elaborately decorated bronze doors where smaller and less costly ones would serve the purpose.

The secretary's ruling is in keeping with the need of economy in governmental expenditures.

OUR BLIND STREETS

You're driving along and you start to make a turn into another street.

But there at the corner, you see a sign that warns you it is a "blind street"....If you go up that street, you'll merely have to turn around and come back, wasting time and gasoline. Nobody you know lives on that street: it doesn't go anywhere: you have no business on it....So you don't make the turn.

That's obvious enough. So obvious that it's hardly worth mentioning.

And yet there are many blind streets, and we make the turns and go along them, sometimes fully aware that they ARE streets that don't go anywhere.

Envy is a blind street. Envy makes you sick, makes you hard, leads to no benefits at all.

Malice is a blind street. We say bitter things about people, half ashamed of ourselves as we say them, and they bounce back and hit us in the face.

Revenge is a blind street. It has been called blind justice, but it is no justice, at all. Revenge is supposed to make things even and to right the injury you have received But it does not: instead it tilts the scale against you.

Self-indulgence is a blind street. You do things that you know are harmful to you, knowing all the time that you will regret them, but you do them just the same.

Self-pity, another form of self-indulgence, is a blind street. It draws down the corners of your mouth and inspires distaste rather than pity in other people.

Anger is a blind street. Even what we like to call "righteous anger" is blind and has the same effect on us as the anger that we all deplore.

Selfishness is a blind street. It turns in upon us and strips us of the liking of our friends.

There are blind streets all around us and though they are not marked with signs that a child can read, nevertheless we KNOW they are blind and will never take us into the open country of a happier life.... Then why do we take them?

KEEP ABREAST OF THE PROCESSION

When you look back upon your work of a few years ago, are you satisfied with the standard represented?

If so, you have ceased to advance.

If your efforts do not progress in worthwhile manner, you stagnate.

Much can be learned in a year if there is the will to learn.

But there's the rub.

Too many are content to drift and pick up with a minimum of effort what the tide brings.

Most persons give up efforts for achievement too early in life.

They are too easily satisfied.

They prefer to coast rather than expend the energy necessary to keep themselves abreast of the times.

It takes self discipline and self prodding to advance, but it is worth the effort.

Most men are demoted to inferior positions because they do not make enough effort to modernize themselves in their work.

Are you becoming a has-been?

It is not hard to keep up with the advancing procession if you try hard enough.

Just Folks

By EDGAR A. GUEST

PURPOSE

Just to get on together and live
In ways that are simple and sweet;
To know all our faults and forgive
And share both success and defeat;
To walk our small garden at eve;
Know sunshine and gray clouds and flowers
And still in each other believe
And rejoice in the joys which are ours.

Just to walk arm in arm through the years
Asking never too much of delight
Nor rebellious when trouble appears,
But sure that its purpose is right;
To cherish our hopes and our dreams
And accomplish some good with our lives,
Knowing kindness, though trival it seems
All forms of disaster survives.

Just to cling to each other and keep
The home warm and safe to the end,
Its joys neither lavish nor cheap,
With a welcome for neighbor and friend;
To give with glad hearts what we can
And whether we lose or we gain
Still to cling to this purpose and plan
That steadfast our love shall remain.

Like the pedigreed dogs he owned, Richard Croker, the most famous and most powerful of all Tammany chiefs in the history of the organization, was a hundred percenter as a party man. By his creed, you were either all for Tammany or you weren't for Tammany at all. You were either a full-blooded thoroughbred party-man without a taint or you were just an "ain't." You accepted the Tammany platform in its entirely—rotten planks and sound planks alike—or you got off the platform and out in the cold. Croker would not tolerate divided loyalty. At a meeting of Tammany Sachems during one of those hectic periods in his political career when there were rumors of discontent and rebellion among certain members in the tribe, Croker subtly warned his District Leaders what might happen to them by telling them about the old lady who called on a dog fancier with the purpose of purchasing a dog for herself. She didn't know what breed of canine she wanted but described her preference as one with a head like that of a Scotch terrier and a tail like that of a collie. "Do you keep dogs like that?" the old lady asked. "No" replied the dog fancier in a mournful tone of voice, "we drown 'em."

President Must Satisfy Many Groups Task Is To Please Divergent Interests How Various Groups Are Lining Up

By LESLIE EICHEL
Central Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The greatest task of President Roosevelt within the next few months may be in satisfy the many groups into which the population has divided.

The groups are opposed to one another, to a large degree, but in a greater degree they shout at the president to "do something."

Whichever way the president turns, he cannot satisfy all. If he "does something" for one group, he is likely to have other groups denounce him for it.

His principal weakness, critics say, is his desire to please by compromise rather than by a direct stand.

Be that as it may, the situation looms up as approximately this:

The group known as Big Business is, on the whole, definitely antagonistic now to the New Deal; Small Business is less enthusiastic than it was and sees itself being crushed; the White Collar workers holds Roosevelt as his salvation, but is suffering from inflationary costs; the farmer seems whole-heartedly with the president; the worker sees in the president its only hope, but is bewildered by its experiences so far; the conservative union feels that the administration is behind it, but is uneasy over a youth movement within its own organization; the independent or "youth movement" unions are determined to clean out the American Federation of Labor, which has the blessing of the administration; the liberals are in complete despair, seeing liberal principles going by the boards and fascism setting in; and the radicals evidently are willing to suffer clubbings, imprisonment and deprivation generally of civil rights in the belief evidently that in despair workers and farmers will flock to their standard.

* * *

THE FARMER

The farmer, in spite of what city folk say, is the repeated victim of circumstances. He who has to battle nature for his living wages, a continuous and heart-rending fight.

The Roosevelt administration, the "Brain Trust", has done more for the farmer than any administration in the present century, the farmer believes. But it is not enough. Drought and world economic conditions make economic freedom an impossibility for farmers for some years to come.

Thus the degree of recovery in the United States may be hinged on the farmer's ability to bring about readjustment of world tariffs and quotas, which have caused a world trade deadlock. The deterring factor there is the refusal of the farmer to face true world conditions and his unwillingness to trade American economic isolation for world economic participation.

* * *

LABOR

Labor cannot understand the Roosevelt administration. Labor believed that it was insured the right of organization and collective bargaining—but, too date, it has suffered the most severe attacks and denunciations it ever has experienced. Yet, its leaders say, it has been fighting for its very existence. Was it lured by bright promises only to be caught in the open by machine gun fire? That, in brief, is the question put by its leaders.

* * *

Conservative unions, like Big Business, are fighting for their existence.

Whether these unions have served their purpose and now give way to a new degree of organization remains to be seen. Industrials and union men see the contest most likely to occur in the steel and auto regions. It may be a contest devoid of outward battle. It simply may be a matter of evolution.

The battle, however, within labor itself is as poignant as any contest now being fought.

The conservative unions believe that the administration is behind them, but that does not prevent internal eruption.

* * *

"YOUTH MOVEMENT" UNIONS

The "youth movement" in unions—such as in the automobile industry—seems to many observers in business itself as likely to set in command of the labor situation.

Liberals in business look upon this as a good thing—as a guarantee against either communism or fascism. Standpatters, of course, tremble in their boots and would crush the movement now.

* * *

LIBERALS

Liberals, at present, are in a hopeless state of mind. They see fascism engulfing the nation unless the "liberal elements in the Roosevelt administration can have they say." But they do not believe that "liberal elements" will have much say if the Roosevelt administration "must compromise in order to put over pet measures to appease this and that group."

TODAY Is The Day

By CLARK KINNAIRD Copyright 1934 Central Press

FRIDAY, AUGUST 17.

World War Day-By-Day—August 17, 1914—The Belgian capital is moved from Brussels to Antwerp, (It will be moved from there, too; will be but a figure of speech for four years. For a time, even, the Belgian capital will be in France!)

The expected French and British aid has not arrived. King Albert has expected—has been promised—allied forces will move up in time to make possible the defense of Belgium on the line of the Greete, or at least on the lines of the Dyle, famous in the wars of Louis XIV, with one flank resting on Antwerp, the center covering Brussels, and the line continued through Namur and prolonged by French troops behind the Meuse to the forts of Givet in France. On August 15 the first German attack upon the line of the Meuse south of Namur had been repulsed by French troops which arrived dramatically at the 11th hour.

The French have underestimated the size and extent of the German sweep. They have not realized that Germany can mobilize reserves so thoroughly trained that they can be hurled into the forefront of the advance alongside regulars. Their intelligence officers have fallen down.

Albert now is faced by six German corps—three advancing from the Meuse, having crossed north of Leige; three from the south, which had forced the passage of the river at Huy. These were the advance corps of the armies of Kluck and Bulow. Behind them five more corps are advancing. To face the 11 corps—500,000 men, the Belgians have but 100,000. They cannot wait any longer for the French and British. Albert orders a retreat to Antwerp, where fortifications have been constructed with the idea of serving as a place of asylum in just such an emergency as had now arrived.

Great Days—August 17, 1619—Slavery began in America.

A Dutch ship came into the James River, Virginia, with abducted Africans and sold 20 to tobacco planters.

These were not the first slaves in the new world. Christopher Columbus stole natives from Hispaniola (Haiti), took them to Spain.

August 17, 504 B. C.—Date, upon which authorities, checking back via references of contemporaries to eclipses, battles, etc., figure that Shappho, the most often quoted and most widely discussed woman genius in history, died—possibly by diving 2,000 feet into the sea from Leucadian Rock in a fit of unrequited love for handsome, younger Phaon.

Ever after thousands of historians were to debate her morals, and regularly her poems were to be burned by religious authorities as demoralizing. But she attacked the loose morals of Rhodopis, the girl her brother loved, in an ode that has penetrated 24 centuries with its brilliance. Excerpt:

"And thou, Rhodopis, dark lynx, put thy nose to the ground and go elsewhere on thy hunt for vice."

Probably she was homely, for she wrote:

"I would not exchange my mind for your beauty, fair maids."

And perhaps, too, her reputation as a wanton is undeserved, for there is loneliness in her classic lyrics; and she was a mother who wrote that she would not exchange her

The President and his advisors have given out that from the time Congress adjourned in June until it reassembles next December, there will be an intensive study made to determine the course of further legislation regarding the New Deal.

Italian-American Citizen League Picnic Takes Place Sunday

With a most interesting program arranged by Joseph Nocera, general chairman, and T. C. Richards, assistant chairman, the outing of the Italian-American Citizens league, Sunday at Neshannock Falls, is anticipated to be one of the biggest held at the recreation spot this season.

Members of the organization and their friends will congregate in front of the Tigers Club, Sunday morning at 9 o'clock, where a cavacade of automobiles will leave for the picnic grounds. The program will get underway at 10:30 o'clock, featured by a bocce tournament.

Basket dinner will follow at 12 o'clock. At 1:30 o'clock, the crowd will listen to addresses by Mayor Charles B. Mayne, B. J. Biondi, Raymond Peluso, president Umberto Primo Society, Anthony Costa, Dr. Warren V. Massaro, Attorney Joseph Leta Jr., Joseph Pagley, John De Lorenzo, Carmen Blundo, and Anthony Villani, president of the organization. Frank C. Summers will act as toastmaster.

OLD TIMES HAVE ANNUAL GATHERING

est person present. Mrs. Clark, who is 93 years of age, was brought to the park by Mayor Charles B. Mayne and spent an enjoyable afternoon.

Mrs. Margaret Hennon, of Youngstown, 89 years of age, and a pioneer resident of the county, was a close second, and then came T. M. Hutchison of R. F. D., No. 3, Wilmington township, who is going on 89 years of age. Incidentally, yesterday was Mr. Hutchison's first visit to Cascade Park on Old Timers Day.

Mrs. Mary E. Moore McKee, of New Wilmington, 84 years of age, was one of the oldest persons to take part in the costume parade and grand march. Mrs. McKee had a serious illness last spring, but has recovered splendidly and seems ready to keep on going for another ten years.

The costume pageant was one of the finest events of its kind ever seen here, and promises to be even bigger and better next year, for it will be repeated at the 1935 Old Timers Day reunion and picnic, the officers state.

Costume Winners

Charles J. and Effie Peebles Kirk were adjusted the winners of the best costumed couple, and the decision of the judges in this regard proved a popular one with the audience. Their decisions met with the approval of everyone, in spite of the fact that it was pretty hard to choose from among the many fine old costumes assembled.

The winning couple looked as if they might have stepped from a picture of days ago.

Mrs. A. H. Fullerton, of Mt. Jackson, wearing the wedding dress of her mother, dating back to the days around the Civil War, took the prize for the best dressed woman, while former sheriff, Robert H. Whaley, wearing the suit and hat his father wore to this country from Ireland, 87 years ago, was adjudged the best dressed man. Mr. Wholey also carried the cane his father used and the hand-made leather hat box, which housed the queer-shape old topper, worn during that period in Ireland.

The judges were Miss Anna Perry, Mrs. David H. Kay, and O. P. Brown, who performed a difficult task in a splendidly efficient manner.

The parade of costumes outside the pavilion was not carried out because of the weather, but almost everyone out there was able to see perfectly from a point of vantage inside the pavilion.

Stage Grand March

After the costume parade, those who participated were joined by many other old timers in the annual grand march, which was led by President Ralph M. Campbell, with H. D. Morrison, of Pittsburgh, and Frank H. Robinson, assisting in guiding the marchers.

Mr. Morrison acted as marshal of the costume parade and floor manager during the afternoon.

When the grand march had been concluded, the old timers spread out on the floor and went through the steps of quadrille. Then followed the two steps and waltzes for the younger folks.

At 5 o'clock the program was concluded and another Old Timers' day was history.

List Participants.

Those who took part in the old timers' costume pageant were the following:

Robert H. Whaley, 451 Chestnut street, Whaley family.

Mrs. Carmi Williams Glover.

Charles J. Kirk and Effie Peebles Kirk, representing the Kirk and Peebles families.

Bertha Ramsey, Sharon, the Thomas and Louisa Ball family.

Lucy Fullwood, 1017 Pollock avenue, the Thatcher family.

Mrs. Laura Linton, 231½ N. Mill street.

Eileen O'Leary, North Jefferson street, James Hannon family.

Mrs. Darrell Ralya, Wallace avenue, the James Hannon family.

Husband Built Park

One of the interesting visitors at Cascade Park, was Mrs. J. M. Walker, who is visiting her cousin, Mrs. E. A. Caldwell of County Line St. and other relatives in the community.

Cascade Park was the dream of her husband for he was the engineer who laid out Cascade Park and supervised the construction of the various buildings, back in the early '90's.

Among other visitors who were present were: Mrs. Ella McAnlis, Mrs. Gayle Moore and son Ewing, Will Daggett James Gilliland, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Howell, Mrs. Margaret J. Velker, Mrs. Margaret Hennon, son Thomas and daughter Stella Hennon and grandson Stanley Hennon, all of Youngstown.

Jesse Nixon, of Sterling, Ill., Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Lutton, of Beaver Falls, H. D. Morrison, Pittsburgh: Mr. and Mrs. William Fleming Cleveland, O., William J. Crombie, Philadelphia: Harry McMullen, Beaver Falls: Mrs. E. L. Conover, Cleveland, O., Mrs. Cora Lininger Blackstone, Canton, O., Mrs. Hattie Nixon Vandergrift, Clarksburg, W. Va.

Jeannette Hickman, Pennsboro, W. Va., Mrs. J. E. Ligo, Aliquippa, Mrs. James Kerr Pollock and children, Ann and Robert of Ann Arbor, Mich., Mrs. Emma Fry Snyder, Pittsburgh, Mrs. Myrtle Loury Douthitt, Chicago, Ill., John DeNormandie, former county treasurer, of Greenville, Pa., James Sankey, of Pittsburgh, Pa., little Suzanne Rigby of Clairton.

Mollie Elder Crawford, Cleveland, O., Will Aiken and son William Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hoover and family and Mrs. Grace Kreps all of Sharon: Mrs. Emma Dewberry Keefer, Cleveland, O., Mrs. Bella Craig Foster and son George, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Klemm and daughter Marilyn Craig of Pittsburgh: Mrs. Ellen Craig Rhea, Avalon: Charles Philips, Cleveland, O., Mrs. Patrick Farrell, Pittsburgh: Fred Squire, Grove City: Mr. and Mrs. Howard Munnell, Akron, O., Mr. and Mrs. Bert Horner, Pittsburgh, Mrs. Lyda McCandless Taylor, Washington, Pa., Mr. and Mrs. Norris Mitchell, New Bedford: George A. Crawford, New Wilmington, J. C. Offutt, Leesburgh: Mrs. Arthur K. Rade, Pittsburgh.

Arranged Pageant

The committee in charge of arranging the costume pageant deserve considerable credit for the extensive effort they put forth. This committee was composed of Mrs. Effie Peebles Kirk, Miss Rose Butz, Mrs. Scott B. Hamilton, Mrs. Jos. Hannon, Mrs. J. B. McClarren and Mrs. Harry Marshall, Sr.

President Ralph M. Campbell and secretary and treasurer William T. Butz, also worked hard for the success of the affair and were gratifield with the splendid co-operation accorded them.

The fife and drum corps of Company K. Sons of Veterans travelled over the city in a coach furnished by the traction company during the morning, and led the costume pageant in its march about the dance floor, playing martial airs.

Mrs. Benjamin Beisel missed her first reunion yesterday in 20 years. It was just twenty years ago that her mother Eliza Winans McBride led the grand march in company with the late Prof. W. N. Aiken.

Quarterly Meeting At Epworth Church

Dr. C. G. Farr Will Conduct Conference As Last Of Church Year Meetings

The last quarterly meeting of the Epworth Methodist church for this conference year will take place this evening in the Grace Chapel of the church.

Dr. C. G. Farr, district superintendent, will be in charge and the annual report will be given by the pastor, Dr. J. A. Galbraith with the organizations reporting on their work of the year.

Arranged Pageant

The committee in charge of arranging the costume pageant deserve considerable credit for the extensive effort they put forth. This committee was composed of Mrs. Effie Peebles Kirk, Miss Rose Butz, Mrs. Scott B. Hamilton, Mrs. Jos. Hannon, Mrs. J. B. McClarren and Mrs. Harry Marshall, Sr.

President Ralph M. Campbell and secretary and treasurer William T. Butz, also worked hard for the success of the affair and were gratifield with the splendid co-operation accorded them.

The fife and drum corps of Company K. Sons of Veterans travelled over the city in a coach furnished by the traction company during the morning, and led the costume pageant in its march about the dance floor, playing martial airs.

Mrs. Benjamin Beisel missed her first reunion yesterday in 20 years. It was just twenty years ago that her mother Eliza Winans McBride led the grand march in company with the late Prof. W. N. Aiken.

Quarterly Meeting At Epworth Church

Dr. C. G. Farr Will Conduct Conference As Last Of Church Year Meetings

The last quarterly meeting of the Epworth Methodist church for this conference year will take place this evening in the Grace Chapel of the church.

Dr. C. G. Farr, district superintendent, will be in charge and the annual report will be given by the pastor, Dr. J. A. Galbraith with the organizations reporting on their work of the year.

Epworth church has been unusually busy the past few weeks closing the year's work and preparing to entertain the Erie annual conference, the sessions of which will be held in Epworth church September 12 and 17.

There will be 240 ministers and 200 laymen represent the churches of the conference as official delegates.

OLD TIMES HAVE ANNUAL GATHERING

est person present. Mrs. Clark, who is 93 years of age, was brought to the park by Mayor Charles B. Mayne and spent an enjoyable afternoon.

Mrs. Margaret Hennon, of Youngstown, 89 years of age, and a pioneer resident of the county, was a close second, and then came T. M. Hutchison of R. F. D., No. 3, Wilmington township, who is going on 89 years of age. Incidentally, yesterday was Mr. Hutchison's first visit to Cascade Park on Old Timers Day.

Mrs. Mary E. Moore McKee, of New Wilmington, 84 years of age, was one of the oldest persons to take part in the costume parade and grand march. Mrs. McKee had a serious illness last spring, but has recovered splendidly and seems ready to keep on going for another ten years.

The costume pageant was one of the finest events of its kind ever seen here, and promises to be even bigger and better next year, for it will be repeated at the 1935 Old Timers Day reunion and picnic, the officers state.

Costume Winners

Charles J. and Effie Peebles Kirk were adjusted the winners of the best costumed couple, and the decision of the judges in this regard proved a popular one with the audience. Their decisions met with the approval of everyone, in spite of the fact that it was pretty hard to choose from among the many fine old costumes assembled.

The winning couple looked as if they might have stepped from a picture of days ago.

Mrs. A. H. Fullerton, of Mt. Jackson, wearing the wedding dress of her mother, dating back to the days around the Civil War, took the prize for the best dressed woman, while former sheriff, Robert H. Whaley, wearing the suit and hat his father wore to this country from Ireland, 87 years ago, was adjudged the best dressed man. Mr. Wholey also carried the cane his father used and the hand-made leather hat box, which housed the queer-shape old topper, worn during that period in Ireland.

The judges were Miss Anna Perry, Mrs. David H. Kay, and O. P. Brown, who performed a difficult task in a splendidly efficient manner.

The parade of costumes outside the pavilion was not carried out because of the weather, but almost everyone out there was able to see perfectly from a point of vantage inside the pavilion.

Stage Grand March

After the costume parade, those who participated were joined by many other old timers in the annual grand march, which was led by President Ralph M. Campbell, with H. D. Morrison, of Pittsburgh, and Frank H. Robinson, assisting in guiding the marchers.

Mr. Morrison acted as marshal of the costume parade and floor manager during the afternoon.

When the grand march had been concluded, the old timers spread out on the floor and went through the steps of quadrille. Then followed the two steps and waltzes for the younger folks.

At 5 o'clock the program was concluded and another Old Timers' day was history.

List Participants.

Those who took part in the old timers' costume pageant were the following:

Robert H. Whaley, 451 Chestnut street, Whaley family.

Mrs. Carmi Williams Glover.

Charles J. Kirk and Effie Peebles Kirk, representing the Kirk and Peebles families.

Bertha Ramsey, Sharon, the Thomas and Louisa Ball family.

Lucy Fullwood, 1017 Pollock avenue, the Thatcher family.

Mrs. Laura Linton, 231½ N. Mill street.

Mary Elizabeth Crawford, Cleveland, O., the James Crawford family.

Sadie Doonan, 817 E. Lutton street, the Richard Hannon, Sr., family.

Mrs. E. N. Baer, Wallace avenue, Reinholt family.

Mrs. Harry Marshall, Sr., 221 N. Crawford avenue, the Tidball family.

Mrs. J. A. Sechler, 202 N. Jefferson street, the Weller family.

Joseph V. McClarren and Mrs. J. V. McClarren, 313 S. Walnut street, representing the McClarren and McCleary families.

Fred L. Rentz and Mrs. Kate Long Rentz. Mrs. Rentz had the only true costume, representing the gay 90's, and presented a beautiful appearance.

Mrs. Scott McCaslin, 908 E. Washington street, Thomas Alexander family.

Dell Davidson, Locust street, Leonard and Davidson families.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Fullerton, R. F. D. No. 8, the Nesbitt family.

THE NEWS, ONE YEAR BY MAIL, $5.00

ROBERTS REUNION AT LIBERTY GRANGE HALL

One of the most enjoyable reunions ever held by the Roberts family took place at Liberty Grange hall on Thursday.

After a delicious picnic dinner, the time was spent in games and visiting. At the business meeting, Robert Stoner was re-elected president of the association; Mrs. G. W. Atkinson, secretary, and Mrs. Gladys Wallace, treasurer. Mrs. Wallace replaces Mrs. Mary Roberts, who has served as treasurer very efficiently for twelve years.

Committees appointed are as follows: Table, Mrs. Walter McClelland, Mrs. S. C. Leonard, Mrs. Rodgers and Mrs. Clair Brown. Athletics, Joseph Stoner, Ralph Leonard, Mary Brown and Doris Leonard. Program, Elmer Brown, Angie Atkinson.

Professor J. H. Stoner, Mrs. Stoner and their sons, Edgar and Ardis of Los Angeles, Cal., were the only guests from out of town. They invited the association to their home for the next reunion. The invitation was declined because of the difficulty of transporation.

The invitation of Clifford Roberts to his home on the Moravia road was accepted and the reunion will take place there, the third Thursday in August next year.

The oldest guest present was Mrs. Susan Sickafuse, aged 84. The youngest present was Billy Thomas Richards.

Brisco Club

Members of the Brisco Club were delightfully entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Carvella, of Garfield avenue, on Thursday evening. Cards proved the chief diversion. At an appropriate time, the hostess served delicious refreshments.

BADGER REUNION AT ETNA SPRINGS PARK

Etna Springs Park, along the Slippery Rock was the mecca Thursday for 150 members of the Badger family who gathered for the twenty-sixth annual reunion.

Following a bountiful dinner, a program was given. H. V. Eakin, assisted by Mrs. Clyde Allen with her guitar, led the singing of many old time songs. Mrs. Allen and her daughter Dorothy, rendered a duet. Readings were given by Mrs. Mary Stoughton and Mrs. David Badger.

The business meeting was in charge of the president, Lawrence Wilson. Named were these officers for the ensuing year: President, Frank Morrison; vice president, Loy Badger; secretary-treasurer, Charles Bortmas; assistant secretary, Miss Jennie Badger.

Table committee: Mrs. Christie, Miss Helen Badger, Mrs. Cora Hartzell, Mrs. Howard Badger, Mrs. Carrie Croll and Mrs. Dodds; sports: Ford McKissock, Mrs. Clyde Allen, S. B. Badger.

The youngest person present was Dale Samuel Bartley, and the oldest, Mrs. Mary Baker.

Sports were in charge of Miss Margaret Badger and S. B. Badger, with games and contests for both young and old. The remainder of the day was spent visiting and having an informal good time.

Honors Sister

Miss Trinie Ross, of South Jefferson street, entertained about 75 guests in her home Thursday night, at a shower in honor of her sister Nancy, a bride elect of September.

The hours were whiled away playing games, dancing and discussing numerous topics of interest. The honored guest received many lovely gifts. During the course of the evening, a delicious luncheon was served. Guests were present from Ellwood City, Wampum, Hillsville and Greenville. Miss Ross' fiance is Dykes Monsey, golf pro at the New Castle Field Club.

Enjoy Corn Roast

Rain and wet roads prevented the Young Married Peoples Bible class of the Epworth M. E. church from holding an outdoor corn roast Thursday evening, but this deficiency was compensated by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Matthews holding the corn roast in the basement of their home on Butler road.

Roasting ears, hot dogs, pickles and cake made up the first line of defense on the bill of fare with Mr. and Mrs. Matthews and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kerr preparing and serving the meal.

Following the meal, games of various sort were in progress for the rest of the evening.

Sicilian Club

Miss Viola Fiala, of Winslow avenue, proved a charming hostess on Thursday evening, when she received the members of the Sicilians Girls Club. Following a brief business session, Miss Nancy Ross, a bride elect of September was presented with a lovely gift by the members of the organization.

At an appropriate time, the hostess served appetizing refreshments. Miss Josephine Gennaula, of Emerson avenue, will entertain the club in her home next Tuesday night at 8:00 o'clock.

Corn-Wiener Roast.

A corn and wiener roast was an enjoyable event for some 70 people Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Byler at the Harbor.

Guests were members of the M. K. class of the People's Mission and the men and following the usual transaction of routine business, various games were played. Prizes were won by Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Watt and Mr. Johnson.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Conzett on Bell avenue.

Married In New Castle

Justice of the Peace H. M. Reynolds performed the ring ceremony which united in marriage two out of town couples Wednesday.

In the afternoon Ilene M. Perry became the bride of Richard Melvin Francis Morey, both young people being from Farmington, Mass. They were accompanied by their mothers.

Wednesday evening, Ila Mae Yeriam and Charles J. Williams, Jr., both of Beaver Falls, were wed. The mother and aunt of the groom were with them.

Enjoyable Occasion

One of the enjoyable occasions of the week, interesting about twenty-five or thirty people, was the corn and wiener roast held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. James Gilliland on Conkle avenue, for the Ki Nu club and friends.

In a drawing contest, prizes fell to Mrs. William E. Logan and L. O. Nicholson.

On September 20, the club will be guests of Mrs. C. B. Schooley, 312 Park avenue.

At McCormick Home.

At the home of Mrs. P. T. McCormick on Young street Thursday evening, associates in the New Deal club spent a pleasant evening playing 500 and bingo.

Mrs. Hugh Daly and Mrs. H. Bartholomew won the prizes at cards and Mrs. J. Rogan and Mrs. Katherine Fee at bingo. Dainty refreshments were served.

Next Thursday evening the club will have a dinner at Cascade park in honor of the birthdays of two members.

Birthday Party

A happy group of young children celebrated the fourth birthday of Charles Fair, Jr. Thursday afternoon from 2:30 to 5.

After a period of play, the children were served luncheon at the dining room table which was adorned with a large birthday cake. Aides were Dorothy Fair, Rose Cast, Marie Fair, Jeanette and Lillian Peluso.

To Conclude Visit

Mrs. J. M. Edwards and daughter Sara, of East Garfield avenue, will return the first of next week from a five weeks' visit with the former's brother, J. R. Gill who resides near Wolf Creek, Montana.

Saturday.

Field club dance.

BIRTHS

(Announcements to appear in this column must be signed with name and address of writer, and also give name of doctor.)

Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Banks, of Sheridan avenue, announce the birth of a son in the Jameson Memorial hospital, August 16.

Mr. and Mrs. David Tesone, of Cascade street, announce the arrival of a son in the New Castle hospital.

W. C. T. U. and L. T. L.

EAST SIDE UNION

Thirty members of the East Side W. C. T. U. and Y. P. B. gathered for breakfast at Cascade Park, Tuesday morning and after the early morning appetites had been appeased a business session was called, with Mrs. Letha Craig in charge. Mrs. Edith Wiles and Mrs. Carrie McClain were hostesses.

An election resulted in Mrs. Anna Kildoo being named president; Mrs. Margaret Moore, vice; Mrs. Bernard Hook, secretary; Mrs. Edith Wiles, assistant; Mrs. U. S. Choens, treasurer.

Plans were discussed for a luncheon September 11 at the home of Mrs. Anna Kildoo, Maryland avenue, with Mrs. M. R. Bates and Mrs. John Ulrich in charge of arrangements.

Y. M. P. Class Meets

Another interesting meeting held the attention of the Y. M. P. class of the Church of the Nazarene, taught by the Rev. C. F. Whetsell, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tobe Mackey, Harbor street.

David Wheale was in charge of the prayer which opened the session. Victor Connerly presided and committees were appointed.

Later the group assembled on the porch where entertainment was presented by Ruth and Mildred Johanson, Virgil Kelley and Leonard Sanberg.

Refreshments were selved by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Sara McCune, Mrs. Roxie Hylton, Mrs. Mertie Connerly, Mrs. Julia Smolnick and Mrs. Alma Heckathorn.

Workman Killed When Caught In Elevator Shaft

(International News Service)

HUNTINGDON, Pa., Aug. 17.—Accidental death was listed today in the case of Clyde Mark, 30, who was killed instantly in the storage building of the Reeves-Parvin Company when he was caught between the elevator and floor.

The motor of the elevator kept on running after the accident, sending out sparks which caused workmen to summon fire apparatus. Firemen extricated Mark's lifeless body. Coroner J. M. Keichling, after viewing the body, decided not to hold an inquest.

Funeral services were to be held this afternoon.

ROBERTS REUNION AT LIBERTY GRANGE HALL

One of the most enjoyable reunions ever held by the Roberts family took place at Liberty Grange hall on Thursday.

After a delicious picnic dinner, the time was spent in games and visiting. At the business meeting, Robert Stoner was re-elected president of the association; Mrs. G. W. Atkinson, secretary, and Mrs. Gladys Wallace, treasurer. Mrs. Wallace replaces Mrs. Mary Roberts, who has served as treasurer very efficiently for twelve years.

Committees appointed are as follows: Table, Mrs. Walter McClelland, Mrs. S. C. Leonard, Mrs. Rodgers and Mrs. Clair Brown. Athletics, Joseph Stoner, Ralph Leonard, Mary Brown and Doris Leonard. Program, Elmer Brown, Angie Atkinson.

Professor J. H. Stoner, Mrs. Stoner and their sons, Edgar and Ardis of Los Angeles, Cal., were the only guests from out of town. They invited the association to their home for the next reunion. The invitation was declined because of the difficulty of transporation.

The invitation of Clifford Roberts to his home on the Moravia road was accepted and the reunion will take place there, the third Thursday in August next year.

The oldest guest present was Mrs. Susan Sickafuse, aged 84. The youngest present was Billy Thomas Richards.

Brisco Club

Members of the Brisco Club were delightfully entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Carvella, of Garfield avenue, on Thursday evening. Cards proved the chief diversion. At an appropriate time, the hostess served delicious refreshments.

BADGER REUNION AT ETNA SPRINGS PARK

Etna Springs Park, along the Slippery Rock was the mecca Thursday for 150 members of the Badger family who gathered for the twenty-sixth annual reunion.

Following a bountiful dinner, a program was given. H. V. Eakin, assisted by Mrs. Clyde Allen with her guitar, led the singing of many old time songs. Mrs. Allen and her daughter Dorothy, rendered a duet. Readings were given by Mrs. Mary Stoughton and Mrs. David Badger.

The business meeting was in charge of the president, Lawrence Wilson. Named were these officers for the ensuing year: President, Frank Morrison; vice president, Loy Badger; secretary-treasurer, Charles Bortmas; assistant secretary, Miss Jennie Badger.

Table committee: Mrs. Christie, Miss Helen Badger, Mrs. Cora Hartzell, Mrs. Howard Badger, Mrs. Carrie Croll and Mrs. Dodds; sports: Ford McKissock, Mrs. Clyde Allen, S. B. Badger.

The youngest person present was Dale Samuel Bartley, and the oldest, Mrs. Mary Baker.

Sports were in charge of Miss Margaret Badger and S. B. Badger, with games and contests for both young and old. The remainder of the day was spent visiting and having an informal good time.

Honors Sister

Miss Trinie Ross, of South Jefferson street, entertained about 75 guests in her home Thursday night, at a shower in honor of her sister Nancy, a bride elect of September.

The hours were whiled away playing games, dancing and discussing numerous topics of interest. The honored guest received many lovely gifts. During the course of the evening, a delicious luncheon was served. Guests were present from Ellwood City, Wampum, Hillsville and Greenville. Miss Ross' fiance is Dykes Monsey, golf pro at the New Castle Field Club.

Enjoy Corn Roast

Rain and wet roads prevented the Young Married Peoples Bible class of the Epworth M. E. church from holding an outdoor corn roast Thursday evening, but this deficiency was compensated by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Matthews holding the corn roast in the basement of their home on Butler road.

Roasting ears, hot dogs, pickles and cake made up the first line of defense on the bill of fare with Mr. and Mrs. Matthews and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kerr preparing and serving the meal.

Following the meal, games of various sort were in progress for the rest of the evening.

ROBERTS REUNION AT LIBERTY GRANGE HALL

One of the most enjoyable reunions ever held by the Roberts family took place at Liberty Grange hall on Thursday.

After a delicious picnic dinner, the time was spent in games and visiting. At the business meeting, Robert Stoner was re-elected president of the association; Mrs. G. W. Atkinson, secretary, and Mrs. Gladys Wallace, treasurer. Mrs. Wallace replaces Mrs. Mary Roberts, who has served as treasurer very efficiently for twelve years.

Committees appointed are as follows: Table, Mrs. Walter McClelland, Mrs. S. C. Leonard, Mrs. Rodgers and Mrs. Clair Brown. Athletics, Joseph Stoner, Ralph Leonard, Mary Brown and Doris Leonard. Program, Elmer Brown, Angie Atkinson.

Professor J. H. Stoner, Mrs. Stoner and their sons, Edgar and Ardis of Los Angeles, Cal., were the only guests from out of town. They invited the association to their home for the next reunion. The invitation was declined because of the difficulty of transporation.

The invitation of Clifford Roberts to his home on the Moravia road was accepted and the reunion will take place there, the third Thursday in August next year.

The oldest guest present was Mrs. Susan Sickafuse, aged 84. The youngest present was Billy Thomas Richards.

Brisco Club

Members of the Brisco Club were delightfully entertained in the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Carvella, of Garfield avenue, on Thursday evening. Cards proved the chief diversion. At an appropriate time, the hostess served delicious refreshments.

BADGER REUNION AT ETNA SPRINGS PARK

Etna Springs Park, along the Slippery Rock was the mecca Thursday for 150 members of the Badger family who gathered for the twenty-sixth annual reunion.

Following a bountiful dinner, a program was given. H. V. Eakin, assisted by Mrs. Clyde Allen with her guitar, led the singing of many old time songs. Mrs. Allen and her daughter Dorothy, rendered a duet. Readings were given by Mrs. Mary Stoughton and Mrs. David Badger.

The business meeting was in charge of the president, Lawrence Wilson. Named were these officers for the ensuing year: President, Frank Morrison; vice president, Loy Badger; secretary-treasurer, Charles Bortmas; assistant secretary, Miss Jennie Badger.

Table committee: Mrs. Christie. Miss Helen Badger, Mrs. Cora Hartzell, Mrs. Howard Badger, Mrs. Carrie Croll and Mrs. Dodds; sports: Ford McKissock, Mrs. Clyde Allen, S. B. Badger.

The youngest person present was Dale Samuel Bartley, and the oldest, Mrs. Mary Baker.

Sports were in charge of Miss Margaret Badger and S. B. Badger, with games and contests for both young and old. The remainder of the day was spent visiting and having an informal good time.

Honors Sister

Miss Trinie Ross, of South Jefferson street, entertained about 75 guests in her home Thursday night, at a shower in honor of her sister Nancy, a bride elect of September.

The hours were whiled away playing games, dancing and discussing numerous topics of interest. The honored guest received many lovely gifts. During the course of the evening, a delicious luncheon was served. Guests were present from Ellwood City, Wampum, Hillsville and Greenville. Miss Ross' fiance is Dykes Monsey, golf pro at the New Castle Field Club.

Enjoy Corn Roast

Rain and wet roads prevented the Young Married Peoples Bible class of the Epworth M. E. church from holding an outdoor corn roast Thursday evening, but this deficiency was compensated by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Matthews holding the corn roast in the basement of their home on Butler road.

Roasting ears, hot dogs, pickles and cake made up the first line of defense on the bill of fare with Mr. and Mrs. Matthews and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kerr preparing and serving the meal.

Following the meal, games of various sort were in progress for the rest of the evening.

Sicilian Club

Miss Viola Fiala, of Winslow avenue, proved a charming hostess on Thursday evening, when she received the members of the Sicilians Girls Club. Following a brief business session, Miss Nancy Ross, a bride elect of September was presented with a lovely gift by the members of the organization.

At an appropriate time, the hostess served appetizing refreshments. Miss Josephine Gennaula, of Emerson avenue, will entertain the club in her home next Tuesday night at 8:00 o'clock.

Corn-Wiener Roast.

A corn and wiener roast was an enjoyable event for some 70 people Thursday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Byler at the Harbor.

Guests were members of the M. K. class of the People's Mission and the men and following the usual transaction of routine business, various games were played. Prizes were won by Mrs. Williams, Mrs. Watt and Mr. Johnson.

The next meeting will be at the home of Mrs. Conzett on Bell avenue.

Married In New Castle

Justice of the Peace H. M. Reynolds performed the ring ceremony which united in marriage two out of town couples Wednesday.

In the afternoon Ilene M. Perry became the bride of Richard Melvin Francis Morey, both young people being from Farmington, Mass. They were accompanied by their mothers.

Wednesday evening, Ila Mae Yerlam and Charles J. Williams, Jr., both of Beaver Falls, were wed. The mother and aunt of the groom were with them.

Enjoyable Occasion

One of the enjoyable occasions of the week, interesting about twenty-five or thirty people, was the corn and wiener roast held Thursday evening at the home of Mrs. James Gilliland on Conkle avenue, for the Ki Nu club and friends.

In a drawing contest, prizes fell to Mrs. William E. Logan and L. O. Nicholson.

On September 20, the club will be guests of Mrs. C. B. Schooley, 312 Park avenue.

At McCormick Home.

At the home of Mrs. P. T. McCormick on Young street Thursday evening, associates in the New Deal club spent a pleasant evening playing 500 and bingo.

Mrs. Hugh Daly and Mrs. H. Bartholomew won the prizes at cards and Mrs. J. Rogan and Mrs. Katherine Fee at bingo. Dainty refreshments were served.

Next Thursday evening the club will have a dinner at Cascade park in honor of the birthdays of two members.

Birthday Party

A happy group of young children celebrated the fourth birthday of Charles Fair, Jr. Thursday afternoon from 2:30 to 5.

After a period of play, the children were served luncheon at the dining room table which was adorned with a large birthday cake. Aides were Dorothy Fair, Rose Cast, Marie Fair, Jeanette and Lillian Peluso.

To Conclude Visit

Mrs. J. M. Edwards and daughter Sara, of East Garfield avenue, will return the first of next week from a five weeks' visit with the former's brother, J. R. Gill who resides near Wolf Creek, Montana.

Saturday.

Field club dance.

BIRTHS

(Announcements to appear in this column must be signed with name and address of writer, and also give name of doctor.)

Mr. and Mrs. Donald W. Banks, of Sheridan avenue, announce the birth of a son in the Jameson Memorial hospital, August 16.

Mr. and Mrs. David Tesone, of Cascade street, announce the arrival of a son in the New Castle hospital.

W. C. T. U. and L. T. L.

EAST SIDE UNION

Thirty members of the East Side W. C. T. U. and Y. P. B. gathered for breakfast at Cascade Park, Tuesday morning and after the early morning appetites had been appeased a business session was called, with Mrs. Letha Craig in charge. Mrs. Edith Wiles and Mrs. Carrie McClain were hostesses.

An election resulted in Mrs. Anna Kildoo being named president; Mrs. Margaret Moore, vice; Mrs. Bernard Hook, secretary; Mrs. Edith Wiles, assistant; Mrs. U. S. Choens, treasurer.

Plans were discussed for a luncheon September 11 at the home of Mrs. Anna Kildoo, Maryland avenue, with Mrs. M. R. Bates and Mrs. John Ulrich in charge of arrangements.

Y. M. P. Class Meets

Another interesting meeting held the attention of the Y. M. P. class of the Church of the Nazarene, taught by the Rev. C. F. Whetsell, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tobe Mackey, Harbor street.

David Wheale was in charge of the prayer which opened the session. Victor Connerly presided and committees were appointed.

Later the group assembled on the porch where entertainment was presented by Ruth and Mildred Johanson, Virgil Kelley and Leonard Sanberg.

Refreshments were selved by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Sara McCune, Mrs. Roxie Hylton, Mrs. Mertie Connerly, Mrs. Julia Smolnick and Mrs. Alma Heckathorn.

Workman Killed When Caught In Elevator Shaft

(International News Service)

HUNTINGDON, Pa., Aug. 17.—Accidental death was listed today in the case of Clyde Mark, 30, who was killed instantly in the storage building of the Reeves-Parvin Company when he was caught between the elevator and floor.

The motor of the elevator kept on running after the accident, sending out sparks which caused workmen to summon fire apparatus. Firemen extricated Mark's lifeless body. Coroner J. M. Keichling, after viewing the body, decided not to hold an inquest.

Funeral services were to be held this afternoon.

TWO CHARGES MADE AGAINST MACIONE

County Detective A. Sharp Leslie made two informations before Alderman L. C. Mantz this forenoon against August Mancione, who is alleged to have been working a "racket" on undertakers in this city, Ellwood, Wampum and other places. In one information Macione is charged with larceny by trick, and in the other with obtaining money by false pretense.

Methodist Day To Draw Throng

Buhl Park In Sharon Is Expected To Attract Many For Methodist Picnic

GOOD PROGRAM FOR DAY ASSURED

On August 21st all roads will lead to Buhl park, for the Methodists of the Grove City district. On that date occurs the annual Methodist Day. Preachers and people from the 105 churches of the district will gather for the annual outing and picnic. Sports will be the center of attraction for the afternoon and in the evening an open air meeting will be held.

A large orchestra is being organized under the direction of W. C. Starlin of Sharon, and a program of music and congregational singing will precede the address of the day.

The Sharon pastors, Rev. H. B. Davis, Rev. P. A. Galbreath, Rev. A. L. Pardee and Rev. Edgar Doverspike, are making plans and organizing committees to care for the large crowd that will be present.

A special feature of the day will be pony rides for the kiddies. This will be in charge of Attorney Leo H. McKay of Sharon.

The Methodist Brotherhoods are planning to make this a banner Methodist Day. The president of the sub-district Brotherhood is Fred J. Brenner of Sharon and his helpers are the presidents of the local brotherhoods—W. H. Elder, Sharpsville; F. V. Ferguson, Farrell; Robert Johnson, Oakland, and H. S. Smith of First church.

Mrs. Gelvin and Miss Mary Katherine Davis of Sharon will have charge of the games for children and suitable prizes will be provided for the various games.

James McCormick of Greenville, who managed the aquatic sports so successfully last year, will have charge of the water events again this year.

Yet once in a long while you find a prosperous family in which the children occasionally do without something they want.

Plan Convention For Plaingrove

Sunday School Workers To Meet At U. P. Church On August 23

An interesting program has been prepared for the Plaingrove District convention which is to be held at the Plaingrove United Presbyterian church, Thursday, August 23, afternoon and evening sessions.

The evening session, which starts at 8 o'clock, will be featured by an inspirational address by Rev. C. H. Heaton, pastor of the First Baptist church of New Castle, and a devotional drama to be given by the Young People of the Highland United Presbyterian church of New Castle. These same young people gave a like drama for the Wilmington District convention a few weeks ago which was unusually well received and appreciated.

The afternoon session will start with registration at 1:45 with the president, W. J. Eakin, presiding, and Miss Mary Sankey as song leader. The theme of the convention is "The Missionary Spirit" and the motto, "Go——, and Lo——."

The opening devotionals will be in charge of Leora McCommons and the theme "How can the Missionary Spirit be instilled in the Sabbath School as a whole," will be be discussed by Rev. Hammond; in the teacher, by Rev. Houk, and in the pupil, by Rev. Bell.

After special music the address of the afternoon will be delivered by Rev. Fulton.

Following business session the county officers will present their phases of the various departments of Sabbath School work.

The officers for the district elected at the afternoon session will be installed by the county president, Robert M. Strickler, Jr., at the evening session.

Buhl Park In Sharon Is Expected To Attract Many For Methodist Picnic

GOOD PROGRAM FOR DAY ASSURED

On August 21st all roads will lead to Buhl park, for the Methodists of the Grove City district. On that date occurs the annual Methodist Day. Preachers and people from the 105 churches of the district will gather for the annual outing and picnic. Sports will be the center of attraction for the afternoon and in the evening an open air meeting will be held.

A large orchestra is being organized under the direction of W. C. Starlin of Sharon, and a program of music and congregational singing will precede the address of the day.

The Sharon pastors, Rev. H. B. Davis, Rev. P. A. Galbreath, Rev. A. L. Pardee and Rev. Edgar Doverspike, are making plans and organizing committees to care for the large crowd that will be present.

A special feature of the day will be pony rides for the kiddies. This will be in charge of Attorney Leo H. McKay of Sharon.

The Methodist Brotherhoods are planning to make this a banner Methodist Day. The president of the sub-district Brotherhood is Fred J. Brenner of Sharon and his helpers are the presidents of the local brotherhoods—W. H. Elder, Sharpsville; F. V. Ferguson, Farrell; Robert Johnson, Oakland, and H. S. Smith of First church.

Mrs. Gelvin and Miss Mary Katherine Davis of Sharon will have charge of the games for children and suitable prizes will be provided for the various games.

James McCormick of Greenville, who managed the aquatic sports so successfully last year, will have charge of the water events again this year.

"Pitiless Publicity" For Those Found Guilty Of Profiteering In Food

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—"Pitiless publicity" temporarily will be the chief weapon of the government in combating food profiteering Secretary of Agriculture Wallace disclosed today.

With prices of many foods already rising, Wallace said the full resources of the department of agriculture will be used to give consumers information on justifiable price increases. He said the price of bread was forced down last year by this method.

The department at present is adopting a "watchful waiting" attitude toward the grain exchanges but it prepared to use its authority as far as possible to check undue speculation.

Again assuring the country that it has an adequate food supply despite the worst drought in modern times Wallace said there would be a shortage of some foods.

Shift Of Diet

A shift in the ordinary American diet may be necessary for consumers to avoid unusual living costs.

The country has a good supply of grain products, fluid milk and cream, citrus fruits, vegetables excepting potatoes and a few others, and sugar. Consumers may be urged to increase use of these foods.

A 90 to 85 percent average supply of beef, veal, lamb and mutton, will exceed the usual demand in the next few months, and the slaughter thereafter will be short by perhaps 15 to 20 percent," said a department statement.

Man Is Slain In Mountains

(International News Service)

CONNELLSVILLE, Aug. 17.—Reports that a man had been shot to death in the mountains at Kingan Hills, eight miles north of Dunbar, near here, were being investigated by state police and the coroner's office this afternoon.

Meagre reports reaching a local undertaker identified the man tentatively as George Wilgus, 48, Dunbar.

He had been slain by a shot gun charge, the report said.

Amos Denounces Self-Indulgence

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Amos 5:14—"Seek God, and not evil, that ye may live."

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for August 19 is Amos 6:1-7, 11-14, the Golden Text being Amos 5:14, "Seek good, and not evil, that ye may live.")

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

"Ill fares the land, to hasting ills a prey, where wealth accumulates and men decay." This represents the decadent condition against which Amos pronounced his "Woes" upon the prosperous inhabitants of Samaria and the northern kingdom of Israel in the days of Jeroboam II. It was the post-war prosperity that followed their conquest of Moab, Gilead and Syria. Like some of us, they could not stand prosperity. Instead of its enriching their national life, it led to dissipation, enervation and dissolution.

"At Ease in Zion"

Though Amos was from the southern kingdom of Judah, he was no blind patriot who could not see the sins of his own nation. For his first lament was over the spiritual indifference of his own people: "Woe to them that are at ease in Zion!" His own people had assumed an "I should worry" attitude toward the threatening ills to which generation after generation of prophets had warned them. They had lost the power of being appealed to either by love or fear. Beginning thus with the faults of his own home folk, Amos passed on consistently to mete out condemnation against the same ills of their northern neighbors in Samaria and Israel: "Woe . . . to them that are secure in the mountain of Samaria, the notable men of the chief of the nations, to whom the house of Israel come!" Amos was not afraid to direct his withering denunciations against the upper crust, the notables and chiefs who set the pace and created the styles for the lower classes to ape.

The Peril of Luxury

The peril of making appetite the master instead of the servant in the house is indicated in Amos' denunciation of those "that lie upon beds of ivory, and stretch themselves upon their couches, and eat the lambs out of the flock, and the calves out of the midst of the stall . . . That drink wine in bowls, and anoint themselves with the chief oils; but they are not grieved for the affliction of Joseph." What unworthy descendants of Joseph these people were! They gave full rein to the lusts of the flesh. Moderation, temperance, self-control had no part or place in their lives. With them the sky was the limit.

The Peril of Intemperance

But that was the age of the slow going ox cart. Ours is the age of the high powered automobile. If intemperance had its perils then, how have modern conditions multiplied those perils for our day and generation! If judgment fell in severity upon a people for its abuse of God's gifts and its prostitution of life to self-indulgence in that dim distant past, how shall we escape in this day of fuller light and richer privilege? Have we not often "turned justice into gall, and the fruit of righteousness into wormwood"? If captivity fell upon Israel as predicted for its intemperance, have we forgotten that, "Though the mills of God grind slowly, yet they grind exceeding small; though with patience stands He waiting, with exactness grinds He all"? That grinding of divine judgment came for Israel and Samaria within 70 years of Amos' day in the Assyrian captivity predicted by him, and recorded vividly in history in II Kings, chapter 17. "Judge of the nations, spare us yet, lest we forget—lest we forget!"

GRANDPA GRUBER HIMSELF INSISTS IT'S NOT A CASE OF SECOND CHILDHOOD!

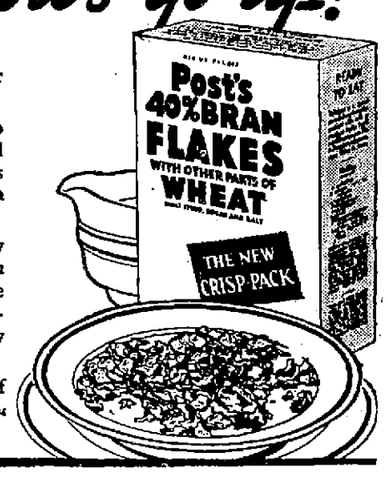

Even our eyebrows go up!

SO we can't blame you for being skeptical over Grandpa's amazing rejuvenation!

Seriously though, there is a point we'd like you to consider: If you're feeling sort of worn-out and "no-account"... just not quite up to snuff... perhaps you have a sluggish intestine, due to lack of bulk in your diet.

So why don't you eat Post's 40% Bran Flakes every morning? It contains bran to supply the bulk you need, to help keep food wastes moving along the intestinal tract... and to promote regular elimination. It also contains other parts of wheat, to supply that appetizing flavor. You'll love it!

Two More Deaths, Making 4 Killed By Drunken Driver

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Aug. 17.—Two more deaths have occurred as a result of Floyd Crossley, an alleged drunken driver, running into a group of children. The total dead are:

Nancy Ann Lindsay, three; Lois Lindsay, eight; Bernice Uber, five; Dolores Uber, six. Lillian Uber, nine, saved herself by jumping into a ditch as Crossley's car bore down upon them from behind.

Crossley has been charged with manslaughter. He is said to have admitted he had been drinking.

USE IF FOUND FOR BIRTH CERTIFICATE

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 17.—Proof of age must be produced by all children 16 and 17 years old who desire placement with the Pennsylvania state employment service so as to avoid the possibility of running afoul of the child labor policy of the NRA.

Miss Charlotte E. Carr, secretary of labor and industry, has directed supervisors of the district offices of the service to demand birth certificates if the information from the school authorities is not available.

HOLDS OLD DEED TO PATERNAL ACRES

(International News Service)

SLIPPERY ROCK, Pa., Aug. 17.—Ora B. Covert, near Slippery Rock, has the original deed of the farm on which he lives, issued to his great-grandfather, Caleb Ball, 125 years ago, in recognition of his services as a soldier in the Revolutionary War. The deed is for 200 acres of land, which has remained in one family since conveyed by the North American company for a consideration of two dollars. The deed is written on sheepskin, and all the signatures are plainly legible.

WORK IS ASSURED BY COAL PURCHASE

Man Is Slain In Mountains

(International News Service)

CONNELLSVILLE, Aug. 17.—Reports that a man had been shot to death in the mountains at Kingan Hills, eight miles north of Dunbar, near here, were being investigated by state police and the coroner's office this afternoon.

Meagre reports reaching a local undertaker identified the man tentatively as George Wilgus, 48, Dunbar.

He had been slain by a shot gun charge, the report said.

Amos Denounces Self - Indulgence

"Brass Tacks" On The Sunday School Lesson

The Golden Text

Amos 5:14—"Seek God, and not evil, that ye may live."

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for August 19 is Amos 6:1-7, 11-14, the Golden Text being Amos 5:14, "Seek good, and not evil, that ye may live.")

By DR. ALVIN E. BELL

"Ill fares the land, to hasting ills a prey, where wealth accumulates and men decay." This represents the decadent condition against which Amos pronounced his "Woes" upon the prosperous inhabitants of Samaria and the northern kingdom of Israel in the days of Jeroboam II. It was the post-war prosperity that followed their conquest of Moab, Gilead and Syria. Like some of us, they could not stand prosperity. Instead of its enriching their national life, it led to dissipation, enervation and dissolution.

"At Ease in Zion"

Though Amos was from the southern kingdom of Judah, he was no blind patriot who could not see the sins of his own nation. For his first lament was over the spiritual indifference of his own people: "Woe to them that are at ease in Zion!" His own people had assumed an "I should worry" attitude toward the threatening ills to which generation after generation of prophets had warned them. They had lost the power of being appealed to either by love or fear. Beginning thus with the faults of his own home folk, Amos passed on consistently to mete out condemnation against the same ills of their northern neighbors in Samaria and Israel: "Woe . . . to them that are secure in the mountain of Samaria, the notable men of the chief of the nations, to whom the house of Israel come!" Amos was not afraid to direct his withering denunciations against the upper crust, the notables and chiefs who set the pace and created the styles for the lower classes to ape.

The Peril of Luxury

The peril of making appetite the master instead of the servant in the house is indicated in Amos' denunciation of those "that lie upon beds of ivory, and stretch themselves upon their couches, and eat the lambs out of the flock, and the calves out of the midst of the stall . . . That drink wine in bowls, and anoint themselves with the chief oils; but they are not grieved for the affliction of Joseph." What unworthy descendants of Joseph these people were! They gave full rein to the lusts of the flesh. Moderation, temperance, self-control had no part or place in their lives. With them the sky was the limit.

The Peril of Intemperance

But that was the age of the slow going ox cart. Ours is the age of the high powered automobile. If intemperance had its perils then, how have modern conditions multiplied those perils for our day and generation! If judgment fell in severity upon a people for its abuse of God's gifts and its prostitution of life to self-indulgence in that dim distant past, how shall we escape in this day of fuller light and richer privilege? Have we not often "turned justice into gall, and the fruit of righteousness into wormwood"? If captivity fell upon Israel as predicted for its intemperance, have we forgotten that, "Though the mills of God grind slowly, yet they grind exceeding small; though with patience stands He waiting, with exactness grinds He all"? That grinding of divine judgment came for Israel and Samaria within 70 years of Amos' day in the Assyrian captivity predicted by him, and recorded vividly in history in II Kings, chapter 17. "Judge of the nations, spare us yet, lest we forget—lest we forget!"

Publicity Light Will Be Turned On Profiteering

"Pitiless Publicity" For Those Found Guilty Of Profiteering In Food

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—"Pitiless publicity" temporarily will be the chief weapon of the government in combating food profiteering Secretary of Agriculture Wallace disclosed today.

With prices of many foods already rising, Wallace said the full resources of the department of agriculture will be used to give consumers information on justifiable price increases. He said the price of bread was forced down last year by this method.

The department at present is adopting a "watchful waiting" attitude toward the grain exchanges but it prepared to use its authority as far as possible to check undue speculation.

Again assuring the country that it has an adequate food supply despite the worst drought in modern times Wallace said there would be a shortage of some foods.

Shift Of Diet

A shift in the ordinary American diet may be necessary for consumers to avoid unusual living costs.

The country has a good supply of grain products, fluid milk and cream, citrus fruits, vegetables excepting potatoes and a few others, and sugar. Consumers may be urged to increase use of these foods.

A 90 to 85 percent average supply of beef, veal, lamb and mutton, will exceed the usual demand in the next few months, and the slaughter thereafter will be short by perhaps 15 to 20 percent," said a department statement.

E. Lackawannock

During the heavy thunder storm last Wednesday night, D. L. Heckathorne, had his best horse killed by lightning.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hopwood, of New Castle, visited at the home of Mrs. Nellie Foltz and family on Sabbath evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Hilkirk, attended the annual Hilkirk reunion at the home of Mrs. Burnside, at New Castle on Saturday.

Miss Mary Yarian who underwent a tonsil operation at the Mercer hospital last Thursday, was able to return to her home on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Hechathorne, attended the funeral of her sister, Mrs. Lemuel McQuiston on the New Castle road on Monday afternoon.

Mrs. Harold Matthews and Mrs. Patton, of New Castle, were guests at the home of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Pyle, on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Bowen, son Clyde and Don Anderson, were Sabbath afternoon visitors at the home of the formers cousins, Mr. and Mrs. John Bowen, in Deer Creek.

The King's Daughters and their husbands of Unity Presbyterian church, were entertained at a wiener roast at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Osborne, Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Hamilton, Elizabeth and Lois and Mr. Scanlon, and Mrs. Brown, were Sabbath evening visitors at the home of the former's daughter, Mrs. Clarence Humphrey.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Humphrey, left on Saturday for Hopewell, Virginia, where they will visit at the home of their son, Thurman and family. They will also visit Washington, D. C., and other places of interest.

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Hoagland and Paul, were dinner guests and spent the afternoon at the home of J. C. and William Rust, and family on Sunday. Miss Eleanor Hoagland, who had been visiting at the Rust home accompanied her parents home.

Mrs. James Osborne, was a very pleasing hostess, when she entertained the Social Hour club at her home on Thursday. Guests of the club were Mrs. Ella Bell, Lois Bell, Mrs. Simple, Mrs. George Hoagland, daughters Helen and Evelyn, Mrs. William Osborne, Zadia Garner, and Mrs. Belle Hawthorne, as honor guest. A delicious tureen dinner was served at noon. Mrs. Mary Fair, will entertain the club at her home on Thursday, September 6.

SALES SUCCESS DEMANDS ATTENTION TO DETAILS

There are three major factors that enter into the success of selling products: namely, salesmanship, quality, and attractive appearance or display.

A pleasant personality, the ability to meet people, and the simple rules of salesmanship help in a large way to sell merchandise of any kind.

Quality has always been regarded as very important. Products should be young, tender and fresh. Quality does not mean the same thing in all products, however, and the salesman should know what constitutes good quality in different products.

Attractive appearance holds good for both the salesman and the product sold. Cover the stand with clean paper or other material, arrange the products so as to attract attention of others, and grade products carefully according to size, shape and color. Your personal appearance, products, and exhibit table should be attractive. A few suggestions in regard to vegetable products might be in order.

Sweet corn loses one-third of its sugar in 24 hours under warm conditions. Never pull corn in the heat of the day when the ears are warm and place them in baskets, bags, or piles. Pull corn when the ears are cool and spread them out on a cool floor or on the grass under a tree. Corn is best in quality as soon as the grains are filled out well; it is then in the milk stage.

All bunched crops, such as beets, carrots, radishes, onions and others should be carefully graded according to size, shape and color. Uniformity is regarded as very important. They should be carefully washed and displayed so that the bright colors in these crops attract attention. These crops are highest in quality when they grow rapidly and are marketed while young and tender.

Peas contain the most sugar when the seed has reached full size but do not allow them to become hard or the pods turn a light color. Peas are like sweet corn in that they lose sugar if kept in a warm temperature after picking.

String beans should be full size, stringless, brittle with seeds immature. Try to pick or grade peas and beans so that all pods will be about the same age, otherwise they will cook unevenly.

Cabbage and lettuce are usually sold by the pound or head. They should be solid, crisp and sweet.

Cucumbers are sold as pickles and slicers. Grading is important and is usually done according to size. Pickles from one to three inches long are popular for sweet pickles, from three to five inches long for sour or dill pickles and over five inches for slicing. Slicing cucumbers should be graded according to size, color and age. The color should be dark green, not white at the tips, and the seed should be immature or very small.

Lima beans may be sold by weight or measure, either in the pods or shelled. Try to have them the same age; do not mix green ones with the older white ones. They should be large in size and green in color. If shelled, keep them cool. They turn color easily and quickly after shelling, especially if they are bruised.

Tomatoes may be graded into three grades: 1—large smooth fruit uniform in size. 2—seconds which are a little rough and variable in size. 3—culls which should be left at home.

DAIRY SIRE'S RELATIVES DECIDE HIS USEFULNESS

In the selection of a young dairy sire much emphasis has been placed upon the production records of his dam and other dams in the pedigree. Too often such selections have fallen short of expectations.

It is important, therefore, to know what basis of selecting a young bull from pedigree will give greater assurance that his daughters will be capable of high production. Recent investigations indicate that the records of half sisters, both maternal and paternal, are of greater value in predicting the producing ability of a young bull's future daughters than is the record of his own dam. The records of the dam's half sisters are as important as her own record.

Since the young sire receives his genetic factors equally from his sire and dam, more interest should be given to locating foundation cows capable of transmitting factors for high production to her daughters.

Finally, in selecting a young herd sire, he should be sired by a proved bull whose daughters are uniformly high producers and superior to their dams. Attention should be given not only to the dam's record but also to the records of her sisters and her daughters. Selection of young bulls on this basis will prove more successful than the usual method of placing undue emphasis on the record of the dam.

FUMIGATE GRAIN BINS TO CONTROL WEEVILS

Farmers who are having trouble with grain weevils can get relief by fumigating their grain bins. These weevils include a number of grain or flour feeding insects which work on the grain in storage. Extremely hot weather has increased the development of these insects and, as a result, a larger amount of damage has occurred earlier in the season than usual.

In controlling weevils the barns should be kept clean of scattered grains and the bins then fumigated with carbon bisulphide. The chemical is used at the rate of 3 pounds to 100 bushels of grain. If the granary is large and there is any considerable space not filled with bins or some bins are empty, 5 pounds of carbon bisulphide to 1,000 cubic feet of air space should be added.

Shallow tins containing the material are placed on top of the grain. These are distributed at different points so that the gas from the chemical will go down from the surface into the grain. The carbon bisulphide gas is heavier than air and will sink completely through the grain. Since carbon bisulphide is very explosive, it should be handled carefully and all open lights should be kept away from it. The granary should be kept closed for at least 36 hours after which it may be aired out.

Douglas Fairbanks Will Not Return To Face Suit Charges

Lady Sylvia Ashley Will Also Be Missing When Suit Is Called

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Mayfair was chuckling today over the admission of Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., that he does not intend to return to England for trial of Lord Ashley's divorce suit, in which he named the American screen star corespondent.

Fairbanks admitted this bluntly upon arriving in New York yesterday, bearing out an exclusive International News Service dispatch of July 20.

Lady Sylvia Ashley, a frequent companion of Fairbanks', also will be going to Hollywood, soon, her friends insisted, and she too will be "conveniently absent" when Lord Ashley's suit is called for trial in October.

SALES SUCCESS DEMANDS ATTENTION TO DETAILS

There are three major factors that enter into the success of selling products: namely, salesmanship, quality, and attractive appearance or display.

A pleasant personality, the ability to meet people, and the simple rules of salesmanship help in a large way to sell merchandise of any kind.

Quality has always been regarded as very important. Products should be young, tender and fresh. Quality does not mean the same thing in all products, however, and the salesman should know what constitutes good quality in different products.

Attractive appearance holds good for both the salesman and the product sold. Cover the stand with clean paper or other material, arrange the products so as to attract attention of others, and grade products carefully according to size, shape and color. Your personal appearance, products, and exhibit table should be attractive. A few suggestions in regard to vegetable products might be in order.

Sweet corn loses one-third of its sugar in 24 hours under warm conditions. Never pull corn in the heat of the day when the ears are warm and place them in baskets, bags, or piles. Pull corn when the ears are cool and spread them out on a cool floor or on the grass under a tree. Corn is best in quality as soon as the grains are filled out well; it is then in the milk stage.

All bunched crops, such as beets, carrots, radishes, onions and others should be carefully graded according to size, shape and color. Uniformity is regarded as very important. They should be carefully washed and displayed so that the bright colors in these crops attract attention. These crops are highest in quality when they grow rapidly and are marketed while young and tender.

Peas contain the most sugar when the seed has reached full size but do not allow them to become hard or the pods turn a light color. Peas are like sweet corn in that they lose sugar if kept in a warm temperature after picking.

String beans should be full size, stringless, brittle with seeds immature. Try to pick or grade peas and beans so that all pods will be about the same age, otherwise they will cook unevenly.

Cabbage and lettuce are usually sold by the pound or head. They should be solid, crisp and sweet.

Cucumbers are sold as pickles and slicers. Grading is important and is usually done according to size. Pickles from one to three inches long are popular for sweet pickles, from three to five inches long for sour or dill pickles and over five inches for slicing. Slicing cucumbers should be graded according to size, color and age. The color should be dark green, not white at the tips, and the seed should be immature or very small.

Lima beans may be sold by weight or measure, either in the pods or shelled. Try to have them the same age; do not mix green ones with the older white ones. They should be large in size and green in color. If shelled, keep them cool. They turn color easily and quickly after shelling, especially if they are bruised.

Tomatoes may be graded into three grades: 1—large smooth fruit uniform in size. 2—seconds which are a little rough and variable in size. 3—culls which should be left at home.

DAIRY SIRE'S RELATIVES DECIDE HIS USEFULNESS

In the selection of a young dairy sire much emphasis has been placed upon the production records of his dam and other dams in the pedigree. Too often such selections have fallen short of expectations.

It is important, therefore, to know what basis of selecting a young bull from pedigree will give greater assurance that his daughters will be capable of high production. Recent investigations indicate that the records of half sisters, both maternal and paternal, are of greater value in predicting the producing ability of a young bull's future daughters than is the record of his own dam. The records of the dam's half sisters are as important as her own record.

Since the young sire receives his genetic factors equally from his sire and dam, more interest should be given to locating foundation cows capable of transmitting factors for high production to her daughters.

Finally, in selecting a young herd sire, he should be sired by a proved bull whose daughters are uniformly high producers and superior to their dams. Attention should be given not only to the dam's record but also to the records of her sisters and her daughters. Selection of young bulls on this basis will prove more successful than the usual method of placing undue emphasis on the record of the dam.

FUMIGATE GRAIN BINS TO CONTROL WEEVILS

Farmers who are having trouble with grain weevils can get relief by fumigating their grain bins. These weevils include a number of grain or flour feeding insects which work on the grain in storage. Extremely hot weather has increased the development of these insects and, as a result, a larger amount of damage has occurred earlier in the season than usual.

In controlling weevils the barns should be kept clean of scattered grains and the bins then fumigated with carbon bisulphide. The chemical is used at the rate of 3 pounds to 100 bushels of grain. If the granary is large and there is any considerable space not filled with bins or some bins are empty, 5 pounds of carbon bisulphide to 1,000 cubic feet of air space should be added.

Shallow tins containing the material are placed on top of the grain. These are distributed at different points so that the gas from the chemical will go down from the surface into the grain. The carbon bisulphide gas is heavier than air and will sink completely through the grain. Since carbon bisulphide is very explosive, it should be handled carefully and all open lights should be kept away from it. The granary should be kept closed for at least 36 hours after which it may be aired out.

SALES SUCCESS DEMANDS ATTENTION TO DETAILS

There are three major factors that enter into the success of selling products: namely, salesmanship, quality, and attractive appearance or display.

A pleasant personality, the ability to meet people, and the simple rules of salesmanship help in a large way to sell merchandise of any kind.

Quality has always been regarded as very important. Products should be young, tender and fresh. Quality does not mean the same thing in all products, however, and the salesman should know what constitutes good quality in different products.

Attractive appearance holds good for both the salesman and the product sold. Cover the stand with clean paper or other material, arrange the products so as to attract attention of others, and grade products carefully according to size, shape and color. Your personal appearance, products, and exhibit table should be attractive. A few suggestions in regard to vegetable products might be in order.

Sweet corn loses one-third of its sugar in 24 hours under warm conditions. Never pull corn in the heat of the day when the ears are warm and place them in baskets, bags, or piles. Pull corn when the ears are cool and spread them out on a cool floor or on the grass under a tree. Corn is best in quality as soon as the grains are filled out well; it is then in the milk stage.

All bunched crops, such as beets, carrots, radishes, onions and others should be carefully graded according to size, shape and color. Uniformity is regarded as very important. They should be carefully washed and displayed so that the bright colors in these crops attract attention. These crops are highest in quality when they grow rapidly and are marketed while young and tender.

Peas contain the most sugar when the seed has reached full size but do not allow them to become hard or the pods turn a light color. Peas are like sweet corn in that they lose sugar if kept in a warm temperature after picking.

String beans should be full size, stringless, brittle with seeds immature. Try to pick or grade peas and beans so that all pods will be about the same age, otherwise they will cook unevenly.

Cabbage and lettuce are usually sold by the pound or head. They should be solid, crisp and sweet.

Cucumbers are sold as pickles and slicers. Grading is important and is usually done according to size. Pickles from one to three inches long are popular for sweet pickles, from three to five inches long for sour or dill pickles and over five inches for slicing. Slicing cucumbers should be graded according to size, color and age. The color should be dark green, not white at the tips, and the seed should be immature or very small.

Lima beans may be sold by weight or measure, either in the pods or shelled. Try to have them the same age; do not mix green ones with the older white ones. They should be large in size and green in color. If shelled, keep them cool. They turn color easily and quickly after shelling, especially if they are bruised.

Tomatoes may be graded into three grades: 1—large smooth fruit uniform in size. 2—seconds which are a little rough and variable in size. 3—culls which should be left at home.

DAIRY SIRE'S RELATIVES DECIDE HIS USEFULNESS

In the selection of a young dairy sire much emphasis has been placed upon the production records of his dam and other dams in the pedigree. Too often such selections have fallen short of expectations.

It is important, therefore, to know what basis of selecting a young bull from pedigree will give greater assurance that his daughters will be capable of high production. Recent investigations indicate that the records of half sisters, both maternal and paternal, are of greater value in predicting the producing ability of a young bull's future daughters than is the record of his own dam. The records of the dam's half sisters are as important as her own record.

Since the young sire receives his genetic factors equally from his sire and dam, more interest should be given to locating foundation cows capable of transmitting factors for high production to her daughters.

Finally, in selecting a young herd sire, he should be sired by a proved bull whose daughters are uniformly high producers and superior to their dams. Attention should be given not only to the dam's record but also to the records of her sisters and her daughters. Selection of young bulls on this basis will prove more successful than the usual method of placing undue emphasis on the record of the dam.

FUMIGATE GRAIN BINS TO CONTROL WEEVILS

Farmers who are having trouble with grain weevils can get relief by fumigating their grain bins. These weevils include a number of grain or flour feeding insects which work on the grain in storage. Extremely hot weather has increased the development of these insects and, as a result, a larger amount of damage has occurred earlier in the season than usual.

In controlling weevils the barns should be kept clean of scattered grains and the bins then fumigated with carbon bisulphide. The chemical is used at the rate of 3 pounds to 100 bushels of grain. If the granary is large and there is any considerable space not filled with bins or some bins are empty, 5 pounds of carbon bisulphide to 1,000 cubic feet of air space should be added.

Shallow tins containing the material are placed on top of the grain. These are distributed at different points so that the gas from the chemical will go down from the surface into the grain. The carbon bisulphide gas is heavier than air and will sink completely through the grain. Since carbon bisulphide is very explosive, it should be handled carefully and all open lights should be kept away from it. The granary should be kept closed for at least 36 hours after which it may be aired out.

SALES SUCCESS DEMANDS ATTENTION TO DETAILS

There are three major factors that enter into the success of selling products: namely, salesmanship, quality, and attractive appearance or display.

A pleasant personality, the ability to meet people, and the simple rules of salesmanship help in a large way to sell merchandise of any kind.

Quality has always been regarded as very important. Products should be young, tender and fresh. Quality does not mean the same thing in all products, however, and the salesman should know what constitutes good quality in different products.

Attractive appearance holds good for both the salesman and the product sold. Cover the stand with clean paper or other material, arrange the products so as to attract attention of others, and grade products carefully according to size, shape and color. Your personal appearance, products, and exhibit table should be attractive. A few suggestions in regard to vegetable products might be in order.

Sweet corn loses one-third of its sugar in 24 hours under warm conditions. Never pull corn in the heat of the day when the ears are warm and place them in baskets, bags, or piles. Pull corn when the ears are cool and spread them out on a cool floor or on the grass under a tree. Corn is best in quality as soon as the grains are filled out well; it is then in the milk stage.

All bunched crops, such as beets, carrots, radishes, onions and others should be carefully graded according to size, shape and color. Uniformity is regarded as very important. These crops are highest in quality when they grow rapidly and are marketed while young and tender.

Peas contain the most sugar when the seed has reached full size but do not allow them to become hard or the pods turn a light color. Peas are like sweet corn in that they lose sugar if kept in a warm temperature after picking.

String beans should be full size, stringless, brittle with seeds immature. Try to pick or grade peas and beans so that all pods will be about the same age, otherwise they will cook unevenly.

Cabbage and lettuce are usually sold by the pound or head. They should be solid, crisp and sweet.

Cucumbers are sold as pickles and slicers. Grading is important and is usually done according to size. Pickles from one to three inches long are popular for sweet pickles, from three to five inches long for sour or dill pickles and over five inches for slicing. Slicing cucumbers should be graded according to size, color and age. The color should be dark green, not white at the tips, and the seed should be immature or very small.

Lima beans may be sold by weight or measure, either in the pods or shelled. Try to have them the same age; do not mix green ones with the older white ones. They should be large in size and green in color. If shelled, keep them cool. They turn color easily and quickly after shelling, especially if they are bruised.

Tomatoes may be graded into three grades: 1—large smooth fruit uniform in size. 2—seconds which are a little rough and variable in size. 3—culls which should be left at home.

DAIRY SIRE'S RELATIVES DECIDE HIS USEFULNESS

In the selection of a young dairy sire much emphasis has been placed upon the production records of his dam and other dams in the pedigree. Too often such selections have fallen short of expectations.

It is important, therefore, to know what basis of selecting a young bull from pedigree will give greater assurance that his daughters will be capable of high production. Recent investigations indicate that the records of half sisters, both maternal and paternal, are of greater value in predicting the producing ability of a young bull's future daughters than is the record of his own dam. The records of the dam's half sisters are as important as her own record.

Since the young sire receives his genetic factors equally from his sire and dam, more interest should be given to locating foundation cows capable of transmitting factors for high production to her daughters.

Finally, in selecting a young herd sire, he should be sired by a proved bull whose daughters are uniformly high producers and superior to their dams. Attention should be given not only to the dam's record but also to the records of her sisters and her daughters. Selection of young bulls on this basis will prove more successful than the usual method of placing undue emphasis on the record of the dam.

FUMIGATE GRAIN BINS TO CONTROL WEEVILS

Farmers who are having trouble with grain weevils can get relief by fumigating their grain bins. These weevils include a number of grain or flour feeding insects which work on the grain in storage. Extremely hot weather has increased the development of these insects and, as a result, a larger amount of damage has occurred earlier in the season than usual.

The carbon bisulphide gas is heavier than air and will sink completely through the grain. Since carbon bisulphide is very explosive, it should be handled carefully and all open lights should be kept away from it. The granary should be kept closed for at least 36 hours after which it may be aired out.

Douglas Fairbanks Will Not Return To Face Suit Charges

Lady Sylvia Ashley Will Also Be Missing When Suit Is Called

(International News Service)

LONDON, Aug. 17.—Mayfair was chuckling today over the admission of Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., that he does not intend to return to England for trial of Lord Ashley's divorce suit, in which he named the American screen star corespondent.

Fairbanks admitted this bluntly upon arriving in New York yesterday, bearing out an exclusive International News Service dispatch of July 20.

Lady Sylvia Ashley, a frequent companion of Fairbanks', also will be going to Hollywood, soon, her friends insisted, and she too will be "conveniently absent" when Lord Ashley's suit is called for trial in October.

Dog Crossing Road Causes Accident

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 17.—Just because a dog all of a sudden, decided to cross a road, a local man damaged his car and broke the shades of a light post on the west side of the Fifth street bridge.

W. K. Ramsey stated to local police that he was traveling north on the bridge when a car in front of him decided to pass a truck. He followed. But the car in front had to stop suddenly to avoid hitting a dog which started to cross the road from the curb. Ramsey in order to avoid hitting the car swerved his car to the left and struck a light post. His car received minor damages.

Our government now has the power to do almost anything, if rebellious little groups will let it.

Pennsylvania Industry Being Hit By "New Deal"

(International News Service)

EBENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 17.—Federal recovery measures, particularly the Tennessee Valley Watershed project, were characterized as suction pumps which will "bleed Pennsylvania's industries white," by State Treasurer Charles A. Waters here this afternoon.

Speaking before a Republican rally attended by G. O. P. partisans from 12 western counties, Waters quoted a T. V. A. director who said the development of cheap power on that project would attract industries from Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Detroit, and then declared:

"With the expenditure of public moneys reaching $600,000,000 or $700,000,000, a major slice of which would be contributed to the federal treasury by Pennsylvania, the T. V. A. aims to creaate a new industrial center and would, like a suction pump, draw the benches from under tens of thousands of Pennsylvania factory workers and render workless thousands of Pennsylvania miners."

Broadening his attack, Waters said the whole planned economy program of the federal government "challenges the integrity of Pennsylvania as it has never been challenged since it was a commonwealth."

"The New Deal," he added, "is not new at all. It is hoary with age and tottering with decay. It has come to us recently through Italy, Germany and Russia, but it has come to them from antiquity, through Sparta, through Dicletian and the Roman empire."

News Of Return.

First news of John Labatt's return to London was made by Claude C. Savage, press liason official, who telephoned newspaper men at a local hotel apprising them of the news.

Reporters rushed to the Hugh Labatt home. They were met by a policeman who prevented entrance.

"I am not speaking to anyone," was the word sent out by Hugh Labatt.

Shortly after 11 o'clock this morning, Hon. J. C. Elliott of the law firm of Ivey, Elliott and Gillanders, granted a press interview. He had no significant information to give out."

Elliott merely confirmed that John Labatt had been freed and was back in London; that he was greatly fatigued and under the care of a physician and that he was seeing no reporters. Elliott said he did not know whether the $150,000 ransom had been paid and that he knew none of the details of the kidnaping or of Labatt's release. Neither did he know where he had been freed.

Eyes Taped.

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 17.—John S. Labatt, wealthy London, Ont., brewer, was blindfolded with strips of tape during the entire period of his confinement by the kidnapers who suddenly released him last night on the outskirts of Toronto. This was revealed to International News Service today by his sister, Mrs. R. E. Balders, who received full information on the details of the kidnaping by telephone from another sister, Mrs. Chipman, in Montreal.

"My brother was released on St. Clair avenue," Mrs. Balders said. "He was turned out of a car there. My sister told me his health was all right and that his detention did not seem to have affected him. He is with my brother this morning and they have left for their home in London.

"He was blindfolded and his eyes were taped from the time he was seized and he told the family that he had no idea of where he was detained. He was not, the family stated, injured in any way but is more or less shaken by his experience. He could not give any idea of the location of the place where he was held or how far it was from the point where he was seized in his car about eight miles from Sarnia."

Details of Release.

Details of the release were received by Mrs. Balders in a telephone conversation at 10 a. m. Earlier, at 6:30 o'clock, she received a brief message from the family telling of her brother's safe return. At that time Mrs. Balders collapsed from strain and relief.

She and her husband, Major R. E. Balders, have not left their cottage in the fashionable summer colony of Boulderwood since the kidnaping took place, the young woman scarcely leaving the room where the telephone is located as she anxiously awaited word of developments.

"He was released on St. Clair avenue," she reiterated. "I have not heard whether the kidnapers turned him over to some contact or whether he was allowed to release the bandages placed over his eyes after he got out of the car. My sister did not know if the ransom money had been paid. A statement is to be made in London by the lawyer this morning."

Expect To Get Kidnapers.

London, Ont., Aug. 17.—E. M. Burke, manager of the Labatt brewery, issued a formal statement here today explaining the strict censorship of all information concerning the abduction and release of John Labatt, millionaire head of the brewing concern.

Speaking for the Labatt family, he declared:

"We do not want to make any announcement at this time regarding any angle of the case, because it is the kidnapers we are after now. We do not want to divulge any information which might keep the police from getting the kidnapers.

"The case is entirely in the hands of the provincial police and the Detroit police. Two Detroit detectives have been with me all night. I would rather not divulge their identity. Chief of detectives in Detroit, Fred W. Frahm, is keeping in touch with me hourly by phone."

Capture Predicted.

London, Ont., Aug. 17.—Capture of the kidnapers of John S. Labatt within "48 hours" was predicted today by an official of the Labatt Brewing company who declined to permit use of his name.

"Those looking for a mystery behind the sudden return of Mr. Labatt will not have to wait more than 48 hours," the official declared. "His abductors will be in the hands of the police in that time."

Driven For Fours.

Toronto, Aug. 17.—His eyes shuttered by heavy glasses heavily swathed in adhesive tape, John S. Labatt, wealthy Canadian brewer kidnaped near his Sarnia, Ont., summer home two and a half days ago, was released at 12:30 a. m. today in Forest Hill village, Toronto's most exclusive suburb, Attorney General Arthur E. Roebuck disclosed here today.

In a statement criticizing the Labatt family for what he termed "lack of cooperation with police which left a cold trail" for authorities to follow, Roebuck revealed that Labatt was pushed from a car containing three or four men and instructed not to divest himself of his blindfold until the kidnap car had disappeared.

The brewer, the attorney general said, was kidnaped by two men and spent his entire period of captivity in Ontario. Labatt was driven around for 12 or 15 hours after being abducted and for five or six hours prior to being released. He had no knowledge of where the intervening time was spent.

Immediately after being released from the kidnap car, Roebuck said, Labatt took a taxicab for downtown Toronto.

WOMAN FOUGHT FIRE AS MATE LAY HELPLESS

FORT COLLINS, Colo.—Mrs. May Bishop fought a fire that broke out in a sawmill 11 miles from here while her husband, Ernest Bishop, 47, lay nearby helpless with a broken leg. Then, with her two children, two and four years old, she walked along a mountain trail for three hours before she could find help.

Bishop, who broke his leg in a mill accident just before the blaze started, was brought to a local hospitau 14 hours after the member was shattered. He also suffered several shattered ribs.

Dog Crossing Road Causes Accident

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 17.—Just because a dog all of a sudden, decided to cross a road, a local man damaged his car and broke the shades of a light post on the west side of the Fifth street bridge.

W. K. Ramsey stated to local police that he was traveling north on the bridge when a car in front of him decided to pass a truck. He followed. But the car in front had to stop suddenly to avoid hitting a dog which started to cross the road from the curb. Ramsey in order to avoid hitting the car swerved his car to the left and struck a light post. His car received minor damages.

Our government now has the power to do almost anything, if rebellious little groups will let it.

Pennsylvania Industry Being Hit By "New Deal"

(International News Service)

EBENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 17.—Federal recovery measures, particularly the Tennessee Valley Watershed project, were characterized as suction pumps which will "bleed Pennsylvania's industries white," by State Treasurer Charles A. Waters here this afternoon.

Speaking before a Republican rally attended by G. O. P. partisans from 12 western counties, Waters quoted a T. V. A. director who said the development of cheap power on that project would attract industries from Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Detroit, and then declared:

"With the expenditure of public moneys reaching $600,000,000 or $700,000,000, a major slice of which would be contributed to the federal treasury by Pennsylvania, the T. V. A. aims to creaate a new industrial center and would, like a suction pump, draw the benches from under tens of thousands of Pennsylvania factory workers and render workless thousands of Pennsylvania miners."

Broadening his attack, Waters said the whole planned economy program of the federal government "challenges the integrity of Pennsylvania as it has never been challenged since it was a commonwealth."

"The New Deal," he added, "is not new at all. It is hoary with age and tottering with decay. It has come to us recently through Italy, Germany and Russia, but it has come to them from antiquity, through Sparta, through Dicletian and the Roman empire."

News Of Return.

First news of John Labatt's return to London was made by Claude C. Savage, press liason official, who telephoned newspaper men at a local hotel apprising them of the news.

Reporters rushed to the Hugh Labatt home. They were met by a policeman who prevented entrance.

"I am not speaking to anyone," was the word sent out by Hugh Labatt.

Shortly after 11 o'clock this morning, Hon. J. C. Elliott of the law firm of Ivey, Elliott and Gillanders, granted a press interview. He had no significant information to give out."

Elliott merely confirmed that John Labatt had been freed and was back in London; that he was greatly fatigued and under the care of a physician and that he was seeing no reporters. Elliott said he did not know whether the $150,000 ransom had been paid and that he knew none of the details of the kidnaping or of Labatt's release. Neither did he know where he had been freed.

Eyes Taped.

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 17.—John S. Labatt, wealthy London, Ont., brewer, was blindfolded with strips of tape during the entire period of his confinement by the kidnapers who suddenly released him last night on the outskirts of Toronto. This was revealed to International News Service today by his sister, Mrs. R. E. Balders, who received full information on the details of the kidnaping by telephone from another sister, Mrs. Chipman, in Montreal.

"My brother was released on St. Clair avenue," Mrs. Balders said. "He was turned out of a car there. My sister told me his health was all right and that his detention did not seem to have affected him. He is with my brother this morning and they have left for their home in London.

"He was blindfolded and his eyes were taped from the time he was seized and he told the family that he had no idea of where he was detained. He was not, the family stated, injured in any way but is more or less shaken by his experience. He could not give any idea of the location of the place where he was held or how far it was from the point where he was seized in his car about eight miles from Sarnia."

Details of Release.

Details of the release were received by Mrs. Balders in a telephone conversation at 10 a. m. Earlier, at 6:30 o'clock, she received a brief message from the family telling of her brother's safe return. At that time Mrs. Balders collapsed from strain and relief.

She and her husband, Major R. E. Balders, have not left their cottage in the fashionable summer colony of Boulderwood since the kidnaping took place, the young woman scarcely leaving the room where the telephone is located as she anxiously awaited word of developments.

"He was released on St. Clair avenue," she reiterated. "I have not heard whether the kidnapers turned him over to some contact or whether he was allowed to release the bandages placed over his eyes after he got out of the car. My sister did not know if the ransom money had been paid. A statement is to be made in London by the lawyer this morning."

Expect To Get Kidnapers.

London, Ont., Aug. 17.—E. M. Burke, manager of the Labatt brewery, issued a formal statement here today explaining the strict censorship of all information concerning the abduction and release of John Labatt, millionaire head of the brewing concern.

Speaking for the Labatt family, he declared:

"We do not want to make any announcement at this time regarding any angle of the case, because it is the kidnapers we are after now. We do not want to divulge any information which might keep the police from getting the kidnapers.

"The case is entirely in the hands of the provincial police and the Detroit police. Two Detroit detectives have been with me all night. I would rather not divulge their identity. Chief of detectives in Detroit, Fred W. Frahm, is keeping in touch with me hourly by phone."

Capture Predicted.

London, Ont., Aug. 17.—Capture of the kidnapers of John S. Labatt within "48 hours" was predicted today by an official of the Labatt Brewing company who declined to permit use of his name.

"Those looking for a mystery behind the sudden return of Mr. Labatt will not have to wait more than 48 hours," the official declared. "His abductors will be in the hands of the police in that time."

Driven For Fours.

Toronto, Aug. 17.—His eyes shuttered by heavy glasses heavily swathed in adhesive tape, John S. Labatt, wealthy Canadian brewer kidnaped near his Sarnia, Ont., summer home two and a half days ago, was released at 12:30 a. m. today in Forest Hill village, Toronto's most exclusive suburb, Attorney General Arthur E. Roebuck disclosed here today.

In a statement criticizing the Labatt family for what he termed "lack of cooperation with police which left a cold trail" for authorities to follow, Roebuck revealed that Labatt was pushed from a car containing three or four men and instructed not to divest himself of his blindfold until the kidnap car had disappeared.

The brewer, the attorney general said, was kidnaped by two men and spent his entire period of captivity in Ontario. Labatt was driven around for 12 or 15 hours after being abducted and for five or six hours prior to being released. He had no knowledge of where the intervening time was spent.

Immediately after being released from the kidnap car, Roebuck said, Labatt took a taxicab for downtown Toronto.

WOMAN FOUGHT FIRE AS MATE LAY HELPLESS

FORT COLLINS, Colo.—Mrs. May Bishop fought a fire that broke out in a sawmill 11 miles from here while her husband, Ernest Bishop, 47, lay nearby helpless with a broken leg. Then, with her two children, two and four years old, she walked along a mountain trail for three hours before she could find help.

Bishop, who broke his leg in a mill accident just before the blaze started, was brought to a local hospitau 14 hours after the member was shattered. He also suffered several shattered ribs.

Attentive plans are being made for the conducting of a Fruit Growers' Tour for Lawrence County Growers' on August 30. There will also be fruit men from Venango and Mercer counties in the tour.

Stop will be made in Mercer, Lawrence and Butler counties. The definite itinerary will be announced later.

SALES SUCCESS DEMANDS ATTENTION TO DETAILS

There are three major factors that enter into the success of selling products: namely, salesmanship, quality, and attractive appearance or display.

A pleasant personality, the ability to meet people, and the simple rules of salesmanship help in a large way to sell merchandise of any kind.

Quality has always been regarded as very important. Products should be young, tender and fresh. Quality does not mean the same thing in all products, however, and the salesman should know what constitutes good quality in different products.

Attractive appearance holds good for both the salesman and the product sold. Cover the stand with clean paper or other material, arrange the products so as to attract attention of others, and grade products carefully according to size, shape and color. Your personal appearance, products, and exhibit table should be attractive. A few suggestions in regard to vegetable products might be in order.

Sweet corn loses one-third of its sugar in 24 hours under warm conditions. Never pull corn in the heat of the day when the ears are warm and place them in baskets, bags, or piles. Pull corn when the ears are cool and spread them out on a cool floor or on the grass under a tree. Corn is best in quality as soon as the grains are filled out well; it is then in the milk stage.

All bunched crops, such as beets, carrots, radishes, onions and others should be carefully graded according to size, shape and color. Uniformity is regarded as very important. They should be carefully washed and displayed so that the bright colors in these crops attract attention. These crops are highest in quality when they grow rapidly and are marketed while young and tender.

Peas contain the most sugar when the seed has reached full size but do not allow them to become hard or the pods turn a light color. Peas are like sweet corn in that they lose sugar if kept in a warm temperature after picking.

String beans should be full size, stringless, brittle with seeds immature. Try to pick or grade peas and beans so that all pods will be about the same age, otherwise they will cook unevenly.

Cabbage and lettuce are usually sold by the pound or head. They should be solid, crisp and sweet.

Cucumbers are sold as pickles and slicers. Grading is important and is usually done according to size. Pickles from one to three inches long are popular for sweet pickles, from three to five inches long for sour or dill pickles and over five inches for slicing. Slicing cucumbers should be graded according to size, color and age. The color should be dark green, not white at the tips, and the seed should be immature or very small.

Lima beans may be sold by weight or measure, either in the pods or shelled. Try to have them the same age; do not mix green ones with the older white ones. They should be large in size and green in color. If shelled, keep them cool. They turn color easily and quickly after shelling, especially if they are bruised.

Tomatoes may be graded into three grades: 1—large smooth fruit uniform in size. 2—seconds which are a little rough and variable in size. 3—culls which should be left at home.

DAIRY SIRE'S RELATIVES DECIDE HIS USEFULNESS

In the selection of a young dairy sire much emphasis has been placed upon the production records of his dam and other dams in the pedigree. Too often such selections have fallen short of expectations.

It is important, therefore, to know what basis of selecting a young bull from pedigree will give greater assurance that his daughters will be capable of high production. Recent investigations indicate that the records of half sisters, both maternal and paternal, are of greater value in predicting the producing ability of a young bull's future daughters than is the record of his own dam. The records of the dam's half sisters are as important as her own record.

Since the young sire receives his genetic factors equally from his sire and dam, more interest should be given to locating foundation cows capable of transmitting factors for high production to her daughters.

Finally, in selecting a young herd sire, he should be sired by a proved bull whose daughters are uniformly high producers and superior to their dams. Attention should be given not only to the dam's record but also to the records of her sisters and her daughters. Selection of young bulls on this basis will prove more successful than the usual method of placing undue emphasis on the record of the dam.

FUMIGATE GRAIN BINS TO CONTROL WEEVILS

Farmers who are having trouble with grain weevils can get relief by fumigating their grain bins. These weevils include a number of grain or flour feeding insects which work on the grain in storage. Extremely hot weather has increased the development of these insects and, as a result, a larger amount of damage has occurred earlier in the season than usual.

In controlling weevils the barns should be kept clean of scattered grains and the bins then fumigated with carbon bisulphide. The chemical is used at the rate of 3 pounds to 100 bushels of grain. If the granary is large and there is any considerable space not filled with bins or some bins are empty, 5 pounds of carbon bisulphide to 1,000 cubic feet of air space should be added.

Shallow tins containing the material are placed on top of the grain. These are distributed at different points so that the gas from the chemical will go down from the surface into the grain. The carbon bisulphide gas is heavier than air and will sink completely through the grain. Since carbon bisulphide is very explosive, it should be handled carefully and all open lights should be kept away from it. The granary should be kept closed for at least 36 hours after which it may be aired out.

Patents Granted New Castle Men

(Special To The News)

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Burns D. Lockwood of New Castle and Humbert M. Fenati, also of New Castle, are the recipients of patents issued them today by the United States patent office for their inventions.

Lockwood's device is a car coupler of improved design. His application for the grant has been pending since May, 1929. It was approved today as to two new features. The commercial rights are acquired by Koppel Industrial Car and Equipment Co., McKees Rocks, Pa.

Fenati's invention is an internal combustion engine with several improvements. The patent was granted as to nine points of originality and improvement. He has retained full rights to the patent.

Allotments Are Announced Today For Big Projects

Estimate 215 Non-Federal Projects Will Cost Approximately $24,540,270

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Allotments for 215 non-federal projects totalling $24,540,270 were announced today by the PWA.

The grants, Secretary of Interior Ickes said, virtually deplete the additional $400,000,000 fund allotted by the president following enactment of the last deficiency bill. Employment amounting to 102,489 man months will be provided by the projects.

Miss Margaret Chambers, of New York City, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Chambers, of the Mt. Jackson road, is spending her vacation with her parents. Miss Chambers is a buyer for the Stern department store in New York City and has visited Europe in the interest of her employer recently.

BICYCLE VICTIM OUT OF HOSPITAL

Fanny Forrest, of 311 North Beaver street, who was injured several weeks ago, when struck by a bicycle, near the post office on North St., has returned to her home from the New Castle hospital, her friends will be pleased to learn.

Allotments Are Announced Today For Big Projects

Estimate 215 Non-Federal Projects Will Cost Approximately $24,540,270

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 17.—Allotments for 215 non-federal projects totalling $24,540,270 were announced today by the PWA.

The grants, Secretary of Interior Ickes said, virtually deplete the additional $400,000,000 fund allotted by the president following enactment of the last deficiency bill. Employment amounting to 102,489 man months will be provided by the projects.

Pennsylvania Industry Being Hit By "New Deal"

(International News Service)

EBENSBURG, Pa., Aug. 17.—Federal recovery measures, particularly the Tennessee Valley Watershed project, were characterized as suction pumps which will "bleed Pennsylvania's industries white," by State Treasurer Charles A. Waters here this afternoon.

Speaking before a Republican rally attended by G. O. P. partisans from 12 western counties, Waters quoted a T. V. A. director who said the development of cheap power on that project would attract industries from Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Detroit, and then declared:

"With the expenditure of public moneys reaching $600,000,000 or $700,000,000, a major slice of which would be contributed to the federal treasury by Pennsylvania, the T. V. A. aims to create a new industrial center and would, like a suction pump, draw the benches from under tens of thousands of Pennsylvania factory workers and render workless thousands of Pennsylvania miners."

Broadening his attack, Waters said the whole planned economy program of the federal government "challenges the integrity of Pennsylvania as it has never been challenged since it was a commonwealth."

"The New Deal," he added, "is not new at all. It is hoary with age and tottering with decay. It has come to us recently through Italy, Germany and Russia, but it has come to them from antiquity, through Sparta, through Dicletian and the Roman empire."

wide balconies and pink and white awnings. It is set well back from the street and is surrounded by an expansive lawn.

News Of Return.

First news of John Labatt's return to London was made by Claude C. Savage, press liason official, who telephoned newspaper men at a local hotel apprising them of the news.

Reporters rushed to the Hugh Labatt home. They were met by a policeman who prevented entrance.

"I am not speaking to anyone," was the word sent out by Hugh Labatt.

Shortly after 11 o'clock this morning, Hon. J. C. Elliott of the law firm of Ivey, Elliott and Gillanders, granted a press interview. He had no significant information to give out."

Elliott merely confirmed that John Labatt had been freed and was back in London; that he was greatly fatigued and under the care of a physician and that he was seeing no reporters. Elliott said he did not know whether the $150,000 ransom had been paid and that he knew none of the details of the kidnaping or of Labatt's release. Neither did he know where he had been freed.

Eyes Taped.

Halifax, N. S., Aug. 17.—John S. Labatt, wealthy London, Ont., brewer, was blindfolded with strips of tape during the entire period of his confinement by the kidnapers who suddenly released him last night on the outskirts of Toronto. This was revealed to International News Service today by his sister, Mrs. R. E. Balders, who received full information on the details of the kidnaping by telephone from another sister, Mrs. Chipman, in Montreal.

"My brother was released on St. Clair avenue," Mrs. Balders said. "He was turned out of a car there. My sister told me his health was all right and that his detention did not seem to have affected him. He is with my brother this morning and they have left for their home in London.

"He was blindfolded and his eyes were taped from the time he was seized and he told the family that he had no idea of where he was detained. He was not, the family stated, injured in any way but is more or less shaken by his experience. He could not give any idea of the location of the place where he was held or how far it was from the point where he was seized in his car about eight miles from Sarnia."

Details of Release.

Details of the release were received by Mrs. Balders in a telephone conversation at 10 a. m. Earlier, at 6:30 o'clock, she received a brief message from the family telling of her brother's safe return. At that time Mrs. Balders collapsed from strain and relief.

She and her husband, Major R. E. Balders, have not left their cottage in the fashionable summer colony of Boulderwood since the kidnaping took place, the young woman scarcely leaving the room where the telephone is located as she anxiously awaited word of developments.

"He was released on St. Clair avenue," she reiterated. "I have not heard whether the kidnapers turned him over to some contact or whether he was allowed to release the bandages placed over his eyes after he got out of the car. My sister did not know if the ransom money had been paid. A statement is to be made in London by the lawyer this morning."

Expect To Get Kidnapers.

London, Ont., Aug. 17.—E. M. Burke, manager of the Labatt brewery, issued a formal statement here today explaining the strict censorship of all information concerning the abduction and release of John Labatt, millionaire head of the brewing concern.

Speaking for the Labatt family, he declared:

"We do not want to make any announcement at this time regarding any angle of the case, because it is the kidnapers we are after now. We do not want to divulge any information which might keep the police from getting the kidnapers.

"The case is entirely in the hands of the provincial police and the Detroit police. Two Detroit detectives have been with me all night. I would rather not divulge their identity. Chief of detectives in Detroit, Fred W. Frahm, is keeping in touch with me hourly by phone."

Capture Predicted.

London, Ont., Aug. 17.—Capture of the kidnapers of John S. Labatt within "48 hours" was predicted today by an official of the Labatt Brewing company who declined to permit use of his name.

"Those looking for a mystery behind the sudden return of Mr. Labatt will not have to wait more than 48 hours," the official declared. "His abductors will be in the hands of the police in that time."

Driven For Fours.

Toronto, Aug. 17.—His eyes shuttered by heavy glasses, heavily swathed in adhesive tape, John S. Labatt, wealthy Canadian brewer kidnaped near his Sarnia, Ont., summer home two and a half days ago, was released at 12:30 a. m. today in Forest Hill village, Toronto's most exclusive suburb, Attorney General Arthur E. Roebuck disclosed here today.

In a statement criticizing the Labatt family for what he termed "lack of cooperation with police which left a cold trail" for authorities to follow, Roebuck revealed that Labatt was pushed from a car containing three or four men and instructed not to divest himself of his blindfold until the kidnap car had disappeared.

The brewer, the attorney general said, was kidnaped by two men and spent his entire period of captivity in Ontario. Labatt was driven around for 12 or 15 hours after being abducted and for five or six hours prior to being released. He had no knowledge of where the intervening time was spent.

Immediately after being released from the kidnap car, Roebuck said, Labatt took a taxicab for downtown Toronto.

WOMAN FOUGHT FIRE AS MATE LAY HELPLESS

FORT COLLINS, Colo.—Mrs. May Bishop fought a fire that broke out in a sawmill 11 miles from here while her husband, Ernest Bishop, 47, lay nearby helpless with a broken leg. Then, with her two children, two and four years old, she walked along a mountain trail for three hours before she could find help.

Bishop, who broke his leg in a mill accident just before the blaze started, was brought to a local hospitau 14 hours after the member was shattered. He also suffered several shattered ribs.

Dog Crossing Road Causes Accident

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 17.—Just because a dog all of a sudden, decided to cross a road, a local man damaged his car and broke the shades of a light post on the west side of the Fifth street bridge.

W. K. Ramsey stated to local police that he was traveling north on the bridge when a car in front of him decided to pass a truck. He followed. But the car in front had to stop suddenly to avoid hitting a dog which started to cross the road from the curb. Ramsey in order to avoid hitting the car swerved his car to the left and struck a light post. His car received minor damages.

Our government now has the power to do almost anything, if rebellious little groups will let it.

Belgians Ready For Stratosphere Flight Saturday

Professor Max Cosyns And Van Der Elst Will Try For 15-Mile Flight Into Heavens

(International News Service)

BRUSSELS, Aug. 17.—Professor Max Cosyns, Belgian scientist, announced today he would take off at dawn tomorrow in an attempt to soar fifteen miles into the stratosphere and set a new world's altitude record.

Cosyns, veteran of the first stratosphere flight in history with Dr. August Piccard, will have as his first object study of the cosmic ray.

Cosyns decided to take off tomorrow after consulting with the weather bureau, where he was informed the skies and winds would be "perfect" for his venture.

"They told me there would be practically no wind, and that I could expect to drift east toward France," Cosyns said as he left the bureau.

"Unless there is a sudden and totally unexpected change in weather conditions, we will rise into the stratosphere around 4:30 a. m. Saturday."

Ready For Takeoff

Cosyns prepared to motor immediately to Hour-Havenne, where Van Der Elst was awaiting him and making final preparations for the takeoff. The pair needed the westerly wind to carry them inland, instead of out to sea.

The air ministry ordered 150 soldiers to aid in the take-off and in inflation of the bag.

The balloon has been held in readiness at Hour-Havenne since July 20, ready to take off as soon as the weather became suitable.

Motorcycle Police Are Charged With Accepting Bribe

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.— The case of two policemen, accused by a New York business man of having shaken him down for a petty bribe, was held under advisement here today by the civil service commission.

During a hearing before the commission John J. Schroeder, whose home is in Jamaica, L. I., testified that he was driving through Philadelphia last July 12 when two motorcycle policemen stopped him and declared he was speeding. Schroeder asserted the officers permitted him to proceed after he had given $1.75 to one of them.

The policemen involved are Walter Ogden and Leonard Wirt. Both denied the New Yorker's charges.

Close All City Parks At Midnight

City council met in the municipal building today and adopted the Alexander ordinance which closes all city parks between midnight and the hour of six a. m., the following day. No persons are allowed in the parks. Persons caught in them can be fined $300 and given a 90 days jail sentence, according to the provisions of the measure.

Medical Milk Commission Hears About Vitamin D Milk From Yeast-Fed Cows

Members of the Medical Milk Commission of the Lawrence County Medical Society learned about Vitamin D milk Thursday at noon when a luncheon conference was held with Dr. Harris Moak at the Everglad Certifield Milk farm of Dr. Frederick Taylor of Pulaski. Dr. Moak is the secretary of the American Association of Medical Milk Commission Inc, of which the local body is a unit.

Vitamin D milk is new to this part of the country but has been found eminently successful in the east and midwest. It is certified milk to which Vitamin D has been added through the process of feeding irradiated yeast to the cows. Exhaustive research by milk scientists has proven that by this method more Vitamin D is put into a bottle of milk than would be found in an ordinary dose of cod liver oil and viosterol.

"Investigation has proven conclusively the value of Vitamin D milk" said Dr. Moak "and this county is to be congratulated upon the fact that Dr. Taylor is making it possible for it to be purchased here. There are three methods of injecting this into the milk, one of them being the arc light method, another the injection of an oil concentrate and the third the feding of irradiated yeast to the cows. Of the three we believe the feeding process to be the best in that it makes it possible to get a uniform quality at all times.

"The presence of the added vitamin D does not change the flavor or quality of the milk in any degree but it does add to the milk the highly important vitamin that builds bone and tissue. There is also no possible danger of giving a child too much of Vitamin D through this milk for a child could not drink enough to get on overdose."

Present at the luncheon conference were the following six members of the Medical Milk Commission of the Lawrence County Medical Society— Dr. James D. Crawford, Dr. W. A. Womer, Dr. W. D. Wallace, Dr. S. Skole, Dr. Elijah H. Kaplan, Dr. U. G. Snyder.

A delicious chicken dinner was served by Mrs. Taylor and her daughter and following the short conference in the dining room, Dr. Taylor and his son Fred who is associated with him in the milk business took the party through the cow stables on an inspection visit.

Belgians Ready For Stratosphere Flight Saturday

Professor Max Cosyns And Van Der Elst Will Try For 15-Mile Flight Into Heavens

(International News Service)

BRUSSELS, Aug. 17.—Professor Max Cosyns, Belgian scientist, announced today he would take off at dawn tomorrow in an attempt to soar fifteen miles into the stratosphere and set a new world's altitude record.

Cosyns, veteran of the first stratosphere flight in history with Dr. August Piccard, will have as his first object study of the cosmic ray.

Cosyns decided to take off tomorrow after consulting with the weather bureau, where he was informed the skies and winds would be "perfect" for his venture.

"They told me there would be practically no wind, and that I could expect to drift east toward France," Cosyns said as he left the bureau.

"Unless there is a sudden and totally unexpected change in weather conditions, we will rise into the stratosphere around 4:30 a. m. Saturday."

Ready For Takeoff

Cosyns prepared to motor immediately to Hour-Havenne, where Van Der Elst was awaiting him and making final preparations for the takeoff. The pair needed the westerly wind to carry them inland, instead of out to sea.

The air ministry ordered 150 soldiers to aid in the take-off and in inflation of the bag.

The balloon has been held in readiness at Hour-Havenne since July 20, ready to take off as soon as the weather became suitable.

Motorcycle Police Are Charged With Accepting Bribe

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.— The case of two policemen, accused by a New York business man of having shaken him down for a petty bribe, was held under advisement here today by the civil service commission.

During a hearing before the commission John J. Schroeder, whose home is in Jamaica, L. I., testified that he was driving through Philadelphia last July 12 when two motorcycle policemen stopped him and declared he was speeding. Schroeder asserted the officers permitted him to proceed after he had given $1.75 to one of them.

The policemen involved are Walter Ogden and Leonard Wirt. Both denied the New Yorker's charges.

Close All City Parks At Midnight

City council met in the municipal building today and adopted the Alexander ordinance which closes all city parks between midnight and the hour of six a. m., the following day. No persons are allowed in the parks. Persons caught in them can be fined $300 and given a 90 days jail sentence, according to the provisions of the measure.

Medical Milk Commission Hears About Vitamin D Milk From Yeast-Fed Cows

Members of the Medical Milk Commission of the Lawrence County Medical Society learned about Vitamin D milk Thursday at noon when a luncheon conference was held with Dr. Harris Moak at the Everglad Certifield Milk farm of Dr. Frederick Taylor of Pulaski. Dr. Moak is the secretary of the American Association of Medical Milk Commission Inc, of which the local body is a unit.

Vitamin D milk is new to this part of the country but has been found eminently successful in the east and midwest. It is certified milk to which Vitamin D has been added through the process of feeding irradiated yeast to the cows. Exhaustive research by milk scientists has proven that by this method more Vitamin D is put into a bottle of milk than would be found in an ordinary dose of cod liver oil and viosterol.

"Investigation has proven conclusively the value of Vitamin D milk" said Dr. Moak "and this county is to be congratulated upon the fact that Dr. Taylor is making it possible for it to be purchased here. There are three methods of injecting this into the milk, one of them being the arc light method, another the injection of an oil concentrate and the third the feding of irradiated yeast to the cows. Of the three we believe the feeding process to be the best in that it makes it possible to get a uniform quality at all times.

"The presence of the added vitamin D does not change the flavor or quality of the milk in any degree but it does add to the milk the highly important vitamin that builds bone and tissue. There is also no possible danger of giving a child too much of Vitamin D through this milk for a child could not drink enough to get on overdose."

Present at the luncheon conference were the following six members of the Medical Milk Commission of the Lawrence County Medical Society— Dr. James D. Crawford, Dr. W. A. Womer, Dr. W. D. Wallace, Dr. S. Skole, Dr. Eliah H. Kaplan, Dr. U. G. Snyder.

A delicious chicken dinner was served by Mrs. Taylor and her daughter and following the short conference in the dining room, Dr. Taylor and his son Fred who is associated with him in the milk business took the party through the cow stables on an inspection visit.

HITLER MAKES FINAL ADDRESS BEFORE ELECTION

German People To Vote Sunday

Expect Populace To Go To Polls En Masse To Vote "Yes" On Hitler

SWASTIKA FLAGS OUT BY MILLIONS

By PIERRE HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Aug. 17.—The man in the brown shirt, Reichsleader Adolf Hitler, will make the most important speech of his career today, a radio broadcast oration which his followers feel certain will win him more than 90 percent of the votes in Sunday's election.

Appearing before a vast throng in the free port of Hamburg where old hanseatic traditions of independence are still existent and addressing by radio relays standing audiences in every public square of every city of the Reich, he will warm hearts with a picture of a glorious future for Germany in Nazi unity.

Flags Are Flying.

Already the flags are flying from every home, by order of the government in celebration of the coming great electoral victory. Even apartment dwellers have been given their orders and have complied with apparent enthusiasm by hanging out the Swastika.

Hitler's only difficulty is that he is running against his own record. His vigorous campaign manager, Dr. Joseph Paul Goebbels, has announced that the coming election will be considered a failure if there is one vote less than in the remarkable election of last November when some 42,000,000 out of 44,000,000 voters voted the straight Nazi ticket.

This campaign has the shortest slogan on record. Posters everywhere project it on the German consciousness. In the windows, on the walls, and in electric lights it is emblazoned. It is "Ja" (yes).

Ordered To Vote Yes.

The patriotic duty of every citizen, the government constantly informs him with every media of communication, is to vote "yes" Sunday—to register his or her approval of Hitler's assumption of the powers of the presidency.

Irreverent American tourists remark (among themselves) that it is Hitler's desire to show the world that he is the ruler of a nation of "yes men." But the German people see nothing untoward about it. They are going to demonstrate the unity of the German people, the greatest of Hitler's accomplishments, the achievement for which their beloved hero Marshal Hindenburg cited der fuerer in his posthumously published "Political Testament."

Forgotten by Germany as well as by the outside world is Dr. Erwin Bumke, chief justice of the supreme court, the man who under the constitution was to succeed the Reichspresident on the latter's death. There probably will be no legalistic discussion in Hitler's speech. There is no need of it. He knows that the great majority of the German people is eager to acclaim him its ruler in title as well as in fact.

Valuable Courage.
Mr. Mellon's Fine Purchase.
Canada's Big Shock.
For Not Raising Hogs.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

W. R. HEARST writes, in all his newspapers, that newspapermen should "applaud heartily every Roosevelt act that they think beneficial."

In connection with that sound suggestion, ask yourself how you would feel, and what would be the result in this country, if there were not a man in Washington with the courage and initiative to DO SOMETHING about the big drought.

SUPPOSE YOU had a president afraid to move, afraid to relieve the desperate, impoverished farmers by pouring out government money—What might be the result?

Suppose you have a president talking about the divine law of "supply and demand," instead of warning dealers that gougers in food prices will go to jail, as President Roosevelt warns them.

WHILE YOU are glad to have a president with courage to act in drought or other emergency, you worry a little about distributions of public monies as loans on all kinds of houses that need mending and farms with owners that would like to borrow.

With 10,00 politicians scattering the public money, estimating the value of properties and handing out loans, how much of that money will come back?

IT IS GOOD news that Andrew W. Mellon, formerly Secretary of the Treasury, who seems to possess a "comfortable competence," depression or no depression, has bought Raphael's magnificent painting "Alba Madonna" from the Russian government for one million five hundred thousand dollars.

Geese will say: "How terrible to spend so much money for one picture in these times." Wise men will say to the Geese: "You wouldn't get the money anyhow, if he didn't buy the picture. He is to be praised for bringing that magnificent work of art to his own country, where thousands of young artists will see it and be inspired by it." Mr. Mellon is generous, lending his finest paintings for public exhibition, and eventually the picture will become public property.

MR. MELLON would render even a greater public service if he could persuade Russia to sell him the 6,000-book library collected by Voltaire, taken from Fernet to Russia by the Empress Catherine the Second when she bought everything in Voltaire's house, even the wooden paneling of the rooms.

The library selected by Voltaire, hundreds of the volumes marked with comment in his fine handwriting on the leaf margins, would be more valuable than any picture or statue with few exceptions.

What would you give for Voltaire's copy of Montesquieu's "Spirit of Laws," with the old man's sarcastic comments written on leaf after leaf?

ONE MILLION five hundred thousand dollars seems a terrific price for one picture. But you could not buy, from the Pope, Michelangelo's frescoes in the Sistine Chapel for fifty times $1,500,000, and the French government would not sell you two of its statues, the Venus De Milo and the "Winged Victory", for five hundred million dollars.

Some things, fortunately, have no "price".

CANADA HAS its first big kidnaping case, an important brewer, John S. Labatt, held by racketeers for $150,000 ransom. This Canadian beginning of what has grown to be one of the important branches of our great racketeering industry in the United States startles Canada.

Canadians say, "undoubtedly the work was done of United States racketeers." They probably are right about that.

BOND MEN pass from hand to hand a copy of an alleged letter written to a Boston bond house, urging "big profits to be made from NOT raising hogs." This parody on our era of plowing under cotton, cutting down wheat just before a drought, drowning farrow sows, full of little pigs, reads, in part, as follows:

"Mr. Blank, of Northampton, has a friend who received a government check for $1,000 this year for not raising hogs. So Blank now proposes to get a farm and go into the business of not raising hogs; says not raising hogs appeals to him very strongly.

"Do you think capital could be provided by the issuance of a non-hog raising gold bond?

"His friend who got the thousand dollars got it for not raising 500 hogs; now we figure we might easily not raise 1,500, or even 2,000 hogs, so you see the possible profits are only limited by the number of hogs we do not raise."

THIS WOULD puzzle Solomon, the wise man, multiplied by ten thousand. Your government has "resumed exporting gold." One million dollars worth went to France yesterday, the first since April, 1933.

Somebody says it is a "gesture" to support the dollar.

Americans who were not allowed to keep gold that belonged to them, and had to turn it over to the government for little more than half its present value, would call that a silly gesture.

IT IS understood that the United States Treasury authorities have a billion or two public money with which they may play, according to their judgment, "to uphold our exchange."

Shipping to France gold metal, considered too good for Americans that formerly owned it, will strike the public as distinct "child's play". The intelligent French may well laugh at our antics.

Annual Convention To Be Held At Gettysburg From August 20 To 23

(International News Service)

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Aug. 17.—Historic Gettysburg will become the mecca of upwards of 5,000 Elks and their friends from August 20 to 23 when the annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Elks Association will be held. One hundred twenty-four lodges in the state will be represented.

Following conferences of state officers, committeemen and subordinate lodge delegates Sunday evening and Monday, opening exercises of the convention will be held Monday evening at the Memorial Athletic Field of Gettysburg college.

Addresses of welcome will be made by Burgess Wilbur J. Stallsmith and Dr. Henry W. E. Hanson, president of Gettysburg College. Lawrence H. Rupp, Allentown, past grand exalted ruler of the Elks, will respond.

Business sessions will be held Tuesday morning when officers will be elected and the next convention city chosen. Scott Drum, of Hazleton, now vice-president, is unopposed for election to the presidency. Hazleton, Williamsport and Bethlehem lodges are actively campaigning for the 1935 convention.

The annual Elk memorial service will be held in the Gettysburg National Cemetery from the rostrum on which President Roosevelt delivered his Memorial Day address. In the afternoon the annual stag picnic will be held, followed in the evening by a ritualistic contest with a dozen or more lodge teams participating.

Annual Convention To Be Held At Gettysburg From August 20 To 23

(International News Service)

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Aug. 17.—Historic Gettysburg will become the mecca of upwards of 5,000 Elks and their friends from August 20 to 23 when the annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Elks Association will be held. One hundred twenty-four lodges in the state will be represented.

Following conferences of state officers, committeemen and subordinate lodge delegates Sunday evening and Monday, opening exercises of the convention will be held Monday evening at the Memorial Athletic Field of Gettysburg college.

Addresses of welcome will be made by Burgess Wilbur J. Stallsmith and Dr. Henry W. E. Hanson, president of Gettysburg College. Lawrence H. Rupp, Allentown, past grand exalted ruler of the Elks, will respond.

Business sessions will be held Tuesday morning when officers will be elected and the next convention city chosen. Scott Drum, of Hazleton, now vice-president, is unopposed for election to the presidency. Hazleton, Williamsport and Bethlehem lodges are actively campaigning for the 1935 convention.

The annual Elk memorial service will be held in the Gettysburg National Cemetery from the rostrum on which President Roosevelt delivered his Memorial Day address.

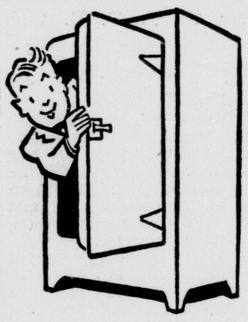

In the afternoon the annual stag picnic will be held, followed in the evening by a ritualistic contest with a dozen or more lodge teams participating.

Belgians Ready For Stratosphere Flight Saturday

Professor Max Cosyns And Van Der Elst Will Try For 15-Mile Flight Into Heavens

(International News Service)

BRUSSELS, Aug. 17.—Professor Max Cosyns, Belgian scientist, announced today he would take off at dawn tomorrow in an attempt to soar fifteen miles into the stratosphere and set a new world's altitude record.

Cosyns, veteran of the first stratosphere flight in history with Dr. August Piccard, will have as his first object study of the cosmic ray.

Cosyns decided to take off tomorrow after consulting with the weather bureau, where he was informed the skies and winds would be "perfect" for his venture.

"They told me there would be practically no wind, and that I could expect to drift east toward France," Cosyns said as he left the bureau.

"Unless there is a sudden and totally unexpected change in weather conditions, we will rise into the stratosphere around 4:30 a. m. Saturday."

Ready For Takeoff

Cosyns prepared to motor immediately to Hour-Havenne, where Van Der Elst was awaiting him and making final preparations for the takeoff. The pair needed the westerly wind to carry them inland, instead of out to sea.

The air ministry ordered 150 soldiers to aid in the take-off and in inflation of the bag.

The balloon has been held in readiness at Hour-Havenne since July 20, ready to take off as soon as the weather became suitable.

Motorcycle Police Are Charged With Accepting Bribe

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.— The case of two policemen, accused by a New York business man of having shaken him down for a petty bribe, was held under advisement here today by the civil service commission.

During a hearing before the commission John J. Schroeder, whose home is in Jamaica, L. I., testified that he was driving through Philadelphia last July 12 when two motorcycle policemen stopped him and declared he was speeding. Schroeder asserted the officers permitted him to proceed after he had given $1.75 to one of them.

The policemen involved are Walter Ogden and Leonard Wirt. Both denied the New Yorker's charges.

Medical Milk Commission Hears About Vitamin D Milk From Yeast-Fed Cows

Members of the Medical Milk Commission of the Lawrence County Medical Society learned about Vitamin D milk Thursday at noon when a luncheon conference was held with Dr. Harris Moak at the Everglad Certifield Milk farm of Dr. Frederick Taylor of Pulaski. Dr. Moak is the secretary of the American Association of Medical Milk Commission Inc, of which the local body is a unit.

Vitamin D milk is new to this part of the country but has been found eminently successful in the east and midwest. It is certified milk to which Vitamin D has been added through the process of feeding irradiated yeast to the cows. Exhaustive research by milk scientists has proven that by this method more Vitamin D is put into a bottle of milk than would be found in an ordinary dose of cod liver oil and viosterol.

"Investigation has proven conclusively the value of Vitamin D milk" said Dr. Moak "and this county is to be congratulated upon the fact that Dr. Taylor is making it possible for it to be purchased here. There are three methods of injecting this into the milk, one of them being the arc light method, another the injection of an oil concentrate and the third the feding of irradiated yeast to the cows. Of the three we believe the feeding process to be the best in that it makes it possible to get a uniform quality at all times.

"The presence of the added vitamin D does not change the flavor or quality of the milk in any degree but it does add to the milk the highly important vitamin that builds bone and tissue. There is also no possible danger of giving a child too much of Vitamin D through this milk for a child could not drink enough to get on overdose."

Present at the luncheon conference were the following six members of the Medical Milk Commission of the Lawrence County Medical Society— Dr. James D. Crawford, Dr. W. A. Womer, Dr. W. D. Wallace, Dr. S. Skole, Dr. Eliah H. Kaplan, Dr. U. G. Snyder.

A delicious chicken dinner was served by Mrs. Taylor and her daughter and following the short conference in the dining room, Dr. Taylor and his son Fred who is associated with him in the milk business took the party through the cow stables on an inspection visit.

HITLER MAKES FINAL ADDRESS BEFORE ELECTION

German People To Vote Sunday

Expect Populace To Go To Polls En Masse To Vote "Yes" On Hitler

SWASTIKA FLAGS OUT BY MILLIONS

By PIERRE HUSS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

BERLIN, Aug. 17.—The man in the brown shirt, Reichsleader Adolf Hitler, will make the most important speech of his career today, a radio broadcast oration which his followers feel certain will win him more than 90 percent of the votes in Sunday's election.

Appearing before a vast throng in the free port of Hamburg where old hanseatic traditions of independence are still existent and addressing by radio relays standing audiences in every public square of every city of the Reich, he will warm hearts with a picture of a glorious future for Germany in Nazi unity.

Flags Are Flying.

Already the flags are flying from every home, by order of the government in celebration of the coming great electoral victory. Even apartment dwellers have been given their orders and have complied with apparent enthusiasm by hanging out the Swastika.

Hitler's only difficulty is that he is running against his own record. His vigorous campaign manager, Dr. Joseph Paul Goebbels, has announced that the coming election will be considered a failure if there is one vote less than in the remarkable election of last November when some 42,000,000 out of 44,000,000 voters voted the straight Nazi ticket.

This campaign has the shortest slogan on record. Posters everywhere project it on the German consciousness. In the windows, on the walls, and in electric lights it is emblazoned. It is "Ja" (yes).

Ordered To Vote Yes.

The patriotic duty of every citizen, the government constantly informs him with every media of communication, is to vote "yes" Sunday—to register his or her approval of Hitler's assumption of the powers of the presidency.

Irreverent American tourists remark (among themselves) that it is Hitler's desire to show the world that he is the ruler of a nation of "yes men." But the German people see nothing untoward about it. They are going to demonstrate the unity of the German people, the greatest of Hitler's accomplishments, the achievement for which their beloved hero Marshal Hindenburg cited der fuerer in his posthumously published "Political Testament."

Forgotten by Germany as well as by the outside world is Dr. Erwin Bumke, chief justice of the supreme court, the man who under the constitution was to succeed the Reichspresident on the latter's death. There probably will be no legalistic discussion in Hitler's speech. There is no need of it. He knows that the great majority of the German people is eager to acclaim him its ruler in title as well as in fact.

Today

Valuable Courage.
Mr. Mellon's Fine Purchase.
Canada's Big Shock.
For Not Raising Hogs.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE

W. R. HEARST writes, in all his newspapers, that newspapermen should "applaud heartily every Roosevelt act that they think beneficial."

In connection with that sound suggestion, ask yourself how you would feel, and what would be the result in this country, if there were not a man in Washington with the courage and initiative to DO SOMETHING about the big drought.

SUPPOSE YOU had a president afraid to move, afraid to relieve the desperate, impoverished farmers by pouring out government money—What might be the result?

Suppose you have a president talking about the divine law of "supply and demand," instead of warning dealers that gougers in food prices will go to jail, as President Roosevelt warns them.

WHILE YOU are glad to have a president with courage to act in drought or other emergency, you worry a little about distributions of public monies as loans on all kinds of houses that need mending and farms with owners that would like to borrow.

With 10,00 politicians scattering the public money, estimating the value of properties and handing out loans, how much of that money will come back?

IT IS GOOD news that Andrew W. Mellon, formerly Secretary of the Treasury, who seems to possess a "comfortable competence," depression or no depression, has bought Raphael's magnificent painting "Alba Madonna" from the Russian government for one million five hundred thousand dollars.

Geese will say: "How terrible to spend so much money for one picture in these times." Wise men will say to the Geese: "You wouldn't get the money anyhow, if he didn't buy the picture. He is to be praised for bringing that magnificent work of art to his own country, where thousands of young artists will see it and be inspired by it." Mr. Mellon is generous, lending his finest paintings for public exhibition, and eventually the picture will become public property.

MR. MELLON would render even a greater public service if he could persuade Russia to sell him the 6,000-book library collected by Voltaire, taken from Fernet to Russia by the Empress Catherine the Second when she bought everything in Voltaire's house, even the wooden paneling of the rooms.

The library selected by Voltaire, hundreds of the volumes marked with comment in his fine handwriting on the leaf margins, would be more valuable than any picture or statue with few exceptions.

What would you give for Voltaire's copy of Montesquieu's "Spirit of Laws," with the old man's sarcastic comments written on leaf after leaf?

ONE MILLION five hundred thousand dollars seems a terrific price for one picture. But you could not buy, from the Pope, Michelangelo's frescoes in the Sistine Chapel for fifty times $1,500,000, and the French government would not sell you two of its statues, the Venus De Milo and the "Winged Victory", for five hundred million dollars.

Some things, fortunately, have no "price".

CANADA HAS its first big kidnaping case, an important brewer, John S. Labatt, held by racketeers for $150,000 ransom. This Canadian beginning of what has grown to be one of the important branches of our great racketeering industry in the United States startles Canada.

Canadians say, "undoubtedly the work was done of United States racketeers." They probably are right about that.

BOND MEN pass from hand to hand a copy of an alleged letter written to a Boston bond house, urging "big profits to be made from NOT raising hogs." This parody on our era of plowing under cotton, cutting down wheat just before a drought, drowning farrow sows, full of little pigs, reads, in part, as follows:

"Mr. Blank, of Northampton, has a friend who received a government check for $1,000 this year for not raising hogs. So Blank now proposes to get a farm and go into the business of not raising hogs; says not raising hogs appeals to him very strongly.

"Do you think capital could be provided by the issuance of a non-hog raising gold bond?

"His friend who got the thousand dollars got it for not raising 500 hogs; now we figure we might easily not raise 1,500, or even 2,000 hogs, so you see the possible profits are only limited by the number of hogs we do not raise."

THIS WOULD puzzle Solomon, the wise man, multiplied by ten thousand. Your government has "resumed exporting gold." One million dollars worth went to France yesterday, the first since April, 1933.

Somebody says it is a "gesture" to support the dollar.

Americans who were not allowed to keep gold that belonged to them, and had to turn it over to the government for little more than half its present value, would call that a silly gesture.

IT IS understood that the United States Treasury authorities have a billion or two public money with which they may play, according to their judgment, "to uphold our exchange."

Shipping to France gold metal, considered too good for Americans that formerly owned it, will strike the public as distinct "child's play". The intelligent French may well laugh at our antics.

Chicago Busses Are Operating Despite Strike

(International News Service)

CHICAGO, Aug 17. — Chicago Motor Coach Company busses continued to operate on normal schedules today in the face of a strike by union drivers demanding recognition of Local 1022 of the American Federation of Labor.

For the second day groups of pickets were posted at the five garages of the bus company. Police details guarded against further violence to working drivers.

President John A. Ritchie of the bus lines announced that only 49 drivers out of 850 had responded to the strike call. But Ralph Stoltzmann, president of the union local, declared that 70 per cent of the regular employes had walked out.

Elks To Assemble At Battlefield

Annual Convention To Be Held At Gettysburg From August 20 To 23

(International News Service)

GETTYSBURG, Pa., Aug. 17.—Historic Gettysburg will become the mecca of upwards of 5,000 Elks and their friends from August 20 to 23 when the annual convention of the Pennsylvania State Elks Association will be held. One hundred twenty-four lodges in the state will be represented.

Following conferences of state officers, committeemen and subordinate lodge delegates Sunday evening and Monday, opening exercises of the convention will be held Monday evening at the Memorial Athletic Field of Gettysburg college.

Addresses of welcome will be made by Burgess Wilbur J. Stallsmith and Dr. Henry W. E. Hanson, president of Gettysburg College. Lawrence H. Rupp, Allentown, past grand exalted ruler of the Elks, will respond.

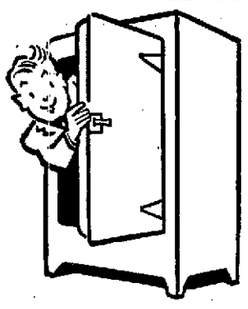

Business sessions will be held Tuesday morning when officers will be elected and the next convention city chosen. Scott Drum, of Hazleton, now vice-president, is unopposed for election to the presidency. Hazleton, Williamsport and Bethlehem lodges are actively campaigning for the 1935 convention.

The annual Elk memorial service will be held in the Gettysburg National Cemetery from the rostrum on which President Roosevelt delivered his Memorial Day address. In the afternoon the annual stag picnic will be held, followed in the evening by a ritualistic contest with a dozen or more lodge teams participating.

Auto Runs Over Young Boy's Toes

Henry Bowman, No. 70 Four Mile Run, Youngstown, reported to city police last night that his car had struck William Doran, age 8, of 940 Marshall avenue at East Washington street and Winslow avenue. The boy is reported to have run from the curb in the path of the car. Bowman took the lad to a physician. The car ran over his toes. He was not seriously hurt.

Wrecks Car In Effort To Miss Man On Highway

Howard Worrel Of Ellwood Escapes Injury When Car Overturns This Morning

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 17—In order to avoid striking a man coming from behind a parked auto on the highway, Howard Worrel of this city, wrecked his car when he swerved it away and it overturned.

Worrel was enroute to this city traveling on the Perrysville Highway about 1:40 this morning. He was about twelve miles south of Zellenople and was coming over the brow of a hill when he noticed another car standing crosswise along the highway. A man came from behind this, directly into the path of Worrel's car. In order to avoid striking him Worrel swerved his car away and into a ditch overturning it. He was uninjured. His car was considerably damaged.

The man on the highway and driver of the car was Roy Thomas.

Opposition For Colonel Peyton

Delegation At Eightieth Division Convention Voice Protest

(International News Service)

CONNEAUT LAKE PARK, Pa., Aug. 17.—Opposition to the possible renomination of National Commander E. G. Peyton was seen here today as a nominations committee worked over a slate of candidates for national offices at the fifteenth annual reunion here of the Eightieth Division, World War veterans.

Definitely opposed to any one succeeding himself in the post of national commander, a group of delegates was prepared to block at tomorrow's election an anticipated movement to nominate Peyton for a second term. Col. Peyton himself is quoted as favoring a change.

The nominations committee, headed by Rodney T. Bonsall, Philadelphia, includes the following:

J. J. Madden, Pittsburgh; H. A. McClaren, Philadelphia; James Farrar, Michael Cox, and Charles Descalzi, of Pittsburgh.

Phantom Gunman Is Being Hunted

Pittsburgh Building Contractor Is Wounded By Unknown Assailant

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17.—Otto Abraham, 29, Forest Hills building contractor, was shot and wounded by a phantom gunman here today while he was at work with several employes at Oakland cemetery.

Two rounds of gunfire was discharged at the victim by the assailant who operated under an impenetrable blanket of morning fog.

A witness to the shooting, James Kennedy, 28, a member of the Abraham crew, said he believed the "phantom" to be a negro paperhanger who had quit his job with the contractor and allegedly stolen some materials from Abraham.

Words Exchanged

Kennedy told police the two had been heard to exchange words over wages and the alleged thefts.

Surrounding residents roused by the shooting, police said rose in time to see the fugitive racing from the scene but they were able to supply only vague descriptions of the man.

Workmen rushed Abraham to nearby Magee hospital where, despite loss of blood, physicians held hopes for his recovery.

Pittburgh Man Is Given Loan; To Paint House

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17.—Uncle Sam today extended a helping hand from Washington to give Martin Metzger, street car motorman, a chance to paint his house.

Metzer, whose home is in McKees Rocks, was scheduled to obtain the first loan in this district made possible by the new federal housing association.

Yesterday the motorman made application to the First National Bank of McKees Rocks for a loan of $138. He had been planning for a long time on painting his six room, two story frame dwelling.

When he finished his "run" on the trolley at 3 p. m., today, he has an appointment at the bank to keep. He's getting the $138.

The bandit has his troubles. If you complain, he can't say that the code makes him do it.

Will They Be Reconciled?

At the same time a Hollywood photographer snapped Mary Pickford, screen star, entering her beautiful home, "Pickfair", upon her arrival from a business trip to the east, a New York cameraman caught her estranged husband, Douglas Fairbanks, waving a cheery greeting to New York as he returned to the United States following a long stay abroad. Neither would comment upon the possibility of a reconciliation.

Local Man's Auto Slightly Damaged

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 17—Ralph R. Ketterer of Mounted Route No. 7 Ellwood City obtained slight damages to his car in an accident four miles from New Castle on the Harlansburg road Thursday.

According to his report at the local police station Ketterer was rounding a curve when he observed a truck standing broadside on the road and another car in a ditch. He applied his brakes and pulled away just as the other car was pulled out of the ditch by the truck. Ketterer's car swerved and the front end hit the bank and the rear end of the truck. There was no damage to the truck.

KIN LURED BY MONEY

BOSTON—Although Louis Freedley of the south end told the old age pension board he was alone in the world, five second cousins came forward to claim $2,000 he had in a bank after he died. Freedly had received $500 from the board before his death.

Threat Is Given Commissioners In Elk County Case

Pot Of Tar And Feathers Found In Front Of Court House, Appeal Is Filed

(International News Service)

RIDGWAY, Pa., Aug. 17.—Seen as a threat to Elk county commissioners E. DeHaven Brown and Thomas H. Ledden, convicted on criminal charges recently but returned to office this week by a superior court supersedeas, a pot of tar and feathers was found on the sidewalk outside the county court house here today.

No note or message of any kind accompanied the deposit left on the county doorstep.

Brown and Ledden were sentenced by Judge E. H. Baird to serve six months in jail, pay the trial costs and fines of $500 following their conviction for alleged illegal dealings in land.

Appealing the conviction to the superior court, their counsel, Charles J. Margiotti, obtained a writ of supersedeas granting them their freedom pending disposal of the appeal.

The pot of tar and feathers was removed to the basement of the county courthouse as the commissioners met today for their first meeting since their release from jail.

Dynamite Sticks Found Near Garage

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.—Two eight-inch sticks of dynamite, the fuse of which had gone out after being lit, were discovered today on the threshold of the Miller Transportation Company garage here.

Following an investigation, detectives concluded that labor troubles may have been responsible for the attempted dynamiting.

Auto Runs Over Young Boy's Toes

Henry Bowman, No. 70 Four Mile Run, Youngstown, reported to city police last night that his car had struck William Doran, age 8, of 940 Marshall avenue at East Washington street and Winslow avenue. The boy is reported to have run from the curb in the path of the car. Bowman took the lad to a physician. The car ran over his toes. He was not seriously hurt.

Wrecks Car In Effort To Miss Man On Highway

Howard Worrel Of Ellwood Escapes Injury When Car Overturns This Morning

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 17—In order to avoid striking a man coming from behind a parked auto on the highway, Howard Worrel of this city, wrecked his car when he swerved it away and it overturned.

Worrel was enroute to this city traveling on the Perrysville Highway about 1:40 this morning. He was about twelve miles south of Zelienople and was coming over the brow of a hill when he noticed another car standing crosswise along the highway. A man came from behind this, directly into the path of Worrel's car. In order to avoid striking him Worrel swerved his car away and into a ditch overturning it. He was uninjured. His car was considerably damaged.

The man on the highway and driver of the car was Roy Thomas.

Opposition For Colonel Peyton

Delegation At Eightieth Division Convention Voice Protest

(International News Service)

CONNEAUT LAKE PARK, Pa., Aug. 17.—Opposition to the possible renomination of National Commander E. G. Peyton was seen here today as a nominations committee worked over a slate of candidates for national offices at the fifteenth annual reunion here of the Eightieth Division, World War veterans.

Definitely opposed to any one succeeding himself in the post of national commander, a group of delegates was prepared to block at tomorrow's election an anticipated movement to nominate Peyton for a second term. Col. Peyton himself is quoted as favoring a change.

The nominations committee, headed by Rodney T. Bonsall, Philadelphia, includes the following:

J. J. Madden, Pittsburgh; H. A. McClaren, Philadelphia; James Farrar, Michael Cox, and Charles Descalzi, of Pittsburgh.

Phantom Gunman Is Being Hunted

Pittsburgh Building Contractor Is Wounded By Unknown Assailant

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17.—Otto Abraham, 29, Forest Hills building contractor, was shot and wounded by a phantom gunman here today while he was at work with several employes at Oakland cemetery.

Two rounds of gunfire was discharged at the victim by the assailant who operated under an impenetrable blanket of morning fog.

A witness to the shooting, James Kennedy, 28, a member of the Abraham crew, said he believed the "phantom" to be a negro paperhanger who had quit his job with the contractor and allegedly stolen some materials from Abraham.

Words Exchanged

Kennedy told police the two had been heard to exchange words over wages and the alleged thefts.

Surrounding residents roused by the shooting, police said rose in time to see the fugitive racing from the scene but they were able to supply only vague descriptions of the man.

Workmen rushed Abraham to nearby Magee hospital where, despite loss of blood, physicians held hopes for his recovery.

Pittburgh Man Is Given Loan; To Paint House

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17.—Uncle Sam today extended a helping hand from Washington to give Martin Metzger, street car motorman, a chance to paint his house.

Metzer, whose home is in McKees Rocks, was scheduled to obtain the first loan in this district made possible by the new federal housing association.

Yesterday the motorman made application to the First National Bank of McKees Rocks for a loan of $138. He had been planning for a long time on painting his six room, two story frame dwelling.

When he finished his "run" on the trolley at 3 p. m., today, he has an appointment at the bank to keep. He's getting the $138.

The bandit has his troubles. If you complain, he can't say that the code makes him do it.

Will They Be Reconciled?

At the same time a Hollywood photographer snapped Mary Pickford, screen star, entering her beautiful home, "Pickfair", upon her arrival from a business trip to the east, a New York cameraman caught her estranged husband, Douglas Fairbanks, waving a cheery greeting to New York as he returned to the United States following a long stay abroad. Neither would comment upon the possibility of a reconciliation.

Local Man's Auto Slightly Damaged

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 17—Ralph R. Ketterer of Mounted Route No. 7 Ellwood City obtained slight damages to his car in an accident four miles from New Castle on the Harlansburg road Thursday.

According to his report at the local police station Ketterer was rounding a curve when he observed a truck standing broadside on the road and another car in a ditch. He applied his brakes and pulled away just as the other car was pulled out of the ditch by the truck. Ketterer's car swerved and the front end hit the bank and the rear end of the truck. There was no damage to the truck.

KIN LURED BY MONEY

BOSTON—Although Louis Freedley of the south end told the old age pension board he was alone in the world, five second cousins came forward to claim $2,000 he had in a bank after he died. Freedly had received $500 from the board before his death.

Correct This Sentence: "I have no idea how much I have gained," said she, "for I never weigh."

Threat Is Given Commissioners In Elk County Case

Pot Of Tar And Feathers Found In Front Of Court House, Appeal Is Filed

(International News Service)

RIDGWAY, Pa., Aug. 17.—Seen as a threat to Elk county commissioners E. DeHaven Brown and Thomas H. Ledden, convicted on criminal charges recently but returned to office this week by a superior court supersedeas, a pot of tar and feathers was found on the sidewalk outside the county court house here today.

No note or message of any kind accompanied the deposit left on the county doorstep.

Brown and Ledden were sentenced by Judge E. H. Baird to serve six months in jail, pay the trial costs and fines of $500 following their conviction for alleged illegal dealings in land.

Appealing the conviction to the superior court, their counsel, Charles J. Margiotti, obtained a writ of supersedeas granting them their freedom pending disposal of the appeal.

The pot of tar and feathers was removed to the basement of the county courthouse as the commissioners met today for their first meeting since their release from jail.

Dynamite Sticks Found Near Garage

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.—Two eight-inch sticks of dynamite, the fuse of which had gone out after being lit, were discovered today on the threshold of the Miller Transportation Company garage here.

Following an investigation, detectives concluded that labor troubles may have been responsible for the attempted dynamiting.

Employees Of Johnson Bronze To Hold Outing

First Annual Picnic Takes Place Saturday At Neshannock Falls

ANTHONY MARINO IS GENERAL CHAIRMAN

On Saturday afternoon at Neshannock Falls employes of the Johnson Bronze company, numbering over 500 persons, will enjoy their first annual outing. Anthony Marino, general chairman in charge, announced today that everything is in readiness for the occasion.

At 12:00 o'clock, from the plant on South Mill street, a cavalcade of busses and automobiles will leave for the picnic grounds, where a program which includes everything from a mushball contest to boxing bouts, will be enjoyed. An athletic program will also be staged during the course of the afternoon, Mr. Marino stated.

Company executives and their families have also been invited to attend the picnic. In charge of the dinner is, Mrs. Humbert Tranquillo, Miss Clara Tranquillo, Mrs. James Fetters, Mrs. Archie Cumo and Mrs. Marion Cumo.

With a break from the weather man, the first annual outing of the Johnson Bronze company is anticipated to be a marked success.

Rupps Attend Convention Of Tin Can Tourists

New Castle Represented At Convention Near Grand Rapids, Mich.

Up on the outskirts of Grand Rapids, Mich., the summer convention of the Tin Can Tourists association is now in progress and, like at every summer and winter convention of the organization for the past three years, New Castle is represented.

Among the 1,300 persons who are camping for the week in almost 400 tourist trailers or tents are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rupp of 210 East Grant street.

They wrote The News today to let residents know they weren't absent from the convention and, incidentally, to announce that they would be at the Florida convention next winter if everything goes alright. The Rupps only recently completed an automobile swing through the western states.

The Tin Can tourists were greeted by Grand Rapids, and Michigan state officials upon arriving, press clippings informed. Among the "houses on wheels," it was said, were many equipped in the most modern fashion. Most of the association's membership spends the greater part of the time in touring.

Miss Italy Is To Be Selected At Celebration

Popularity Contest Will Be Interesting Event Of St. Vitus Celebration

"Miss Italy" of New Castle will be selected on September 15 as a feature of the St. Vitus celebration which is being sponsored by a group of south side residents, according to announcement made this morning.

All Italian girls of the city may enter the contest if they are between the ages of 15 and 20 years. Judging will be made on a basis of "popularity" with a group of appointed citizens as the high tribunal. A nice prize will go to the winner.

The St. Vitus celebration will take place September 14 and 15, at a large bandstand which is to be erected on South Jefferson street.

Dwindling Growth In Population Makes Economists Wonder About Vast Regional Development Plan

By CHARLES P. STEWART
By Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, August 17.—The rapidly declining growth in America's population is a consideration which a few economists in Washington are fearful President Roosevelt has neglected to take into account in connection with his program of vast development in such regions as the Tennessee valley and the far northwest.

For some time experts like Prof. O. E. Baker of the agriculture department's research division have been raising the point:

"Who is to utilize these new opportunities as they are opened up?"

In an era when immigrants were pouring constantly into the country and large families were the rule no question of this sort presented itself. Today, however, while a decline has not actually set in, the rate of increase is dwindling fast, and Professor Baker (backed by many actuarial statistics) makes the prediction that national population will be stationary within two decades. Then, argues the professor, if there is an increase in some one particular area, it will follow that some other area will have to be correspondingly depleted.

* * *

Senator Henrik Shipstead of Minnesota has reasoned persistently, in agreement with Professor Baker, that the depression is, in considerable part, due to the shutting off of immigration and the consequent retarding of population's growth in a country industrially geared up to meet the requirements of a swiftly increasing number of inhabitants.

Chairman Samuel Dickstein of the house of representatives' committee on immigration likewise has emphasized again and again, "Labor forgets that an immigrant, though a producer, and thus in competition with workers we already have here, is a consumer, too; and may also have dependents, who are consumers 100 per cent."

Monsignor John A. Ryan, director of the social action department of the National Catholic Welfare council and one of America's foremost economists, in warning against an attempt to concentrate taxation upon land, says: "With a population approaching the static, the soil is losing its value; it is doubtful that taxes levied on it, alone, would support the government."

Professor Baker arrives at the conclusion, "A stationary population implies the necessity for a complete readjustment of our society and economics. We no longer are a people adapted to expansion and enterprise. We gravitate into an old man's country, which may do very well, but is quite a different thing from what we have had. If we are determined to grow old we must accept the limitation of age."

* * *

New Dealers apparently are not altogether unmindful of the peculiar situation which presents itself.

That is to say, they propose a wholesale transfer from the so-called "sub-marginal" sections to the richer ones they promise to open to settlement—a huge migration from the drouth-stricken belt to the realm they promise to create by means of projects of the order of Tennessee Valley's and the Grand Coulee's.

Not an immigration proposition, but a general shifting about of home folks.

The scheme has its contradictions, however.

The drouth sufferers will be needed to fill up the reclaimed far northwest—if the plan to reclaim it proves a success.

Yet the drouth sufferers are to be protected where they are—by a 100-mile-wide belt of trees.

* * *

There are many hints, too, that the drouth sufferers are little inclined to move.

They may be in hard luck, but they have been accustomed to farm on a vast scale—to crop failures three or four years out of five, but to a big clean-up now and then. The idea of "subsistence farming" (a living almost guaranteed, but never a prospect of drawing a capital prize) doesn't appeal to them.

In short, is the plan fully thought out?

FEAR OF A CURSE STOPPED PROSECUTION

(International News Service)

SUNBURY, Pa., Aug. 17.—His fear of a "curse" led J. M. Smith of Milton to quash the prosecution against "Madame Susie," a palmist, whom he had accused of swindling him of $200.

Explaining that the case had been "preying upon his mind for the last few weeks," Smith withdrew charges against the palmist as police were about to arrest her in Washington where she had fled.

He said he paid the seeress $200 when she promised to secure for him a position that would pay at least $300 monthly.

New Type Of Aircraft To Be Seen At Show

Every type of aircraft that has been used since first man found he could fly will be on display in the Cleveland air show which will be held August 31 to September 3. The meet will mark the 25th year of air meets in the United States and the sponsors have promised a show that will surpass anything of previous years.

From the pre-war "pusher" type of airplane to the latest racing craft with a speed of five miles per minute the whole parade of air craft will go at the Cleveland airport.

The most famous speedsters of the world, the stunt men, the clowns of the ether and the trick performers, all of them are scheduled for this year's air show in Cleveland and the program arranged promises to give the fans the thrill of their lives.

Dramatic Club To Present Play

Members Of Emergency Education Relief Club Plan Another Presentation

SPLENDID CAST HAS BEEN CHOSEN

One of the most hilarious comedies ever presented here is promised by the Emergency Educational Relief Dramatic club, of which Dr. C. C. Green, superintendent of schools, is sponsor, when they present "Her Step-Husband" in the George Washington junior high school, August 24, at 8:30.

The cast will include the following:

Stella—Ruth Shale
Sylvia Allen—Violet Shuler
Mary Marshall—Harriet Kline
Harvey P. Marshall — Delbert Fletcher
Limpy Lanigan—Anthony Mick
Aunt Emmy—Frances Cope
Florence Ainslee—Irene Hasulak
Dr. Gerald Niles—Amil Le Lenko
Officer Shea—Hugh Hannon.

Howard McCreary Wylie, who had charge of the dramatic classes in the Emergency Relief Schools last winter, and who directed "Hold That Pose," is the director of the coming production.

The scenic effects will be produced under the direction of John Stanley, assisted by Pat O'Brien. Michael Quinn, and Elmo Pape. David Dicks and Earl Artz, are business managers, and only a small admission will be charged to take care of the royalty on the play.

Calls Meeting Of Credit Managers

Manager Ray F. Hall Will Preside At Meeting In Butler, Monday

Manager Ray F. Hall of the New Castle Credit Exchange has called a meetings of all credit managers of the Western district of Pennsylvania of which he is supervisor as vice president of the Associated Credit Bureaus of Pennsylvania for Monday evening, August 20 in Butler.

The western district includes twenty four counties and the meeting is expected to be largely attended by the managers of the various cerdit bureaus in these counties along with members of their staffs.

Mr. Hall will preside at the meeting Monday evening, which is for the purpose of effecting a better organization of the different bureaus in the district.

Auto Runs Over Young Boy's Toes

Henry Bowman, No. 70 Four Mile Run, Youngstown, reported to city police last night that his car had struck William Doran, age 8, of 940 Marshall avenue at East Washington street and Winslow avenue. The boy is reported to have run from the curb in the path of the car. Bowman took the lad to a physician. The car ran over his toes. He was not seriously hurt.

Wrecks Car In Effort To Miss Man On Highway

Howard Worrel Of Ellwood Escapes Injury When Car Overturns This Morning

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 17—In order to avoid striking a man coming from behind a parked auto on the highway, Howard Worrel of this city, wrecked his car when he swerved it away and it overturned.

Worrel was enroute to this city traveling on the Perrysville Highway about 1:40 this morning. He was about twelve miles south of Zelienople and was coming over the brow of a hill when he noticed another car standing crosswise along the highway. A man came from behind this, directly into the path of Worrel's car. In order to avoid striking him Worrel swerved his car away and into a ditch overturning it. He was uninjured. His car was considerably damaged.

The man on the highway and driver of the car was Roy Thomas.

Opposition For Colonel Peyton

Delegation At Eightieth Division Convention Voice Protest

(International News Service)

CONNEAUT LAKE PARK, Pa., Aug. 17.—Opposition to the possible renomination of National Commander E. G. Peyton was seen here today as a nominations committee worked over a slate of candidates for national offices at the fifteenth annual reunion here of the Eightieth Division, World War veterans.

Definitely opposed to any one succeeding himself in the post of national commander, a group of delegates was prepared to block at tomorrow's election an anticipated movement to nominate Peyton for a second term. Col. Peyton himself is quoted as favoring a change.

The nominations committee, headed by Rodney T. Bonsall, Philadelphia, includes the following:

J. J. Madden, Pittsburgh; H. A. McClaren, Philadelphia; James Farrar, Michael Cox, and Charles Descalzi, of Pittsburgh.

Bids Opened On Highway Projects

(International News Service)

HARRISBURG, Aug. 17.—Bids were opened today by the Department of Highways on 15 highway and bridge construction projects, involving 23.5 miles. Contractors submited 89 bids. Unofficial low bidders included:

Clarion—1.3 miles on route 66; Holmes Construction Co., Wooster, O., $57,822.

Erie—.8 of a mile of rural route 25029; Charles H. Fry Construction Co., Erie, $33,022.

McKean—4.3 miles on route 59; Tri-State Engineering Co., Waynesburg, $134,184.

Warren—1.3 miles on route 77; Baldwin Bros. Paving Co., Cleveland, O., $52,020.

Phantom Gunman Is Being Hunted

Pittsburgh Building Contractor Is Wounded By Unknown Assailant

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17.—Otto Abraham, 29, Forest Hills building contractor, was shot and wounded by a phantom gunman here today while he was at work with several employes at Oakland cemetery.

Two rounds of gunfire was discharged at the victim by the assailant who operated under an impenetrable blanket of morning fog.

A witness to the shooting, James Kennedy, 28, a member of the Abraham crew, said he believed the "phantom" to be a negro paperhanger who had quit his job with the contractor and allegedly stolen some materials from Abraham.

Words Exchanged

Kennedy told police the two had been heard to exchange words over wages and the alleged thefts.

Surrounding residents roused by the shooting, police said rose in time to see the fugitive racing from the scene but they were able to supply only vague descriptions of the man.

Workmen rushed Abraham to nearby Magee hospital where, despite loss of blood, physicians held hopes for his recovery.

Pittburgh Man Is Given Loan; To Paint House

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17.—Uncle Sam today extended a helping hand from Washington to give Martin Metzger, street car motorman, a chance to paint his house.

Metzer, whose home is in McKees Rocks, was scheduled to obtain the first loan in this district made possible by the new federal housing association.

Yesterday the motorman made application to the First National Bank of McKees Rocks for a loan of $138. He had been planning for a long time on painting his six room, two story frame dwelling.

When he finished his "run" on the trolley at 3 p. m., today, he has an appointment at the bank to keep. He's getting the $138.

The bandit has his troubles. If you complain, he can't say that the code makes him do it.

Will They Be Reconciled?

At the same time a Hollywood photographer snapped Mary Pickford, screen star, entering her beautiful home, "Pickfair", upon her arrival from a business trip to the east, a New York cameraman caught her estranged husband, Douglas Fairbanks, waving a cheery greeting to New York as he returned to the United States following a long stay abroad. Neither would comment upon the possibility of a reconciliation.

Local Man's Auto Slightly Damaged

ELLWOOD CITY, Aug. 17—Ralph R. Ketterer of Mounted Route No. 7 Ellwood City obtained slight damages to his car in an accident four miles from New Castle on the Harlansburg road Thursday.

According to his report at the local police station Ketterer was rounding a curve when he observed a truck standing broadside on the road and another car in a ditch. He applied his brakes and pulled away just as the other car was pulled out of the ditch by the truck. Ketterer's car swerved and the front end hit the bank and the rear end of the truck. There was no damage to the truck.

KIN LURED BY MONEY

BOSTON—Although Louis Freedley of the south end told the old age pension board he was alone in the world, five second cousins came forward to claim $2,000 he had in a bank after he died. Freedly had received $500 from the board before his death.

Correct This Sentence: "I have no idea how much I have gained," said she, "for I never weigh."

Threat Is Given Commissioners In Elk County Case

Pot Of Tar And Feathers Found In Front Of Court House, Appeal Is Filed

(International News Service)

RIDGWAY, Pa., Aug. 17.—Seen as a threat to Elk county commissioners E. DeHaven Brown and Thomas H. Ledden, convicted on criminal charges recently but returned to office this week by a superior court supersedeas, a pot of tar and feathers was found on the sidewalk outside the county court house here today.

No note or message of any kind accompanied the deposit left on the county doorstep.

Brown and Ledden were sentenced by Judge E. H. Baird to serve six months in jail, pay the trial costs and fines of $500 following their conviction for alleged illegal dealings in land.

Appealing the conviction to the superior court, their counsel, Charles J. Margiotti, obtained a writ of supersedeas granting them their freedom pending disposal of the appeal.

The pot of tar and feathers was removed to the basement of the county courthouse as the commissioners met today for their first meeting since their release from jail.

Dynamite Sticks Found Near Garage

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.—Two eight-inch sticks of dynamite, the fuse of which had gone out after being lit, were discovered today on the threshold of the Miller Transportation Company garage here.

Following an investigation, detectives concluded that labor troubles may have been responsible for the attempted dynamiting.

Scotland Reunion At Union High

Scotland school reunion will be held this year at the Union township high school building, according to announcement by S. L. Wilson, president of the association. Dinner will be served at 6 p. m. on Wednesday evening, August 22nd. All pupils who attended the Scotland school, and teachers, up to and including 1910 are invited to attend.

Parachute Jump Scheduled For Local Airport

Another of those thrilling parachute jumps is scheduled for the New Castle airport Sunday afternoon, according to an announcement made by Findley Wilson, chief pilot today. The jump will take place over the local airport, and will be made in connection with Children's Day at the local airport Sunday.

322ND ARTILLERY PLANS FOR REUNION

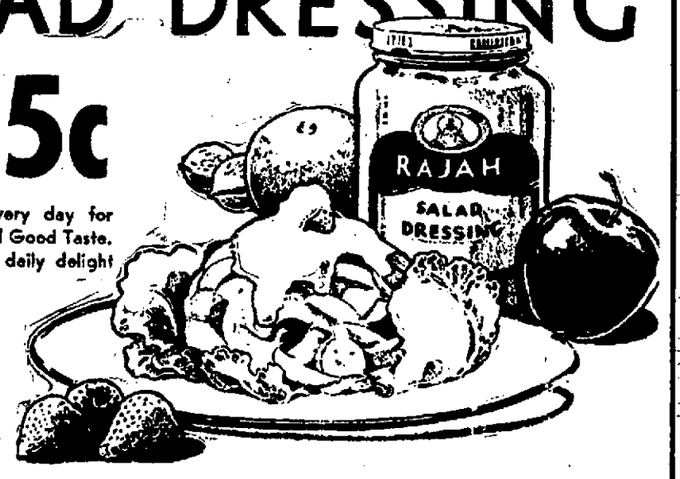

Members of the 322nd Field Artillery association, composed of World war veterans, will have their 1934 reunion at McCrabb's park, Dayton, O., on Saturday, September 15. All former members are urged to attend this reunion.

An interesting program has been planned for the occasion and a large attendance is looked for.

Members who have failed to receive notice of the reunion or who have changed their address, are asked to communicate with Carl Woessner, in care of the M. D. Larkin Co., Dayton, O., or L. B. Fritsch, box 324, Hamilton, O.

New Goldfield Is Discovered

Two Americans Operate Rich Gold Vein Found In Portuguese Area

(International News Service)

PARIS, Aug. 17.—Two Americans are reopening one of the richest goldfields of the ancient Roman empire, it was learned today.

They have rediscovered the Portuguese mines which contributed largely to the wealth of the Caesars but which have been unused since the fall of the Roman empire in 476 A. D.

One of the Americans in this strange mining venture is John G. Hopper of San Francisco, mining engineer, explorer, inventor, one of the first Americans to join the Foreign Legion during the world war and a former associate of Herbert Hoover in the development of Mexican gold mines.

The other is Arthur Prill, a picturesque oldtime California prospector.

Both are all set to start digging. The goldfields are situated around the little country village of Vila De Rei, 20 miles north of the Tagus river.

Hopper said in explaining his find, "The field is one of the richest I have ever seen. We have found lodes which are assaying at 8 to 20 grams per ton."

Program For Eisteddfod Is Announced Today

Many Entrants Are Looked For In Event Sponsored By Croton M. E. Church

Announcement was made by Rev. C. S. Joshua pastor of the Croton M. E. church of the arrangements for the Eisteddfod which will take place September 8, at the pavilion at Castle Beach.

Prof. Allan B. Davis, director of music at Westminster College will be adjudicator of music: Griffith Thomas of this city will be adjudicator of the literary numbers: and Rev. Reese Williams will be the conductor. Miss Ann Thomas will be accompanist for the musical numbers. The secretary is Mrs. Clara Campbell, of Dewey avenue and all entries must be placed in her hands by Wednesday, September 5.

The numbers to be contested for will be as follows:

Solo—boy or girl under 12, "In the Garden"

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for the past 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m. August 16, five arrests on charges as follows: violation of parking law 1, drunk 1, suspicion 1, disorderly conduct 1.

Photographs of the slain desperado John Dillinger have been removed from bulletin boards not only in other police stations but also here but there still remains the photograph of Lester M. Gillis, alias "Baby Face" Nelson. He was a member of the Dillinger gang and is on the "lam" which means the run with the department of justice and police on his trail. His photograph is hung in the city police station and his fingerprints are on file. The government has offered a reward of $2,500, for information leading to his arrest and a reward of $5,000, for his arrest. He is accused of having shot and killed Special Agent W. C. Baum, of the division of investigation, department of justice in the raid at Rhinelander, Wis.

Reports in city hall state that some of the railroad police here plan to secure radios for cooperative purposes. It is a known fact that in most instances here criminals flee to railroad yards which are on the outskirts of the city. Whenever a broadcast is made at the police station, the railroad police will secure the information at the same time as the cruiser cars and will be able to comb yards for fugitives. It is not yet known if the county commissioners will equip the sheriff's car with radios.

City hall offices closed at noon yesterday so that some of the employes who annually participate in the Old Timers reunion could celebrate. It is said that the city hall offices will close at noon when the Lawrence County Merchants hold their picnic within the near future.

Physical examination of candidates for the department of fire will be held in council chambers, city hall tonight, according to Attorney Ralph Cooper, who is secretary of the board of examiners for firemen and police. The mental test will be given the candidates Monday.

Kentucky rock which was removed from a section of East Long avenue and replaced by amiesite will be used as the top or surface of the section which is being improved in North Mercer street between Sheridan and Euclid avenue.

Some weeks ago a bill was introduced appropriating $2,500 for the salary of an engineer to make a survey of electrical conditions here. The bill has not been adopted. It is reported that it will cost more than $2,500, to make the survey. No engineer has yet been employed, officials state.

There have been about a score requests for booklets and a map concerning New Castle. Some of the inhabitants of city hall when asked about them did not know where they could be obtained. All one needs do is to hand Neil Williams 50 cents and he will be accommodated quickly.

The new city automobiles have not yet been delivered. It has been quite some time since they were purchased. . . . George Wyman, patrolman, went on the job under Mayor Jackson in 1902. . . . Duke Byers, fireman has served the city about 42 years, reports say. He may retire this fall.

County commissioners passed a resolution today extending for ninety days the time during which county and poor taxes may be paid at their face. Ordinarily County Treasurer Pitts would place the duplicates in the hands of collectors on September 1, when five per cent would be added. On account of the economic conditions the commissioners believe that it is good policy to retain the books at the treasurer's office until December 1, when they will go into the hands of the collectors.

James Jones has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Mose Horton of Slippery Rock township to recover $20,000 damages as the result of an accident on the Ellwood-Portersville road. Jones was driving a horse and wagon along the road in the vicinity of the Pleasant Hill grange when he was struck by an auto driven by Horton. Plaintiff was injured both externally and internally and claims that his injuries are of a permanent character. Jones claims that he was driving east and Horton west and that Horton came across the center line of the road, causing the accident. The wagon was demolished and the horse was so badly injured that it had to be shot.

Complaint has been made to the county commissioners that since the re-paving of the Youngstown road water collects in the Scotland school yard, practically covering the yard during a heavy rain. The road at this point is higher than the school lot, and the owner of land on one side of the school lot has filled it in, so that there is no way for the water to run off. The county commissioners say that it is up to the Union township road supervisors to take care of the situation.

The court has granted permission for a settlement of the case of George Johnson by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson against the Pennsylvania Power Company. The case was rather a peculiar one. The Power company had a pole on Johnson street in the Youngstown hill district, on which there were spikes for climbing. The boy was climbing the pole when it fell and he was injured.

County commissioners have the county home well stocked with coal which, it is figured, will last until Christmas. Several car loads came to the local yards recently consigned to a dealer who was unable to pay cash for it. The county commissioners were offered the cars at a substantial reduction in price and thereby saved the county considerable money. During the coming winter the commissioners will have to buy coal for such of the indigent as are on the county relief rolls, but those on the city relief will be taken care of through the funds allocated by the state. The county only takes care of old persons and those who are unable to work.

Our good old sovereign state of Pennsylvania complains that folks are not buying the great quantity of booze they should from the state stores, thus depriving the state of money it counted on to feed the hungry and take care of the blind. The control board has visions of millions rolling in whereas the only control was in the hearts of citizens who refuse to over indulge. It's a strange contrast to the recent past when the courts were filled with petty cases of persons who were caught with flasks on their hips. Then it was a crime for a man to drink; now the state complains because he does not drink enough. They're even going to take the import tax off liquor for a season, with object in view of forcing down the price. It is figured that with the price reduced there will be more drinking and consequently more money for benevolent organizations to hand out in so called charity. In other words you deprive the wives and children of booze guzzlers in order to get a few paltry dollars to hand out to somebody else. Then a great hullabaloo is raised about the profits from the liquor business and how it is helping to solve the problems of the needy. Great stuff.

New Goldfield Is Discovered

Two Americans Operate Rich Gold Vein Found In Portuguese Area

(International News Service)

PARIS, Aug. 17.—Two Americans are reopening one of the richest goldfields of the ancient Roman empire, it was learned today.

They have rediscovered the Portuguese mines which contributed largely to the wealth of the Caesars but which have been unused since the fall of the Roman empire in 476 A. D.

One of the Americans in this strange mining venture is John G. Hopper of San Francisco, mining engineer, explorer, inventor, one of the first Americans to join the Foreign Legion during the world war and a former associate of Herbert Hoover in the development of Mexican gold mines.

The other is Arthur Prill, a picturesque oldtime California prospector.

Both are all set to start digging. The goldfields are situated around the little country village of Vila De Rei, 20 miles north of the Tagus river.

Hopper said in explaining his find, "The field is one of the richest I have ever seen. We have found lodes which are assaying at 8 to 20 grams per ton."

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for the past 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m. August 16, five arrests on charges as follows: violation of parking law 1, drunk 1, suspicion 1, disorderly conduct 1.

Photographs of the slain desperado John Dillinger have been removed from bulletin boards not only in other police stations but also here but there still remains the photograph of Lester M. Gillis, alias "Baby Face" Nelson. He was a member of the Dillinger gang and is on the "lam" which means the run with the department of justice and police on his trail. His protograph is hung in the city police station and his fingerprints are on file. The government has offered a reward of $2,500, for information leading to his arrest and a reward of $5,000, for his arrest. He is accused of having shot and killed Special Agent W. C. Baum, of the division of investigation, department of justice in the raid at Rhinelander, Wis.

Reports in city hall state that some of the railroad police here plan to secure radios for cooperative purposes. It is a known fact that in most instances here criminals flee to railroad yards which are on the outskirts of the city. Whenever a broadcast is made at the police station, the railroad police will secure the information at the same time as the cruiser cars and will be able to comb yards for fugitives. It is not yet known if the county commissioners will equip the sheriff's car with radios.

City hall offices closed at noon yesterday so that some of the employes who annually participate in the Old Timers reunion could celebrate. It is said that the city hall offices will close at noon when the Lawrence County Merchants hold their picnic within the near future.

Physical examination of candidates for the department of fire will be held in council chambers, city hall tonight, according to Attorney Ralph Cooper, who is secretary of the board of examiners for firemen and police. The mental test will be given the candidates Monday.

Kentucky rock which was removed from a section of East Long avenue and replaced by amiesite will be used as the top or surface of the section which is being improved in North Mercer street between Sheridan and Euclid avenue.

Some weeks ago a bill was introduced appropriating $2,500 for the salary of an engineer to make a survey of electrical conditions here. The bill has not been adopted. It is reported that it will cost more than $2,500, to make the survey. No engineer has yet been employed, officials state.

There have been about a score requests for booklets and a map concerning New Castle. Some of the inhabitants of city hall when asked about them did not know where they could be obtained. All one needs do is to hand Neil Williams 50 cents and he will be accommodated quickly.

The new city automobiles have not yet been delivered. It has been quite some time since they were purchased. . . . George Wyman, patrolman, went on the job under Mayor Jackson in 1902. . . . Duke Byers, fireman has served the city about 42 years, reports say. He may retire this fall.

WHERE YOU GET THE GREATEST VALUE IN GASOLINE HISTORY

1 XTRA LUBRICATION ... AT NO EXTRA COST

Built into every gallon at the refinery is a special lubricant that not only conquers the terrific heat and friction of upper cylinders, but is also an active carbon solvent. Don't pay extra for a top cylinder lubricant. Buy Tydol. It lubricates as it drives.

2 XTRA HIGH ANTI-KNOCK ... AT NO EXTRA COST

Now tetraethyl lead, formerly used only in premium priced motor fuels, is yours in Triple "X" Tydol.

3 XTRA POWER ... AT NO EXTRA COST

There is no gasoline that gives you greater power or mileage than this sensational motor fuel. Prove it in your own car.

On Court House Hill

County commissioners passed a resolution today extending for ninety days the time during which county and poor taxes may be paid at their face. Ordinarily County Treasurer Pitts would place the duplicates in the hands of collectors on September 1, when five per cent would be added. On account of the economic conditions the commissioners believe that it is good policy to retain the books at the treasurer's office until December 1, when they will go into the hands of the collectors.

James Jones has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Mose Horton of Slippery Rock township to recover $20,000 damages as the result of an accident on the Ellwood-Portersville road. Jones was driving a horse and wagon along the road in the vicinity of the Pleasant Hill grange when he was struck by an auto driven by Horton. Plaintiff was injured both externally and internally and claims that his injuries are of a permanent character. Jones claims that he was driving east and Horton west and that Horton came across the center line of the road, causing the accident. The wagon was demolished and the horse was so badly injured that it had to be shot.

Complaint has been made to the county commissioners that since the re-paving of the Youngstown road water collects in the Scotland school yard, practically covering the yard during a heavy rain. The road at this point is higher than the school lot, and the owner of land on one side of the school lot has filled it in, so that there is no way for the water to run off. The county commissioners say that it is up to the Union township road supervisors to take care of the situation.

The court has granted permission for a settlement of the case of George Johnson by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson against the Pennsylvania Power Company. The case was rather a peculiar one. The Power company had a pole on Johnson street in the Youngstown hill district, on which there were spikes for climbing. The boy was climbing the pole when it fell and he was injured.

County commissioners have the county home well stocked with coal which, it is figured, will last until Christmas. Several car loads came to the local yards recently consigned to a dealer who was unable to pay cash for it. The county commissioners were offered the cars at a substantial reduction in price and thereby saved the county considerable money. During the coming winter the commissioners will have to buy coal for such of the indigent as are on the county relief rolls, but those on the city relief will be taken care of through the funds allocated by the state. The county only takes care of old persons and those who are unable to work.

Our good old sovereign state of Pennsylvania complains that folks are not buying the great quantity of booze they should from the state stores, thus depriving the state of money it counted on to feed the hungry and take care of the blind. The control board has visions of millions rolling in whereas the only control was in the hearts of citizens who refuse to over indulge. It's a strange contrast to the recent past when the courts were filled with petty cases of persons who were caught with flasks on their hips. Then it was a crime for a man to drink; now the state complains because he does not drink enough. They're even going to take the import tax off liquor for a season, with object in view of forcing down the price. It is figured that with the price reduced there will be more drinking and consequently more money for benevolent organizations to hand out in so called charity. In other words you deprive the wives and children of booze guzzlers in order to get a few paltry dollars to hand out to somebody else. Then a great hullabaloo is raised about the profits from the liquor business and how it is helping to solve the problems of the needy. Great stuff.

IT IS A LONG and interesting journey from the bottom of a 3,000 foot gas well in some far distant point to the gas appliance in your home.
Briefly, it is this—the gas is collected in gathering lines from the producing wells in the scattered fields and piped to main line compressor stations where, under very high pressure, it is compressed into main transmission lines which carry it many miles to the city distribution plants. Here the pressure is reduced and the gas is carried to regulators located at strategic points, where the pressure is again reduced to a few ounces per square inch. From the district regulator gas is piped through the meter and through the house lines to the gas burner of your appliances.
Each of these stages is an interesting story in itself. For instance there is a great deal of work necessary to determine where wells should be drilled. This interesting geological work will be discussed at a later date.

Merchants And Clifton Flats To Play Series

American League Winners And National League Champs To Meet Monday Night

RYANTOWN WILL BATTLE WINNERS

Clifton Flats winners of the National league second half and New Castle Merchants winners of the American League second half will battle it out in a three game series for the right to play Ryantown in a five game series for the Independent league championship. The first game of the Flats-Merchants series will start at the Clifton field at 5:30 o'clock Monday night.

All of the games will be played at the Flats field. The second game has been scheduled for Wednesday night and the third game if necessary will be played Friday or Saturday. Arrangements for the series were made at a meeting of Kenneth Lutz, president of the Independent league and the managers of the Flats and Merchants teams Wednesday night at the "Y."

Fruit and Bishop have been selected as the umpires for the series games. All of the series twilight games will start at 5:30 o'clock.

The followers of both teams are anxious for the series to start and it is expected that over a thousand fans will witness the first battle on Monday night. Both teams have plenty of long distance hitters and clever pitchers.

Eagleson Hurls Three-Hit Game

"Bob" Eagleson ace pitcher of the New Wilmington Juniors, was drafted by the New Wilmington A. A. to pitch against Eastbrook at the College field on Wednesday night.

Eagleson was in rare form as he allowed the visitors but three hits, and won handily to the tune of 6-2. McKee, slow-ball artist of the Eastbrook nine, was found for nine hits from the Wilmington bludgeons. This game avenged an earlier defeat of the local nine when McKee flipped a three hit game.

Saturday afternoon the Colonial A. C. of New Castle will go to New Wilmington to play the fast A. A. team at the college field. The New Castle team holds four victories over the Wilmingtons this year. Eagleson will hurl for New Wilmington.

Cardinals Win Without Deans

Cards Whip Phillies Twice As Deans Refuse To Play; Giants-Pirates Idle

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The absence of the two Deans—Dizzy and Paul—from the Cardinals lineup may, in the long run, cause the St. Louis club a great deal of woe, but for the time being at least, Frankie Frisch's team seems to be doing very well without the eccentric pair.

Yesterday for example the Cards swept both ends of a twin bill with the Phillies, 4-3 and 7-2.

Out in Cincinnati where the Reds clashed with the Brooklyn Dodgers a bit of major tragedy was witnessed. Owen Carroll making his first start for the Dodgers since April was unceremoniously shelled from the mound as the Redlegs won by a score of 8 to 1.

The world's champion New York Giants and the Pittsburgh Pirates were idle, but the Chicago Cubs failed to take advantage of an opportunity to gain on the Terrymen. The Cubs split a doubleheader with the Boston Braves, taking the first game, 3-2, in ten innings, but dropping the night cap, 6 to 1.

No games were played in the American League.

George Trainor In Semi-Finals At Pittsburgh

Trainor Defeats Fred Brand, Jr., And R. W. Thompson In Early Round Matches

PLAYS BENSON IN MATCH TODAY

George Trainor, the long hitting New Castle Field Club golfer is making history for New Castle in the golfing world at Pittsburgh this week. Today Trainor stands as one of the semi-finalists in the West Penn Amateur golfing tourney being staged at the tricky Pittsburgh Country Club layout.

Trainor was only two strokes under the qualifying medalists on the first day of the tourney with a 79 card. In the first round match yesterday Trainor defeated Fred Brand, Jr., 1927 Shanopin champion 4 and 3 in a brilliant match and then paired against Robert W. Thompson of Ellwood City and New Castle in the second round eliminated the long hitting Thompson 5 and 3.

Low Medal Cards

Incidentally Trainor and Thompson the local boys played the best golf of the tourney yesterday having the lowest cards turned in. Trainor shot the first nine in 37 and Thompson had a 39.

Today Trainor will take on Jack Benson of the South Hills Country Club in a semi-final match, while Dr. Tom Canon will play John Wayman of the St. Clair Country Club in the other semi-final match.

Trainor's many friends are pulling for the local big fellow to come through with the title this year. Trainor with his powerful build is the longest hitter in the tourney.

St. Marys-St. Josephs Retain Leadership In Church League

Deadlock With First Christians, First Presbyterian "A" Team Climbs

New Castle Church golfing league is still ruled by the St. Marys-St. Josephs team although the First Christians threw a scare into the Saints last night at Castle Hills golf course by deadlocking in their match at three points apiece. The St. Marys-St. Josephs team still leads the league by 2½ points over the First Presbyterian "A" team.

The First Presbyterian "A" team put a crimp in the aspirations of the First Presbyterian "B" team last night by a 4 to 2 defeat. The Trinity team upset the First U. P. team 4 to 2, and the Highland and Methodist teams split 3-3.

Three 38 Cards

The medalist honors were split three ways last night with Robert M. Garland, Bud Long and Joe Fisher each turning in brilliant 38 cards. Sam Lewis, Hackett Kennedy and Jimmy Smith each recorded 39's. Other low scores were Jim Vondereau 41, Brad McGonigle 43, Chris Clark 41, Elmer Whittaker 42, Peter Kariher 43, Jack Waddington 42, Dick Dana 42, Morgan Jones 43, Dave Long 43, Dr. Ted Heess 43, and Russ Magill 44.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Hack Wilson has been the bad luck boy of the Dodger outfit this season and now that he has been fired and is with the Phils he hopes to twist the tail of the Jinx and start cloutin' the old apple on the nostril. Hack was in a slump and ill graces of his employers and when waivers were asked none of the clubs in either circuit apparently wanted any part of him. The Dodgers let him go and Jimmy Wilson of the Phils gave him the brotherly hand. Brooklyn gave him his 10 days salary and as the Phils didn't have to pay the $4,500 waiver price they are naturally inclined to give him a longer chance to make good. And Hack may because the Phils bandbox park is ideally suited to a slugger of his type. Further he is playing for a manager who always liked his slugging and who believes that Mack can come back. It may come about that getting fired may have been a piece of fortune for Hack. Only time can tell.

When Billy Soose beat Custy Morini at Farrell a few nights ago it must have been a bitter pill for Custy and his manager, Jerome Maguire, to swallow. At that there are some fistic boys hereabouts who do not believe Custy was at his best. He certainly wasn't when he milled with Frankie Pershing here. Custy has not fought often enough and the tilt which he lost to Soose who is a very good boxer may be but the first of several scraps they will stage.

Dizzy Dean's name is Jay Hannah Dean and as he has beaten the Giants about a score times this season he appropriately could be called "Hard Hearted Hannah!" . . . . No longer will monkeys be permitted to ride dogs in races in New Jersey. . . . . Walter Neusel and Max Schmeling will fight for the championship of Germany, August 26. . . . . The winner may get a chance in the heavyweight eliminations to be held in America but if Max wins he will have to win impressively to get the chance.

Youth serves third base, according to reports from the various baseball clubs. For instance, Jack Saltsgaver covers the hot corner for the Yankees and is 28 years old. Cecil Travers, 20, cavorts at that post for the Senators and Frank Higgins, 25, has proved his adaptability in caring for that position on the A's. Stanley Hack, 25, romps there for the Cubs and Harland Clift, 21, has erased many of the wrinkles from the brow of Rogers Hornsby. Marvin Owen, 26, holds the third base berth for the Detroit Tigers and Bucky Walters, 23, from the Pacific coast covers third for the Phils.

There are several boxing shows in the near future in this vicinity, the first of which will be Saturday night at Conneaut Lake. The show is being held in connection with the 80th Division Vets Association. Fritzie Zivic and Young Joe Firpo will do the honors in the last bout. The Beaver Falls police and the American Legion Post of that city will sponsor an amateur show for the benefit of the Providence hospital, August 23, at the Beaver Falls high school field. Some of the boxers who participated in the police show here have been signed for the Beaver Valley show.

Herman Morris Picks All-Stars

Tolan A. C. Pitcher Comes Through With Selection Of All-Star Team

Herman Morris, one of the best softball pitchers in New Castle, a member of the Tolan A. C., today came through with an American league all-star lineup that looks like a "honey". Morris thinks that his all-stars could give any team in either league a tough battle.

The all-stars as picked by Morris:
Vigali, Scarazzos, right-short.
Tex Richards, Scarazzos, catch.
Clause, Unions, center field.
Must, Hannons, right field.
N. Ritchie, Unions, second base.
Engs, Tolans, third base.
Kelly, Saks, short.
Marks, Tolans, first base.
Al Ritchie, Unions, pitcher.

Flats To Play Elders Sunday

Clifton Flats will play the strong Elder A. C. team at the Clifton Flats field Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock Monday night, it was announced today. The flats team wants revenge on the Elders for stopping their winning streak a few weeks ago. Ed Lamm will probably be on the mound again for the Elders, with Jones slated to pitch for the Flats.

Unions-Saks To Play Second Of Series Battles

Al Ritchie Will Try For Second Win Over Saks Tonight At Centennial Field

Tonight at Centennial Field at 6 o'clock the Union Brewery team will play the Saks in the second game of the current series for the American league second-half championship. The Unions already have one leg on the title with a brilliant 4 to 3 victory on Tuesday evening.

Manager John Fair said today "I am going to send Al Ritchie back against the Saks".

Ritchie Seeks 26th

Ritchie is the youngster who set the Saks down on their ears Tuesday evening at Centennial Field in a brilliant battle. Ritchie has won 25 games this year, being the leading softball pitcher in New Castle. Ray Ritchie will go behind the plate for the Unions.

Managers Kelly and Melder of the Saks will probably send "Irv" Rubeis back to the mound, with Joe Isabella also a likely choice. Isabella has asked for a chance to take the measure of the Unions and his request may be granted.

Heavy Sluggers

The big stick artists of the two teams are getting their eyes tuned up for some heavy slugging tonight. Mike Polenick was the feature batter of the first series game with a homer and double, while Clause and Joe Fair of the Unions pounded the ball hard. All three of these boys are dangerous batters.

If the Unions win tonight, the series for the American league championship with the Scarazzos will start next Tuesday evening at Centennial Field. The series for the championship of the league will be the best out of five games. If the Saks win tonight, the third game of the series for the second-half championship will be played Sunday afternoon at Centennial Field.

President Walther of the Lawrence County softball association has assigned Earl Riley, Huston and Dennis to handle the game tonight.

Radiators Set Up Great Mark

National Radiator Softball Team One Of Best In Western Pennsylvania

National Radiators softball team is one of the strongest in Western Pennsylvania, is the belief in New Castle softball circles today. The Radiators have won the National League flag for the second straight time, and have won 39 games and lost but six this year for an enviable record.

R. W. Bolsinger is loud in his praise of the boys who made the Radiators champions again this year.

"I would not be afraid to put the Rads against any team in this district, including Pittsburgh," said the genial Bolsinger today.

The Rads played in 30 league games this year and won 26 and lost but four. The East Side Merchants took two games from the Rads, and St. Andrews took one.

In the first half of the season the Rads won 11 and lost three. The second half the Rads won 13 and lost but one.

Credit for the showing of the Rads belongs to Howard Reed and Glenn Lutz, Reed is the "John McGraw" of New Castle softball. He has managed several other championship teams.

Victors-Mahoning Will Play Game

Victors Sign Up Maxim, Flauto And Scaglione For Remainder Of Season

Victors and Mahoning A. A. will battle at E. and A. field in the Seventh Ward Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. It will be the initial appearance of the Victors in New Castle. The team also plays under the name of the Youngstown East Side Civics and have a galaxy of stars.

Paul McCullough will twirl for the Victors with Scaglione back of the plate. The Victors have signed up Maxim, former Youngstown O and P league player and Flauto, former of St. Vincent college and a youth farmed out by the Cleveland Indians. Scaglione is proving a sensation in Youngstown batting the ball at a .360 clip.

The Victors are going to put Centennial Field in shape for play. No admission will be charged to any of the games for the rest of the season. The Victors would like to book games with the Ellwood Shelbys of the Beaver County league, also the Beaver team of the same league for Sunday games at Centennial Field on August 26 and September 2. For games call 666 and ask for Frank Christofer.

SANDLOT JIBJABS

POTTERY TEAM WINS

Shenango Pottery softball team handed the Hannons a 15 to 14 upset last night at Carnegie Field. Garner pitching for the Pottery gave up ten hits but kept them scattered. He fanned five men. Roman was touched for 15 hits and fanned two men. Ostroski, Mrozek and Biondi hit homers. The Shenangos defeated the Russos several days ago 13 to 7 at Carnegie Field. The Potterys will play the Croton Merchants tomorrow at Smith Field.

AIELLOS WIN TWO MORE

Aiellos softball team won its 41st and 42nd game of the season by taking the measure of the Moonseys 9 to 7 in a game at Carnegie Field and by taking over the Mercer All-Stars 10 to 5 in a recent game. The Aiellos claim the midget championship of New Castle, having won 42 games this year so far and have lost but three games.

Softball League To Have Banquet

All managers and officials of all of the teams in the Lawrence County Softball Association are asked to meet with President Charles "Bugs" Walther at the Y. M. C. A. Monday night at 8:30 o'clock, for the purpose of discussing the banquet to be held by the softball players.

The following managers should be present: Reed and Lutz of the Radiators, Dave Riley of St. Andrews, Ray Cutler of East Side Merchants, Harry Mack of Merchants, Krueger and Koltz of the W. S. Merchants, "Pop" Miller of Ellwood City, "Dutch" Miles of Cunninghams, Dom DeCapric of the Cascades, Stan Coprowski of the Scarazzos, John and Joe Fair of the Unions, Henry Engs of the Tolans, Wyman and Reardon of the Pump Stations, Sheldone and Gallagher of the Hannons, Joe Kelly of the Saks, "Flash" Audia, Fred Marcella, Tom Conti, Perch Ross, Huston, Earl Riley, Dennis, Crable, McKissock, Hnat, Gordon, Brincko, Wilson and Howard Smith.

Plans are under way to make the sixth annual banquet one of the biggest and best in the history of softball in New Castle.

Cuba And McMurdo With Philadelphia

Paul Cuba, former New Castle High and Pitt star football player and Jim McMurdo of Ellwood City former Ellwood High and Pitt star football player have signed contracts to play with the strong Philadelphia Nationals in the professional football league this year. Coach Lud Wray is well pleased to have Cuba and McMurdo on his line, as he considers the two Lawrence County boys two of the best pro football players in the country. Both boys weigh well over the 200 pound mark.

Bessemer Takes Opening Game

Snyder Outpitches Houk And Bessemer Batters In Victory

TEAMS PLAY AT BESSEMER SUNDAY

Bessemer got the jump on West Pittsburg in the first of a five-game series for the championship of the Lawrence county baseball league, 4 to 1, at West Pittsburg yesterday. The largest crowd of the season witnessed the game, in which Snyder outpitched Houk.

The second game will be played at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at Bessemer.

Bessemer opened the scoring in the second and before the frame ended they had rushed two runs across the plate and chalked up a third in the fifth inning. West Pittsburg got their lone tally in the sixth and to make it good measure Bessemer scored their fourth run in the eighth.

Cracraft poled a pair of doubles and Benson made one two-base hit. Houk did not seem to cause any trouble for Manager Martin's batters and four of his proteges came through with a pair of hits. Only Vlah, T. Puromaki and Snyder failed to get a safe blow.

Merchants And Clifton Flats To Play Series

RYANTOWN WILL BATTLE WINNERS

Clifton Flats winners of the National league second half and New Castle Merchants winners of the American League second half will battle it out in a three game series for the right to play Ryantown in a five game series for the Independent league championship. The first game of the Flats-Merchants series will start at the Clifton field at 5:30 o'clock Monday night.

All of the games will be played at the Flats field. The second game has been scheduled for Wednesday night and the third game if necessary will be played Friday or Saturday. Arrangements for the series were made at a meeting of Kenneth Lutz, president of the Independent league and the managers of the Flats and Merchants teams Wednesday night at the "Y."

Fruit and Bishop have been selected as the umpires for the series games. All of the series twilight games will start at 5:30 o'clock.

The followers of both teams are anxious for the series to start and it is expected that over a thousand fans will witness the first battle on Monday night. Both teams have plenty of long distance hitters and clever pitchers.

Eagleson Hurls Three-Hit Game

"Bob" Eagleson ace pitcher of the New Wilmington Juniors, was drafted by the New Wilmington A. A. to pitch against Eastbrook at the College field on Wednesday night.

Eagleson was in rare form as he allowed the visitors but three hits, and won handily to the tune of 6-2. McKee, slow-ball artist of the Eastbrook nine, was found for nine hits from the Wilmington bludgeons. This game avenged an earlier defeat of the local nine when McKee flipped a three hit game.

Saturday afternoon the Colonial A. C. of New Castle will go to New Wilmington to play the fast A. A. team at the college field. The New Castle team holds four victories over the Wilmingtons this year. Eagleson will hurl for New Wilmington.

Cardinals Win Without Deans

Cards Whip Phillies Twice As Deans Refuse To Play; Giants-Pirates Idle

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The absence of the two Deans—Dizzy and Paul—from the Cardinals lineup may, in the long run, cause the St. Louis club a great deal of woe, but for the time being at least, Frankie Frisch's team seems to be doing very well without the eccentric pair.

Yesterday for example the Cards swept both ends of a twin bill with the Phillies, 4-3 and 7-2.

Out in Cincinnati where the Reds clashed with the Brooklyn Dodgers a bit of major tragedy was witnessed. Owen Carroll making his first start for the Dodgers since April was unceremoniously shelled from the mound as the Redlegs won by a score of 8 to 1.

The world's champion New York Giants and the Pittsburgh Pirates were idle, but the Chicago Cubs failed to take advantage of an opportunity to gain on the Terrymen. The Cubs split a doubleheader with the Boston Braves, taking the first game, 3-2, in ten innings, but dropping the night cap, 6 to 1.

No games were played in the American League.

George Trainor In Semi-Finals At Pittsburgh

Trainor Defeats Fred Brand, Jr., And R. W. Thompson In Early Round Matches

PLAYS BENSON IN MATCH TODAY

George Trainor, the long hitting New Castle Field Club golfer is making history for New Castle in the golfing world at Pittsburgh this week. Today Trainor stands as one of the semi-finalists in the West Penn Amateur golfing tourney being staged at the tricky Pittsburgh Country Club layout.

Trainor was only two strokes under the qualifying medalists on the first day of the tourney with a 79 card. In the first round match yesterday Trainor defeated Fred Brand, Jr., 1927 Shanopin champion 4 and 3 in a brilliant match and then paired against Robert W. Thompson of Ellwood City and New Castle in the second round eliminated the long hitting Thompson 5 and 3.

Low Medal Cards

Incidentally Trainor and Thompson the local boys played the best golf of the tourney yesterday having the lowest cards turned in. Trainor shot the first nine in 37 and Thompson had a 39.

Today Trainor will take on Jack Benson of the South Hills Country Club in a semi-final match, while Dr. Tom Canon will play John Wayman of the St. Clair Country Club in the other semi-final match.

Trainor's many friends are pulling for the local big fellow to come through with the title this year. Trainor with his powerful build is the longest hitter in the tourney.

St. Marys-St. Josephs Retain Leadership In Church League

Deadlock With First Christians, First Presbyterian "A" Team Climbs

New Castle Church golfing league is still ruled by the St. Marys-St. Josephs team although the First Christians threw a scare into the Saints last night at Castle Hills golf course by deadlocking in their match at three points apiece. The St. Marys-St. Josephs team still leads the league by 2½ points over the First Presbyterian "A" team.

The First Presbyterian "A" team put a crimp in the aspirations of the First Presbyterian "B" team last night by a 4 to 2 defeat. The Trinity team upset the First U. P. team 4 to 2, and the Highland and Methodist teams split 3-3.

Three 38 Cards

The medalist honors were split three ways last night with Robert M. Garland, Bud Long and Joe Fisher each turning in brilliant 38 cards. Sam Lewis, Hackett Kennedy and Jimmy Smith each recorded 39's. Other low scores were Jim Vondereau 41, Brad McGonigle 43, Chris Clark 41, Elmer Whittaker 42, Peter Kariher 43, Jack Waddington 42, Dick Dana 42, Morgan Jones 43, Dave Long 43, Dr. Ted Heess 43, and Russ Magill 44.

R. W. Bolsinger is loud in his praise of the boys who made the Radiators champions again this year.

"I would not be afraid to put the Rads against any team in this district, including Pittsburgh," said the genial Bolsinger today.

The Rads played in 30 league games this year and won 26 and lost but four. The East Side Merchants took two games from the Rads, and St. Andrews took one.

In the first half of the season the Rads won 11 and lost three. The second half the Rads won 13 and lost but one.

Credit for the showing of the Rads belongs to Howard Reed and Glenn Lutz, Reed is the "John McGraw" of New Castle softball. He has managed several other championship teams.

Victors-Mahoning Will Play Game

Victors Sign Up Maxim, Flauto And Scaglione For Remainder Of Season

Victors and Mahoning A. A. will battle at E. and A. field in the Seventh Ward Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. It will be the initial appearance of the Victors in New Castle. The team also plays under the name of the Youngstown East Side Civics and have a galaxy of stars.

Paul McCullough will twirl for the Victors with Scaglione back of the plate. The Victors have signed up Maxim, former Youngstown O and P league player and Flauto, former of St. Vincent college and a youth farmed out by the Cleveland Indians. Scaglione is proving a sensation in Youngstown batting the ball at a .360 clip.

The Victors are going to put Centennial Field in shape for play. No admission will be charged to any of the games for the rest of the season. The Victors would like to book games with the Ellwood Shelbys of the Beaver County league, also the Beaver team of the same league for Sunday games at Centennial Field on August 26 and September 2. For games call 666 and ask for Frank Christofer.

SANDLOT JIBJABS

POTTERY TEAM WINS

Shenango Pottery softball team handed the Hannons a 15 to 14 upset last night at Carnegie Field. Garner pitching for the Pottery gave up ten hits but kept them scattered. He fanned five men. Roman was touched for 15 hits and fanned two men. Ostroski, Mrozek and Biondi hit homers. The Shenangos defeated the Russos several days ago 13 to 7 at Carnegie Field. The Potterys will play the Croton Merchants tomorrow at Smith Field.

AIELLOS WIN TWO MORE

Aiellos softball team won its 41st and 42nd game of the season by taking the measure of the Moonseys 9 to 7 in a game at Carnegie Field and by taking over the Mercer All-Stars 10 to 5 in a recent game. The Aiellos claim the midget championship of New Castle, having won 42 games this year so far and have lost but three games.

Softball League To Have Banquet

All managers and officials of all of the teams in the Lawrence County Softball Association are asked to meet with President Charles "Bugs" Walther at the Y. M. C. A. Monday night at 8:30 o'clock, for the purpose of discussing the banquet to be held by the softball players.

The following managers should be present: Reed and Lutz of the Radiators, Dave Riley of St. Andrews, Ray Cutler of East Side Merchants, Harry Mack of Merchants, Krueger and Koltz of the W. S. Merchants, "Pop" Miller of Ellwood City, "Dutch" Miles of Cunninghams, Dom DeCaprio of the Cascades, Stan Coprowski of the Scarazzos, John and Joe Fair of the Unions, Henry Engs of the Tolans, Wyman and Reardon of the Pump Stations, Sheldone and Gallagher of the Hannons, Joe Kelly of the Saks, "Flash" Audia, Fred Marcella, Tom Conti, Perch Ross, Huston, Earl Riley, Dennis, Crable, McKissock, Hnat, Gordon, Brincko, Wilson and Howard Smith.

Plans are under way to make the sixth annual banquet one of the biggest and best in the history of softball in New Castle.

Cuba And McMurdo With Philadelphia

Paul Cuba, former New Castle High and Pitt star football player and Jim McMurdo of Ellwood City former Ellwood High and Pitt star football player have signed contracts to play with the strong Philadelphia Nationals in the professional football league this year. Coach Lud Wray is well pleased to have Cuba and McMurdo on his line, as he considers the two Lawrence County boys two of the best pro football players in the country. Both boys weigh well over the 200 pound mark.

Bessemer Takes Opening Game

TEAMS PLAY AT BESSEMER SUNDAY

Bessemer got the jump on West Pittsburg in the first of a five-game series for the championship of the Lawrence county baseball league, 4 to 1, at West Pittsburg yesterday. The largest crowd of the season witnessed the game, in which Snyder outpitched Houk.

The second game will be played at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at Bessemer.

Bessemer opened the scoring in the second and before the frame ended they had rushed two runs across the plate and chalked up a third in the fifth inning. West Pittsburg got their lone tally in the sixth and to make it good measure Bessemer scored their fourth run in the eighth.

Cracraft poled a pair of doubles and Benson made one two-base hit. Houk did not seem to cause any trouble for Manager Martin's batters and four of his proteges came through with a pair of hits. Only Vlah, T. Puromaki and Snyder failed to get a safe blow.

The box score:

Employees Of Johnson Bronze To Hold Outing

First Annual Picnic Takes Place Saturday At Neshannock Falls

ANTHONY MARINO IS GENERAL CHAIRMAN

On Saturday afternoon at Neshannock Falls employes of the Johnson Bronze company, numbering over 500 persons, will enjoy their first annual outing. Anthony Marino, general chairman in charge, announced today that everything is in readiness for the occasion.

At 12:00 o'clock, from the plant on South Mill street, a cavalcade of busses and automobiles will leave for the picnic grounds, where a program which includes everything from a mushball contest to boxing bouts, will be enjoyed. An athletic program will also be staged during the course of the afternoon, Mr. Marino stated.

Company executives and their families have also been invited to attend the picnic. In charge of the dinner is, Mrs. Humbert Tranquillo, Miss Clara Tranquillo, Mrs. James Fetters, Mrs. Archie Cumo and Mrs. Marion Cumo.

Assisting Mr. Marino are the following: James Fetters, Archie Cumo, Marion Cumo, Louis Bullano, Louis Falcone, John Cicarello, Mike Cassella, Charles Micco, Arthur Guinaugh, Bud Miller, Frank Ross, Thomas Davis and Louis Pascarella.

With a break from the weather man, the first annual outing of the Johnson Bronze company is anticipated to be a marked success.

Rupps Attend Convention Of Tin Can Tourists

New Castle Represented At Convention Near Grand Rapids, Mich.

Up on the outskirts of Grand Rapids, Mich., the summer convention of the Tin Can Tourists association is now in progress and, like at every summer and winter convention of the organization for the past three years, New Castle is represented.

Among the 1,300 persons who are camping for the week in almost 400 tourist trailers or tents are Mr. and Mrs. Peter Rupp of 210 East Grant street.

They wrote The News today to let residents know they weren't absent from the convention and, incidentally, to announce that they would be at the Florida convention next winter if everything goes alright. The Rupps only recently completed an automobile swing through the western states.

The Tin Can tourists were greeted by Grand Rapids, and Michigan state officials upon arriving, press clippings informed. Among the "houses on wheels," it was said, were many equipped in the most modern fashion. Most of the association's membership spends the greater part of the time in touring.

Miss Italy Is To Be Selected At Celebration

Popularity Contest Will Be Interesting Event Of St. Vitus Celebration

"Miss Italy" of New Castle will be selected on September 15 as a feature of the St. Vitus celebration which is being sponsored by a group of south side residents, according to announcement made this morning.

All Italian girls of the city may enter the contest if they are between the ages of 15 and 20 years. Judging will be made on a basis of "popularity" with a group of appointed citizens as the high tribunal. A nice prize will go to the winner.

The St. Vitus celebration will take place September 14 and 15, at a large bandstand which is to be erected on South Jefferson street.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Aug. 17.—Although unable to play an instrument, Anthony McGrevin, a miner, of near here, has constructed a violin out of some wood that was lying around, spruce and maple 90 years old chiefly being used.

The only tools he used were a knife and a broken glass. Musicians say the tone of the instrument is as true as one purchased in a store.

THIS MAYOR MUST BE RATHER TOUCHY

(International News Service)

WEIRTON, W. Va., Aug. 17.—No more noisy wedding parties, Mayor C. S. Cattrell has decreed. Members of wedding parties cause uncalled for disturbances on Sunday driving through town blowing horns and making unnecessary noises, he declared. The mayor intends to prosecute anyone violating this city ordinance.

Dwindling Growth In Population Makes Economists Wonder About Vast Regional Development Plan

By CHARLES P. STEWART
By Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, August 17.—The rapidly declining growth in America's population is a consideration which a few economists in Washington are fearful President Roosevelt has neglected to take into account in connection with his program of vast development in such regions as the Tennessee valley and the far northwest.

For some time experts like Prof. O. E. Baker of the agriculture department's research division have been raising the point:

"Who is to utilize these new opportunities as they are opened up?"

In an era when immigrants were pouring constantly into the country and large families were the rule no question of this sort presented itself. Today, however, while a decline has not actually set in, the rate of increase is dwindling fast, and Professor Baker (backed by many actuarial statistics) makes the prediction that national population will be stationary within two decades. Then, argues the professor, if there is an increase in some one particular area, it will follow that some other area will have to be correspondingly depleted.

* * *

Senator Henrik Shipstead of Minnesota has reasoned persistently, in agreement with Professor Baker, that the depression is, in considerable part, due to the shutting off of immigration and the consequent retarding of population's growth in a country industrially geared up to meet the requirements of a swiftly increasing number of inhabitants.

Chairman Samuel Dickstein of the house of representatives' committee on immigration likewise has emphasized again and again, "Labor forgets that an immigrant, though a producer, and thus in competition with workers we already have here, is a consumer, too; and may also have dependents, who are consumers 100 per cent."

Monsignor John A. Ryan, director of the social action department of the National Catholic Welfare council and one of America's foremost economists, in warning against an attempt to concentrate taxation upon land, says: "With a population approaching the static, the soil is losing its value; it is doubtful that taxes levied on it, alone, would support the government."

Professor Baker arrives at the conclusion, "A stationary population implies the necessity for a complete readjustment of our society and economics. We no longer are a people adapted to expansion and enterprise. We gravitate into an old man's country, which may do very well, but is quite a different thing from what we have had. If we are determined to grow old we must accept the limitation of age."

* * *

New Dealers apparently are not altogether unmindful of the peculiar situation which presents itself.

That is to say, they propose a wholesale transfer from the so-called "sub-marginal" sections to the richer ones they promise to open to settlement—a huge migration from the drouth-stricken belt to the realm they promise to create by means of projects of the order of Tennessee Valley's and the Grand Coulee's.

Not an immigration proposition, but a general shifting about of home folks.

The scheme has its contradictions, however.

The drouth sufferers will be needed to fill up the reclaimed far northwest—if the plan to reclaim it proves a success.

Yet the drouth sufferers are to be protected where they are—by a 100-mile-wide belt of trees.

* * *

There are many hints, too, that the drouth sufferers are little inclined to move.

They may be in hard luck, but they have been accustomed to farm on a vast scale—to crop failures three or four years out of five, but to a big clean-up now and then. The idea of "subsistence farming" (a living almost guaranteed, but never a prospect of drawing a capital prize) doesn't appeal to them.

In short, is the plan fully thought out?

FEAR OF A CURSE STOPPED PROSECUTION

(International News Service)

SUNBURY, Pa., Aug. 17.—His fear of a "curse" led J. M. Smith of Milton to quash the prosecution against "Madame Susie," a palmist, whom he had accused of swindling him of $200.

Explaining that the case had been "preying upon his mind for the last few weeks," Smith withdrew charges against the palmist as police were about to arrest her in Washington where she had fled.

He said he paid the seeress $200 when she promised to secure for him a position that would pay at least $300 monthly.

New Type Of Aircraft To Be Seen At Show

Every type of aircraft that has been used since first man found he could fly will be on display in the Cleveland air show which will be held August 31 to September 3. The meet will mark the 25th year of air meets in the United States and the sponsors have promised a show that will surpass anything of previous years.

From the pre-war "pusher" type of airplane to the latest racing craft with a speed of five miles per minute the whole parade of air craft will go at the Cleveland airport.

The most famous speedsters of the world, the stunt men, the clowns of the ether and the trick performers, all of them are scheduled for this year's air show in Cleveland and the program arranged promises to give the fans the thrill of their lives.

THE DEANS AGAIN

The St. Louis Cardinal rooters who have spent most of the season wishing their entry had a whole club of Deans probably now realize the value of the other slabsters. Diz and Paul aren't going to be of any help to the Cards in a pennant way by vacationing in Florida.

Prior to leaving the band wagon, the fraternal order played hooky, tore up two uniforms, and were fined and suspended. Not much excitement in the life of a Dean, probably, but it is going to cause the Cardinal bosses a few sleepless nights.

Right now the Red Birds are lucky they dont have twenty-three Deans. If they had they would be confronted with the problem of having no players except those starting on fishing trips. And even if they did persuade them to postpone the fishing, they would be without uniforms.

The thirty three games the brothers have won and the gate attraction they are responsible for should make any manager happy. But along with the silver lining there has to be a cloud. And the Dean cloud is in the form of strikes, suspensions, fines, truancy and dissension.

Dizzy has been an "off again, on again, Finnegan" problem since he joined the club in 1932. This year Paul has made the problem a double one by following his elder brother in his escapades.

Early in the season they went out on strike to get Paul a salary boost. The manner in which the other hurlers are ignored when Diz and Paul talk about the winning hurlers on the Card staff, has caused dissension. And finally has come more disappearing, fines, suspension and an added threat to quit.

That's a heavy worry for a club to shoulder and it is even heavier for St. Louis because the team really needs the Deans. Take the two star pitchers from any of the pennant contenders and they will finish in the second division.

With over half of the Cardinal pitching staff on a fishing trip in Florida, it isn't possible for the team to remain in the pennant fight. Breaden faces the alternative of a reconciliation or of having the Deanless Cards fighting it out with the Cincinnati Reds for seventh position.

Probably a reconciliation will result, at least for the remainder of the season. But the real interest will come during the winter months. The St. Louis organization has been emphatic in its stand on differences of opinion between the front office and the players. Many a star has left St. Louis for less disturbance than the Deans have caused. It remains to be seen whether the Cards will part with one or both of their star hurlers.

In 1932 Chick Hafey had an idea of his value which was considerably higher than the owner's estimate so Chick was sent to the Reds. Rogers Hornsby argued himself out in 1926. Jim Bottomley followed Hafey to Cincinnati. George Watkins wouldn't sign so the Cards made a deal with New York this spring. Managers like Street and McKechnie were let loose despite good records.

So even though the Deans are colorful ball players their job in St. Louis could hardly be called secure. As great as the brothers are, both in playing and gala attraction, they haven't yet surpassed Hornsby or Hafey.

SPORT SIDELIGHTS

Crazy Schmidt, the old-time pitcher, always carried a notebook telling of batter's weakness. He consulted it one day when Pop Anson came to bat with the bases full and the score tied in the last inning. The notebook said: "Anson—dangerous hitter—walk", and Schmidt proceeded to walk him, forcing in the winning run.

In 1932 Chick Hafey had an idea of his value which was considerably higher than the owner's estimate so Chick was sent to the Reds. Rogers Hornsby argued himself out in 1926. Jim Bottomley followed Hafey to Cincinnati. George Watkins wouldn't sign so the Cards made a deal with New York this spring. Managers like Street and McKechnie were let loose despite good records.

So even though the Deans are colorful ball players their job in St. Louis could hardly be called secure. As great as the brothers are, both in playing and gala attraction, they haven't yet surpassed Hornsby or Hafey.

SPORT SIDELIGHTS

Crazy Schmidt, the old-time pitcher, always carried a notebook telling of batter's weakness. He consulted it one day when Pop Anson came to bat with the bases full and the score tied in the last inning. The notebook said: "Anson—dangerous hitter—walk", and Schmidt proceeded to walk him, forcing in the winning run.

New Goldfield Is Discovered

Two Americans Operate Rich Gold Vein Found In Portuguese Area

(International News Service)

PARIS, Aug. 17.—Two Americans are reopening one of the richest goldfields of the ancient Roman empire, it was learned today.

They have rediscovered the Portuguese mines which contributed largely to the wealth of the Caesars but which have been unused since the fall of the Roman empire in 476 A. D.

One of the Americans in this strange mining venture is John G. Hopper of San Francisco, mining engineer, explorer, inventor, one of the first Americans to join the Foreign Legion during the world war and a former associate of Herbert Hoover in the development of Mexican gold mines.

The other is Arthur Prill, a picturesque oldtime California prospector.

Both are all set to start digging. The goldfields are situated around the little country village of Vila De Rei, 20 miles north of the Tagus river.

Hopper said in explaining his find, "The field is one of the richest I have ever seen. We have found lodes which are assaying at 8 to 20 grams per ton."

AROUND CITY HALL

Police chronology for the past 24 hours ending at 3:30 p. m. August 16, five arrests on charges as follows: violation of parking law 1, drunk 1, suspicion 1, disorderly conduct 1.

Photographs of the slain desperado John Dillinger have been removed from bulletin boards not only in other police stations but also here but there still remains the photograph of Lester M. Gillis, alias "Baby Face" Nelson. He was a member of the Dillinger gang and is on the "lam" which means the run with the department of justice and police on his trail. His photograph is hung in the city police station and his fingerprints are on file. The government has offered a reward of $2,500, for information leading to his arrest and a reward of $5,000, for his arrest. He is accused of having shot and killed Special Agent W. C. Baum, of the division of investigation, department of justice in the raid at Rhinelander, Wis.

Reports in city hall state that some of the railroad police here plan to secure radios for cooperative purposes. It is a known fact that in most instances here criminals flee to railroad yards which are on the outskirts of the city. Whenever a broadcast is made at the police station, the railroad police will secure the information at the same time as the cruiser cars and will be able to comb yards for fugitives. It is not yet known if the county commissioners will equip the sheriff's car with radios.

City hall offices closed at noon yesterday so that some of the employes who annually participate in the Old Timers reunion could celebrate. It is said that the city hall offices will close at noon when the Lawrence County Merchants hold their picnic within the near future.

Physical examination of candidates for the department of fire will be held in council chambers, city hall tonight, according to Attorney Ralph Cooper, who is secretary of the board of examiners for firemen and police. The mental test will be given the candidates Monday.

Kentucky rock which was removed from a section of East Long avenue and replaced by amiesite will be used as the top or surface of the section which is being improved in North Mercer street between Sheridan and Euclid avenue.

Some weeks ago a bill was introduced appropriating $2,500 for the salary of an engineer to make a survey of electrical conditions here. The bill has not been adopted. It is reported that it will cost more than $2,500, to make the survey. No engineer has yet been employed, officials state.

There have been about a score requests for booklets and a map concerning New Castle. Some of the inhabitants of city hall when asked about them did not know where they could be obtained. All one needs do is to hand Neil Williams 50 cents and he will be accommodated quickly.

The new city automobiles have not yet been delivered. It has been quite some time since they were purchased. . . . George Wyman, patrolman, went on the job under Mayor Jackson in 1902. . . . Duke Byers, fireman has served the city about 42 years, reports say. He may retire this fall.

On Court House Hill

County commissioners passed a resolution today extending for ninety days the time during which county and poor taxes may be paid at their face. Ordinarily County Treasurer Pitts would place the duplicates in the hands of collectors on September 1, when five per cent would be added. On account of the economic conditions the commissioners believe that it is good policy to retain the books at the treasurer's office until December 1, when they will go into the hands of the collectors.

James Jones has filed a suit at the prothonotary's office against Mose Horton of Slippery Rock township to recover $20,000 damages as the result of an accident on the Ellwood-Portersville road. Jones was driving a horse and wagon along the road in the vicinity of the Pleasant Hill grange when he was struck by an auto driven by Horton. Plaintiff was injured both externally and internally and claims that his injuries are of a permanent character. Jones claims that he was driving east and Horton west and that Horton came across the center line of the road, causing the accident. The wagon was demolished and the horse was so badly injured that it had to be shot.

Complaint has been made to the county commissioners that since the re-paving of the Youngstown road water collects in the Scotland school yard, practically covering the yard during a heavy rain. The road at this point is higher than the school lot, and the owner of land on one side of the school lot has filled it in, so that there is no way for the water to run off. The county commissioners say that it is up to the Union township road supervisors to take care of the situation.

The court has granted permission for a settlement of the case of George Johnson by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Johnson against the Pennsylvania Power Company. The case was rather a peculiar one. The Power company had a pole on Johnson street in the Youngstown hill district, on which there were spikes for climbing. The boy was climbing the pole when it fell and he was injured.

County commissioners have the county home well stocked with coal which, it is figured, will last until Christmas. Several car loads came to the local yards recently consigned to a dealer who was unable to pay cash for it. The county commissioners were offered the cars at a substantial reduction in price and thereby saved the county considerable money. During the coming winter the commissioners will have to buy coal for such of the indigent as are on the county relief rolls, but those on the city relief will be taken care of through the funds allocated by the state. The county only takes care of old persons and those who are unable to work.

Our good old sovereign state of Pennsylvania complains that folks are not buying the great quantity of booze they should from the state stores, thus depriving the state of money it counted on to feed the hungry and take care of the blind. The control board has visions of millions rolling in whereas the only control was in the hearts of citizens who refuse to ever indulge. It's a strange contrast to the recent past when the courts were filled with petty cases of persons who were caught with flasks on their hips. Then it was a crime for a man to drink; now the state complains because he does not drink enough. They're even going to take the import tax off liquor for a season, with object in view of forcing down the price. It is figured that with the price reduced there will be more drinking and consequently more money for benevolent organizations to hand out in so called charity. In other words you deprive the wives and children of booze guzzlers in order to get a few paltry dollars to hand out to somebody else. Then a great hullabaloo is raised about the profits from the liquor business and how it is helping to solve the problems of the needy. Great stuff.

Gasfax
Copyright 1934 FAX ILLUSTRATED Pittsburgh, Penna.

The Romance of Natural Gas...
IT IS A LONG and interesting journey from the bottom of a 3,000 foot gas well in some far distant point to the gas appliance in your home.
Briefly, it is this—the gas is collected in gathering lines from the producing wells in the scattered fields and piped to main line compressor stations where, under very high pressure, it is compressed into main transmission lines which carry it many miles to the city distribution plants. Here the pressure is reduced and the gas is carried to regulators located at strategic points, where the pressure is again reduced to a few ounces per square inch. From the district regulator gas is piped through the meter and through the house lines to the gas burner of your appliances.
Each of these stages is an interesting story in itself. For instance there is a great deal of work necessary to determine where wells should be drilled. This interesting geological work will be discussed at a later date.

Swimming Marks Are Set At Erie

Four New Marks Are Set Up At Closing Meet Of A. M. A. In Erie, Penna.

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 17.—Four new marks and the names of six new aquatic champions went into the swimming records today as the A. M. A. water championships drew to a close here.

Lenore Kight, national swimming champion of Homestead, churned her way to an easy victory in the 440-yard women's senior A. M. A. event in the record-smashing time of 5:39.3. She was followed to the tape by Mae Clark and Anna Gorman, teammates, in that order. Homestead Library bagged three other first places to steal the show, and catapult Rus Lindberg to the district swimming front.

Summaries:

100-meter men's junior—Won by Knauer, Erie; second, Dobrowlski, Erie; third, Smith, Homestead. Time 1:-8.2.

100-meter women's junior—Won by Boyer, Homestead; second, Fagan, and third, Wein, both of Homestead. Time 1:23.

220-yard men's senior—Won by Lindberg, Homestead; second, Bruechel, P. A. A.; third, Faner, Erie. Time 2:24.3 (new record).

440-yard women's senior—Won by Kight, Homestead; second, Clark, and third, Gorman, both of Homestead. Time 5:39.3 (new record).

880-yard men's senior—Won by Lindberg, Homestead; second, Smith, Erie; third, Yermak. Homestead. Time 11:42 (new record).

220-yard men's senior breakstroke—Won by Stano, Erie; second, Smith, Homestead; third, Persianoff, Erie. Time 3:08.1 (new record).

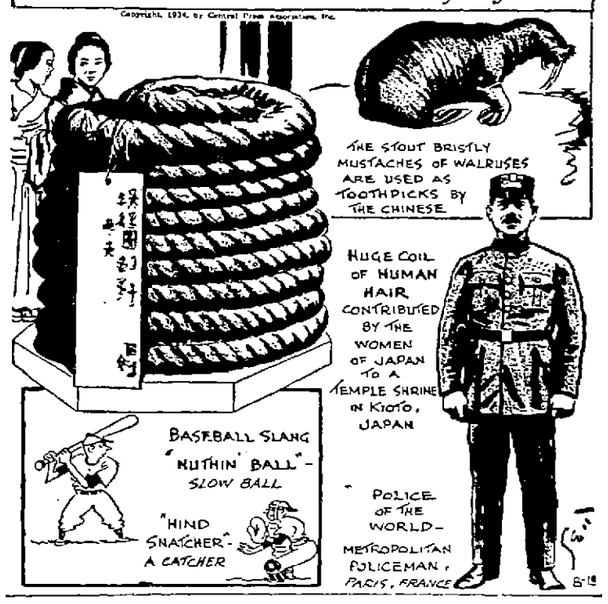

Rads Will Play Valley Champs

Radiator softball team will play the Beaver Falls championship team at the Radiator Field Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Last Sunday the Rads defeated the Ellwood City All-Stars 9 to 5 at Ellwood City.

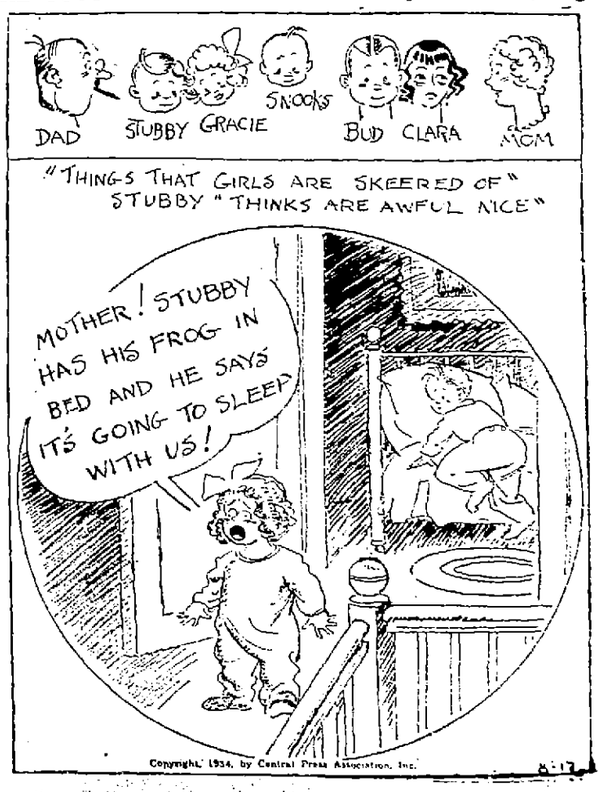

The Beaver Falls champions will come here with the idea of taking the measure of the Lawrence County league champs. Either Mauri or Pezzone will go against the valleyites.

Swimming Marks Are Set At Erie

Four New Marks Are Set Up At Closing Meet Of A. M. A. In Erie, Penna.

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 17.—Four new marks and the names of six new aquatic champions went into the swimming records today as the A. M. A. water championships drew to a close here.

Lenore Kight, national swimming champion of Homestead, churned her way to an easy victory in the 440-yard women's senior A. M. A. event in the record-smashing time of 5:39.3. She was followed to the tape by Mae Clark and Anna Gorman, teammates, in that order. Homestead Library bagged three other first places to steal the show, and catapult Rus Lindberg to the district swimming front.

Summaries:

100-meter men's junior—Won by Knauer, Erie; second, Dobrowlski, Erie; third, Smith, Homestead. Time 1:-8.2.

100-meter women's junior—Won by Boyer, Homestead; second, Fagan,, and third, Wein, both of Homestead. Time 1:23.

440-yard women's senior—Won by Kight, Homestead; second, Clark, and third, Gorman, both of Homestead. Time 5:39.3 (new record).

880-yard men's senior—Won by Lindberg, Homestead; second, Smith, Erie; third, Yermak, Homestead. Time 11:42 (new record).

220-yard men's senior breakstroke —Won by Stano, Erie; second, Smith, Homestead; third, Persianoff, Erie. Time 3:08.1 (new record).

Rads Will Play Valley Champs

Radiator softball team will play the Beaver Falls championship team at the Radiator Field Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Last Sunday the Rads defeated the Ellwood City All-Stars 9 to 5 at Ellwood City.

The Beaver Falls champions will come here with the idea of taking the measure of the Lawrence County league champs. Either Mauri or Pezzone will go against the valleyites.

Merchants And Clifton Flats To Play Series

American League Winners And National League Champs To Meet Monday Night

RYANTOWN WILL BATTLE WINNERS

Clifton Flats winners of the National league second half and New Castle Merchants winners of the American League second half will battle it out in a three game series for the right to play Ryantown in a five game series for the Independent league championship. The first game of the Flats-Merchants series will start at the Clifton field at 5:30 o'clock Monday night.

All of the games will be played at the Flats field. The second game has been scheduled for Wednesday night and the third game if necessary will be played Friday or Saturday. Arrangements for the series were made at a meeting of Kenneth Lutz, president of the Independent league and the managers of the Flats and Merchants teams Wednesday night at the "Y."

Fruit and Bishop have been selected as the umpires for the series games. All of the series twilight games will start at 5:30 o'clock.

The followers of both teams are anxious for the series to start and it is expected that over a thousand fans will witness the first battle on Monday night. Both teams have plenty of long distance hitters and clever pitchers.

Eagleson Hurls Three-Hit Game

"Bob" Eagleson ace pitcher of the New Wilmington Juniors, was drafted by the New Wilmington A. A. to pitch against Eastbrook at College field on Wednesday night.

Eagleson was in rare form as he allowed the visitors but three hits, and won handily to the tune of 6-2. McKee, slow-ball artist of the Eastbrook nine, was found for nine hits from the Wilmington bludgeons. This game avenged an earlier defeat of the local nine when McKee flipped a three hit game.

Saturday afternoon the Colonial A. C. of New Castle will go to New Wilmington to play the fast A. A. team at the college field. The New Castle team holds four victories over the Wilmingtons this year. Eagleson will hurl for New Wilmington.

Cardinals Win Without Deans

Cards Whip Phillies Twice As Deans Refuse To Play; Giants-Pirates Idle

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—The absence of the two Deans—Dizzy and Paul—from the Cardinals lineup may, in the long run, cause the St. Louis club a great deal of woe, but for the time being at least, Frankie Frisch's team seems to be doing very well without the eccentric pair.

Yesterday for example the Cards swept both ends of a twin bill with the Phillies, 4-3 and 7-2.

Out in Cincinnati where the Reds clashed with the Brooklyn Dodgers a bit of major tragedy was witnessed. Owen Carroll making his first start for the Dodgers since April was unceremoniously shelled from the mound as the Redlegs won by a score of 8 to 1.

The world's champion New York Giants and the Pittsburgh Pirates were idle, but the Chicago Cubs failed to take advantage of an opportunity to gain on the Terrymen. The Cubs split a doubleheader with the Boston Braves, taking the first game, 3-2, in ten innings, but dropping the night cap, 6 to 1.

No games were played in the American League.

George Trainor In Semi-Finals At Pittsburgh

Trainor Defeats Fred Brand, Jr., And R. W. Thompson In Early Round Matches

PLAYS BENSON IN MATCH TODAY

George Trainor, the long hitting New Castle Field Club golfer is making history for New Castle in the golfing world at Pittsburgh this week. Today Trainor stands as one of the semi-finalists in the West Penn Amateur golfing tourney being staged at the tricky Pittsburgh Country Club layout.

Trainor was only two strokes under the qualifying medalists on the first day of the tourney with a 79 card. In the first round match yesterday Trainor defeated Fred Brand, Jr., 1927 Shanopin champion 4 and 3 in a brilliant match and then paired against Robert W. Thompson of Ellwood City and New Castle in the second round eliminated the long hitting Thompson 5 and 3.

Low Medal Cards

Incidentally Trainor and Thompson the local boys played the best golf of the tourney yesterday having the lowest cards turned in. Trainor shot the first nine in 37 and Thompson had a 39.

Today Trainor will take on Jack Benson of the South Hills Country Club in a semi-final match, while Dr. Tom Canon will play John Wayman of the St. Clair Country Club in the other semi-final match.

Trainor's many friends are pulling for the local big fellow to come through with the title this year. Trainor with his powerful build is the longest hitter in the tourney.

St. Marys-St. Josephs Retain Leadership In Church League

Deadlock With First Christians, First Presbyterian "A" Team Climbs

New Castle Church golfing league is still ruled by the St. Marys-St. Josephs team although the First Christians threw a scare into the Saints last night at Castle Hills golf course by deadlocking in their match at three points apiece. The St. Marys-St. Josephs team still leads the league by 2½ points over the First Presbyterian "A" team.

The First Presbyterian "A" team put a crimp in the aspirations of the First Presbyterian "B" team last night by a 4 to 2 defeat. The Trinity team upset the First U. P. team 4 to 2, and the Highland and Methodist teams split 3-3.

Three 38 Cards

The medalist honors were split three ways last night with Robert M. Garland, Bud Long and Joe Fisher each turning in brilliant 38 cards. Sam Lewis, Hackett Kennedy and Jimmy Smith each recorded 39's. Other low scores were Jim Vondereau 41, Brad McGonigle 43, Chris Clark 41, Elmer Whittaker 42, Peter Karlher 43, Jack Waddington 42, Dick Dana 42, Morgan Jones 43, Dave Long 43, Dr. Ted Heess 43, and Russ Magill 44.

Audia All-Stars To Play Farrell

Audia All-Stars are all set for their big softball game with the Farrell Colored All-Stars at Centennial field. The game will be played Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The Farrell Colored All-Stars are ranked as the greatest team in the Mercer county section. The Farrells hold two victories over the Sharon Jacks.

Manager Tippy Richards will have his full strength on the field Saturday, with American and National League stars taking part. The following will report: Fornataro, Dickson, Mauri, Greene, Lutz, Tex Richards, Turco, Mazzeri, N. Ross, Ambrosia, Augostine, Clause, C. Summers, Rod Pezzone, Joe Fair, Al Ritchie, Biondi, J. Jones, Scarnati, Babs, F. Stone and Mike Polenick.

Joseph "Flash" Audia, sponsor of the All-Stars, has booked Beaver Falls and Youngstown for softball games here in the next few weeks.

HERE AND THERE IN SPORTS' LAND

Hack Wilson has been the bad luck boy of the Dodger outfit this season and now that he has been fired and is with the Phils he hopes to twist the tail of the Jinx and start cloutin' the old apple on the nostril. Hack was in a slump and ill graces of his employers and when waivers were asked none of the clubs in either circuit apparently wanted any part of him. The Dodgers let him go and Jimmy Wilson of the Phils gave him the brotherly hand. Brooklyn gave him his 10 days salary and as the Phils didn't have to pay the $4,500 waiver price they are naturally inclined to give him a longer chance to make good. And Hack may because the Phils bandbox park is ideally suited to a slugger of his type. Further he is playing for a manager who always liked his slugging and who believes that Mack can come back. It may come about that getting fired may have been a piece of fortune for Hack. Only time can tell.

When Billy Soose beat Custy Morini at Farrell a few nights ago it must have been a bitter pill for Custy and his manager, Jerome Maguire, to swallow. At that there are some fistic boys hereabouts who do not believe Custy was at his best. He certainly wasn't when he milled with Frankie Pershing here. Custy has not fought often enough and the tilt which he lost to Soose who is a very good boxer may be but the first of several scraps they will stage.

Dizzy Dean's name is Jay Hannah Dean and as he has beaten the Giants about a score times this season he appropriately could be called "Hard Hearted Hannah!" . . . . No longer will monkeys be permitted to ride dogs in races in New Jersey. . . . . Walter Neusel and Max Schmeling will fight for the championship of Germany, August 26. . . . . The winner may get a chance in the heavyweight eliminations to be held in America but if Max wins he will have to win impressively to get the chance.

Youth serves third base, according to reports from the various baseball clubs. For instance, Jack Saltsgaver covers the hot corner for the Yankees and is 28 years old. Cecil Travers, 20, cavorts at that post for the Senators and Frank Higgins, 25, has proved his adaptability in caring for that position on the A's. Stanley Hack, 25, romps there for the Cubs and Harland Clift, 21, has erased many of the wrinkles from the brow of Rogers Hornsby. Marvin Owen, 26, holds the third base berth for the Detroit Tigers and Bucky Walters, 23, from the Pacific coast covers third for the Phils.

There are several boxing shows in the near future in this vicinity, the first of which will be Saturday night at Conneaut Lake. The show is being held in connection with the 80th Division Vets Association. Fritzie Zivic and Young Joe Firpo will do the honors in the last bout. The Beaver Falls police and the American Legion Post of that city will sponsor an amateur show for the benefit of the Providence hospital, August 23, at the Beaver Falls high school field. Some of the boxers who participated in the police show here have been signed for the Beaver Valley show.

Herman Morris Picks All-Stars

Tolan A. C. Pitcher Comes Through With Selection Of All-Star Team

Herman Morris, one of the best softball pitchers in New Castle, a member of the Tolan A. C., today came through with an American league all-star lineup that looks like a "honey". Morris thinks that his all-stars could give any team in either league a tough battle.

The all-stars as picked by Morris:
Vigali, Scarazzos, right-short.
Tex Richards, Scarazzos, catch.
Clause, Unions, center field.
Must, Hannons, right field.
N. Ritchie, Unions, second base.
Engs, Tolans, third base.
Kelly, Saks, short.
Marks, Tolans, first base.
Al Ritchie, Unions, pitcher.

Flats To Play Elders Sunday

Clifton Flats will play the strong Elder A. C. team at the Clifton Flats field Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock Monday night, it was announced today. The flats team wants revenge on the Elders for stopping their winning streak a few weeks ago. Ed Lamm will probably be on the mound again for the Elders. with Jones slated to pitch for the Flats.

Unions-Saks To Play Second Of Series Battles

Al Ritchie Will Try For Second Win Over Saks Tonight At Centennial Field

Tonight at Centennial Field at 6 o'clock the Union Brewery team will play the Saks in the second game of the current series for the American league second-half championship. The Unions already have one leg on the title with a brilliant 4 to 3 victory on Tuesday evening.

Manager John Fair said today "I am going to send Al Ritchie back against the Saks".

Ritchie Seeks 26th

Ritchie is the youngster who set the Saks down on their ears Tuesday evening at Centennial Field in a brilliant battle. Ritchie has won 25 games this year, being the leading softball pitcher in New Castle. Ray Ritchie will go behind the plate for the Unions.

Managers Kelly and Melder of the Saks will probably send "Irv" Rubeis back to the mound, with Joe Isabella also a likely choice. Isabella has asked for a chance to take the measure of the Unions and his request may be granted.

Heavy Sluggers

The big stick artists of the two teams are getting their eyes tuned up for some heavy slugging tonight. Mike Polenick was the feature batter of the first series game with a homer and double, while Clause and Joe Fair of the Unions pounded the ball hard. All three of these boys are dangerous batters.

If the Unions win tonight, the series for the American league championship with the Scarazzos will start next Tuesday evening at Centennial Field. The series for the championship of the league will be the best out of five games. If the Saks win tonight, the third game of the series for the second-half championship will be played Sunday afternoon at Centennial Field.

President Walther of the Lawrence County softball association has assigned Earl Riley, Huston and Dennis to handle the game tonight.

Radiators Set Up Great Mark

National Radiator Softball Team One Of Best In Western Pennsylvania

National Radiators softball team is one of the strongest in Western Pennsylvania, is the belief in New Castle softball circles today. The Radiators have won the National League flag for the second straight time, and have won 39 games and lost but six this year for an enviable record.

R. W. Bolsinger is loud in his praise of the boys who made the Radiators champions again this year.

"I would not be afraid to put the Rads against any team in this district, including Pittsburgh," said the genial Bolsinger today.

The Rads played in 30 league games this year and won 26 and lost but four. The East Side Merchants took two games from the Rads, and St. Andrews took one.

In the first half of the season the Rads won 11 and lost three. The second half the Rads won 13 and lost but one.

Credit for the showing of the Rads belongs to Howard Reed and Glenn Lutz. Reed is the "John McGraw" of New Castle softball. He has managed several other championship teams.

Victors-Mahoning Will Play Game

Victors Sign Up Maxim, Flauto And Scaglione For Remainder Of Season

Victors and Mahoning A. A. will battle at E. and A. field in the Seventh Ward Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock. It will be the initial appearance of the Victors in New Castle. The team also plays under the name of the Youngstown East Side Civics and have a galaxy of stars.

Paul McCullough will twirl for the Victors with Scaglione back of the plate. The Victors have signed up Maxim, former Youngstown O and P league player and Flauto, former of St. Vincent college and a youth farmed out by the Cleveland Indians. Scaglione is proving a sensation in Youngstown batting the ball at a .360 clip.

The Victors are going to put Centennial Field in shape for play. No admission will be charged to any of the games for the rest of the season. The Victors would like to book games with the Ellwood Shelbys of the Beaver County league, also the Beaver team of the same league for Sunday games at Centennial Field on August 26 and September 2. For games call 666 and ask for Frank Christofer.

SANDLOT JIBJABS

POTTERY TEAM WINS

Shenango Pottery softball team handed the Hannons a 15 to 14 upset last night at Carnegie Field. Garner pitching for the Pottery gave up ten hits but kept them scattered. He fanned five men. Roman was touched for 15 hits and fanned two men. Ostroski, Mrozek and Biondi hit homers. The Shenangos defeated the Russos several days ago 13 to 7 at Carnegie Field. The Potterys will play the Croton Merchants tomorrow at Smith Field.

AIELLOS WIN TWO MORE

Aiellos softball team won its 41st and 42nd game of the season by taking the measure of the Moonseys 9 to 7 in a game at Carnegie Field and by taking over the Mercer All-Stars 10 to 5 in a recent game. The Aiellos claim the midget championship of New Castle, having won 42 games this year so far and have lost but three games.

Softball League To Have Banquet

All managers and officials of all of the teams in the Lawrence County Softball Association are asked to meet with President Charles "Bugs" Walther at the Y. M. C. A. Monday night at 8:30 o'clock, for the purpose of discussing the banquet to be held by the softball players.

The following managers should be present: Reed and Lutz of the Radiators, Dave Riley of St. Andrews, Ray Cutler of East Side Merchants, Harry Mack of Merchants, Krueger and Koltz of the W. S. Merchants, "Pop" Miller of Ellwood City, "Dutch" Miles of Cunninghams, Dom DeCaprio of the Cascades, Stan Coprowski of the Scarazzos, John and Joe Fair of the Unions, Henry Engs of the Tolans, Wyman and Reardon of the Pump Stations, Sheldone and Gallagher of the Hannons, Joe Kelly of the Saks, "Flash" Audia, Fred Marcella, Tom Conti, Perch Ross, Huston, Earl Riley, Dennis, Crable, McKissock, Hnat, Gordon, Brincko, Wilson and Howard Smith.

Plans are under way to make the sixth annual banquet one of the biggest and best in the history of softball in New Castle.

Cuba And McMurdo With Philadelphia

Paul Cuba, former New Castle High and Pitt star football player and Jim McMurdo of Ellwood City former Ellwood High and Pitt star football player have signed contracts to play with the strong Philadelphia Nationals in the professional football league this year. Coach Lud Wray is well pleased to have Cuba and McMurdo on his line, as he considers the two Lawrence County boys two of the best pro football players in the country. Both boys weigh well over the 200 pound mark.

Bessemer Takes Opening Game

TEAMS PLAY AT BESSEMER SUNDAY

Bessemer got the jump on West Pittsburg in the first of a five-game series for the championship of the Lawrence county baseball league, 4 to 1, at West Pittsburg yesterday. The largest crowd of the season witnessed the game, in which Snyder outpitched Houk.

The second game will be played at 2:30 p. m. Sunday at Bessemer.

Bessemer opened the scoring in the second and before the frame ended they had rushed two runs across the plate and chalked up a third in the fifth inning. West Pittsburg got their lone tally in the sixth and to make it good measure Bessemer scored their fourth run in the eighth.

Cracraft poled a pair of doubles and Benson made one two-base hit. Houk did not seem to cause any trouble for Manager Martin's batters and four of his proteges came through with a pair of hits. Only Vlah, T. Puromaki and Snyder failed to get a safe blow.

Weakness In Commodity Market Deters Stocks From Further Vigorous Effort

PRICE CHANGES VERY SLIGHT

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Weakness in the commodity markets deterred stocks from any further vigorous effort today and the list as a whole marked time right from the opening.

With the exception of a few fractional gains in the gold mining and several other issues, the main body of stocks showed little change from yesterday's closing levels.

United States Steel opened fractionally higher on a small volume of trading and then just managed to hold its own. Other industrial shares gave similar performances.

Scattered selling was evident in the utility shares. Consolidated Gas, American Water Works, and Columbia Gas were inclined to be sluggish and heavy.

Railroad stocks were generally mixed with Union Pacific off about half a point while Atchison and New York Central showed fractional gains.

In the commodity markets wheat lost from fractions to more than a cent a bushel, and cotton sold down about 75 cents a bale.

General Motors and Chrysler were dull and firm. Aviations were sluggish with United Aircraft down fractionally. Liquors, specialties and chemicals were quiet. Oils marked time.

95TH TIME IN COURT

(International News Service)

SALEM, Mass.—Police believe that Salvatore Vitale, elderly Beverly resident, holds some sort of a record. He has been in court exactly 95 times on various minor charges. His latest appearance brought an indefinite sentence to the state farm on a non-support and drunkenness charge.

Anyway, when that grass finally grows in the city streets, it will come in handy to resod the farms.

"SPAGHETTI" TRIMS GREEN CREPE

Whether you like the Italian dish or not, you'll enjoy the effect of the "spaghetti" trimming on this pale green crepe frock worn by Mae Clarke in a recent picture. Notice the jeweled rings holding the trimming in place, and which are matched by belt buckle.

State-Wide Fingerprinting Drive

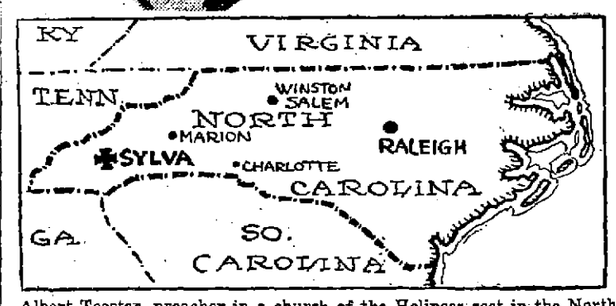

Alice E. Power (left) and Mary Taylor, Boston bureau of identification attaches, who are aiding in campaign to have all mothers and children in Massachusetts fingerprinted, show how simple it is to obtain these records. State-wide fingerprinting is sought as means of identification in emergencies such as kidnapings, disappearances, etc. (Central Press)

Pastor Winning Bout With Snake

Albert Teester, preacher in a church of the Holiness sect in the North Carolina mountains, near Sylva, used a snake—purported to have been a venomous rattler—in his pulpit to illustrate a sermon on faith and, it is reported, was bitten. He has survived more than a week, having refused all medical attention in accordance with the tenets of the church. (Central Press)

Love Conquers All

Ellis Loeb, scion of New York banking family, wasn't daunted when Hella Toros, Italian opera singer, refused to wed him because of the difference in their religious affiliations. He followed her to Europe to overcome her parents' objections and then her own. They'll be married in Milan at Christmas. (Central Press)

In Shadow of Electric Chair

Prosecuting officials at Cooperstown, N. Y., are seeking death penalty for Mrs. Eva Coo, innkeeper, on trial charged with murdering Harry Wright, invalid, in an insurance plot. Another woman accused of aiding her, Mrs. Martha Clift (inset), mother of two, will be tried separately. Mrs. Coo is shown in jail, before judge banned photographers from trial. (Central Press)

Doug, Hollywood-Bound, Mum

Douglas Fairbanks, Sr., arriving in New York from Europe aboard the liner Rex, came through a barrage of questions without admitting anything about a possible reconciliation with Mary Pickford, although he is bound for Hollywood. He's shown on the "spot" aboard ship. (Central Press)

THE DEANS AGAIN

The St. Louis Cardinal rooters who have spent most of the season wishing their entry had a whole club of Deans probably now realize the value of the other slabsters. Diz and Paul aren't going to be of any help to the Cards in a pennant way by vacationing in Floride.

Prior to leaving the band wagon, the fraternal order played hooky, tore up two uniforms, and were fined and suspended. Not much excitement in the life of a Dean, probably, but it is going to cause the Cardinal bosses a few sleepless nights.

Right now the Red Birds are lucky they dont have twenty-three Deans. If they had they would be confronted with the problem of having no players except those starting on fishing trips. And even if they did persuade them to postpone the fishing, they would be without uniforms.

The thirty three games the brothers have won and the gate attraction they are responsible for should make any manager happy. But along with the silver lining there has to be a cloud. And the Dean cloud is in the form of strikes, suspensions, fines, truancy and dissension.

Dizzy has been an "off again, on again, Finnegan" problem since he joined the club in 1932. This year Paul has made the problem a double one by following his elder brother in his escapades.

Early in the season they went out on strike to get Paul a salary boost. The manner in which the other hurlers are ignored when Diz and Paul talk about the winning hurlers on the Card staff, has caused dissension. And finally has come more disappearing, fines, suspension and an added threat to quit.

That's a heavy worry for a club to shoulder and it is even heavier for St. Louis because the team really needs the Deans. Take the two star pitchers from any of the pennant contenders and they will finish in the second division.

With over half of the Cardinal pitching staff on a fishing trip in Florida, it isn't possible for the team to remain in the pennant fight. Breaden faces the alternative of a reconciliation or of having the Deanless Cards fighting it out with the Cincinnati Reds for seventh position.

Probably a reconciliation will result, at least for the remainder of the season. But the real interest will come during the winter months. The St. Louis organization has been emphatic in its stand on differences of opinion between the front office and the players. Many a star has left St. Louis for less disturbance than the Deans have caused. It remains to be seen whether the Cards will part with one or both of their star hurlers.

In 1932 Chick Hafey had an idea of his value which was considerably higher than the owner's estimate so Chick was sent to the Reds. Rogers Hornsby argued himself out in 1926. Jim Bottomley followed Hafey to Cincinnati. George Watkins wouldn't sign so the Cards made a deal with New York this spring. Managers like Street and McKechnie were let loose despite good records.

So even though the Deans are colorful ball players their job in St. Louis could hardly be called secure. As great as the brothers are, both in playing and gala attraction, they haven't yet surpassed Hornsby, or Hafey.

SPORT SIDELIGHTS

Crazy Schmidt, the old-time pitcher, always carried a notebook telling of batter's weakness. He consulted it one day when Pop Anson came to bat with the bases full and the score tied in the last inning. The notebook said: "Anson—dangerous hitter—walk", and Schmidt proceeded to walk him, forcing in the winning run.

Store Employes In Merry Outing

New Castle Dry Goods Force Has Gala Time At Camp East Brook

CONTESTS, DINNER AND ACTS FEATURE

Featured by novelty contests, a delicious picnic dinner and an evening of hilarious stage entertainment, the annual outing of employes of the New Castle Dry Goods company last night at Camp East Brook of the Y. W. C. A., near East Brook station, broke all standing records for merriment so far as the store's past social functions are concerned.

A caravan of motor cars carried almost 140 clerks and office workers and officials to the East Brook celebration.

The store ceased activity at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon to allow the employes to reach the camp ground early and in time for the special outdoor contests which Frank Perry and his able sports committee had arranged.

The dinner, served in the camp's regular dining hall, came in between the novelty events.

General Chairman E. J. Culliford and his host of aides wanted to make sure that the evening hours would be as amusing as the before-dinner period was, and, with their offering of "The Squeedunk Quire Rehersel" and "A Womanless Wedding," comic stage acts, they certainly succeeded. Featuring the evening also was a specialty dance which one of the talented department heads, Horace Morgan gave. Hazel Roberts accompanied him.

Culliford was general chairman of the outing, ably assisted by Miss Marjorie Kuhn, advertising manager. Mrs. Margaret Heckart and her hard-working dinner committee handled all the dining arrangements, Frank Perry and his aides directed the sports, Dorothy Pregenzer and her aides handled the entertainment and Blake Waldo and his assistants took care of the transportation.

In "The Squeedunk Quire Rehersel" the following girls appeared:

Margaret Travers, Elsie Warner, Virginia Shafenocker, Eleanor McConnell, Mrs. Leon Drum, Elizabeth Reese, Hazel Roberts, Pearl Douglas, Bess Ramsey, Carrie Swanson, Mrs. Anna Phillips, Mary Woodrow, Betty Kehna, Gladys Irwin, Bertha Miller, Bill Bilger, Anna Huckles, Dorothy Pregenzer, Mrs. McComb and Katherine Kurtz.

Participating in the "Womanless Wedding" cast were these:

Bride, Charles Crowl; groom, James Martin; preacher, H. J. Culliford; flowers girls, Bill Bilger and Gene Brotmarkle; uncles, James DeVore and Paul Reffner; suitor, Mr. Meyer; baby, Clifford Barr; dad, Horace Morgan, and mother, James Marshal.

The entertainment committee of Miss Pregenzer was composed of Margaret Travers, James DeVore and Charles Crowl.

Results of the novelty contests which came before and after the dinner were:

Obstacle race for girls—Jean Wallace.

Obstacle race for boys—Willis Kneram.

Balloon race for girls—Mrs. Eleanor McConnell.

Balloon race for fellows—Henry Snyder.

Egg-throwing race—Paul Reffner and Willis Shellenberger.

Banana-eating race—Clifford Barr and June Montgomery.

Peanut-carrying race for women—Caroline Richards.

Peanut-carrying race for boys—Robert Stillwagon.

Cracker-eating contest—Henry Snyder.

Children's peanut-carrying contest—Dulcie Culliford, nine years old.

Juicy tomato-eating contest for officials and guests—John Crowl.

Pep singing featured the intermission between acts during the evening and at the close the group joined in bingo. Prizes were given to winners of the contests.

Store Managers J. W. Staudinger and A. L. Bintz, Jr., attended with their wives and joined in the outing fun.

Issues Warning Counterfeit Bills Are In Circulation

Three Men Are Arrested On Charge Of Passing Bogus Bills

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17.—William A. Landvoight, district chief of the United States secret service, today issued a warning to merchants and civilians throughout western Pennsylvania to be on guard against $10 counterfeit federal reserve notes which have been rushed into the district within the past few days.

He announced his department had found counterfeiters have brought in large quantities of the spurious bills which are drawn on the New York, Philadelphia and Richmond, Va., federal reserve districts.

Three men were arrested in the government's general drive to stop bogus money passing. Accused of possessing counterfeit notes, those held by the United States commissioner are Philip Beroway, $5,000 bail; Sam Malnek, $3,000 bail, and Stanny Bugohanot, $3,000 bail. They were arrested in Glenview, Clearfield county.

Sues Father-In-Law For Alienation Of Husband's Affection

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.—The accusation that her father-in-law defamed and tyrannized her after she repulsed his advances was contained today in a $25,000 alienation of affections suit brought by Mrs. Isabella Takvorian, 19, against Saragan Takvorian, a merchant tailor.

The girl asserts in her bill of complaint that she was married to Takvorian's son in December, 1932, and shortly thereafter her father-in-law began courting her. When she persistently rejected the man's advances Mrs. Takvorian alleges he uttered "malicious slanders" against her, influencing her husband to become "quarrelsome and inattentive."

The young wife also accuses her father-in-law of numerous acts of brutality which culminated in her expulsion from the tailor's house where she and her husband were living.

CITY DADS DIDN'T LEAVE ANYTHING

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 17.—Sneak thieves evidently didn't like the looks of the place, or they were frightened.

At any rate, after troubling themselves to smash the lock on the door, they "nosed" around the city hall interior for a few minutes, then departed without ruffling a single paper.

It was the second intrusion in four days. In the first entry, sneak thieves escaped with $75 in cash from various offices during the noon lunch hour.

Every president should have eight years. It takes four to clean up the mess left by his predecessor.

Conductors And Wives Gather For Picnic Thursday

Picnic Supper Is Enjoyed By O. R. C., Ladies And Families

Because of the inclement weather the Order of Railroad Conductors and Ladies' Auxiliary met for a picnic supper in the city building instead of Cascade Park as had been planned.

Guests numbered about 45 and the delicious supper was served at 6:00 p. m.

Later card playing was an interesting diversion. The ladies' prize went to Mrs. William Saul and the men's prize went to William Frew. The youngsters were presented with lollypops during the evening.

Arrangements for the affair were made by Mrs. W. P. McGrath, Mrs. Ed. Gilbert, Mrs. Alice Guy, Mrs. Fred Flowers, Mrs. H. S. Gillespie, Mrs. Charles Thompson, Mrs. Clarence Armstrong and Mrs. Joseph Frew.

Observations In 7th Ward

"Bandit" is the game enveloping the attention of a band of little boys here and if you hear any "bing bings" it is likely a machine gun or a sawed off shot gun, not a call for Crosby. The object of the game seems to be "not to get shot" and if you should perchance, get shot, not to admit it. The guns are handmade affairs shooting large rubber bands.

"Mac" McConnell who operated one of the street cars on the Mahoningtown line, says that not a passenger did he get for Cascade Park until noon yesterday but then they began boarding the car and by late in the afternoon he had transported dozens of seventh warders to the Old Timers Day setting.

The insultingest insult in use among the little boys just now is to call another "Cabbage Head."

RURAL ROADS BAD

The severe rain storms of the past several weeks, with yesterday's drizzle adding some to the condition, the unpaved roads of Rural Route No. 8 are in bad shape, almost impassable in some places. Several landslides were caused by the heaviest cloudburst, and, although the damage was repaired to some extent the roads are not in the good condition they were a month ago.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

Jay Huffman, of Akron, O., superintendent of signals for the B. &. O. was in seventh ward Thursday on business.

Thomas Parks, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Parks, Mrs. Cecile Brown and son Cecil Brown, all of Oakmont, were Thursday visitors in Seventh Ward.

Friends learn that the condition of Mrs. Frank Nelson, of Cleveland, O., is very much improved. Mrs. Nelson, who has visited here frequently, has been critically ill.

Division Employes At Meeting Here

Pennsylvania railroad employes from all over the E. & A. division were here Thursday to attend the periodical meetings of the division's loss and damage prevention and safety committees.

Superintendent E. S. Reed presided over the safety session and E. A. Fenton, supervising agent, over the loss and damage meeting.

FORMER MERCHANT IS ILL IN IRELAND

Mrs. D. D. Valensi, Lincoln avenue, has received a cablegram today that her father, Thomas McCormick, is ill at Analong, Ireland.

Mr. McCormick, a former merchant of Long avenue, has been visiting relatives in Ireland for several months, but expected to return to the states in June. No word was received as to the seriousness of his illness.

Conductors And Wives Gather For Picnic Thursday

Picnic Supper Is Enjoyed By O. R. C., Ladies And Families

Because of the inclement weather the Order of Railroad Conductors and Ladies' Auxiliary met for a picnic supper in the city building instead of Cascade Park as had been planned.

Guests numbered about 45 and the

Observations In 7th Ward

"Bandit" is the game enveloping the attention of a band of little boys here and if you hear any "bing bings" it is likely a machine gun or a sawed off shot gun, not a call for Crosby. The object of the game seems to be "not to get shot" and if you should, perchance, get shot, not to admit it. The guns are handmade affairs shooting large rubber bands.

"Mac" McConnell who operated one of the street cars on the Mahoningtown line, says that not a passenger did he get for Cascade Park until noon yesterday but then they began boarding the car and by late in the afternoon he had transported dozens of seventh warders to the Old Timers Day setting.

The insultingest insult in use among the little boys just now is to call another "Cabbage Head."

RURAL ROADS BAD

The severe rain storms of the past several weeks, with yesterday's drizzle adding some to the condition, the unpaved roads of Rural Route No. 8 are in bad shape, almost impassable in some places. Several landslides were caused by the heaviest cloudburst, and, although the damage was repaired to some extent the roads are not in the good condition they were a month ago.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

Jay Huffman, of Akron, O., superintendent of signals for the B. & O. was in seventh ward Thursday on business.

Thomas Parks, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Parks, Mrs. Cecile Brown and son Cecil Brown, all of Oakmont, were Thursday visitors in Seventh Ward.

Friends learn that the condition of Mrs. Frank Nelson, of Cleveland, O., is very much improved. Mrs. Nelson, who has visited here frequently, has been critically ill.

Division Employes At Meeting Here

Pennsylvania railroad employes from all over the E. & A. division were here Thursday to attend the periodical meetings of the division's loss and damage prevention and safety committees.

Superintendent E. S. Reed presided over the safety session and E. A. Fenton, supervising agent, over the loss and damage meeting.

FORMER MERCHANT IS ILL IN IRELAND

Mrs. D. D. Valensi, Lincoln avenue, has received a cablegram today that her father, Thomas McCormick, is ill at Analong, Ireland.

Mr. McCormick, a former merchant of Long avenue, has been visiting relatives in Ireland for several months, but expected to return to the states in June. No word was received as to the seriousness of his illness.

SOLONS USE THREATS TO COLLECT TAXES

(International News Service)

LEBANON, Pa., Aug. 17.—City council members have hit upon an effective way of bringing in delinquent taxes.

Announcing that all taxpayers in arrears would be subjected to the embarrassment of seeing their names listed in the local paper unless they "paid up" by the first of the month, the solons witnessed an immediate pick-up in tax collections.

Correct this sentence: "John didn't like my hat," said the wife, "so I took it back and exchanged."

You can tell a home of the poor. If a home is in a mess, the lady is rich enough to have servants.

Swimming Marks Are Set At Erie

Four New Marks Are Set Up At Closing Meet Of A. M. A. In Erie, Penna.

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 17.—Four new marks and the names of six new aquatic champions went into the swimming records today as the A. M. A. water championships drew to a close here.

Lenore Kight, national swimming champion of Homestead, churned her way to an easy victory in the 440-yard women's senior A. M. A. event in the record-smashing time of 5:39.3. She was followed to the tape by Mae Clark and Anna Gorman, teammates, in that order. Homestead Library bagged three other first places to steal the show, and catapult Rus Lindberg to the district swimming front.

Summaries:

100-meter men's junior—Won by Knauer, Erie; second, Dobrowlski, Erie; third, Smith, Homestead. Time 1:-8.2.

100-meter women's junior—Won by Boyer, Homestead; second, Fagan, and third, Wein, both of Homestead. Time 1:23.

220-yard men's senior—Won by Lindberg, Homestead; second, Bruechel, P. A. A.; third, Faner, Erie. Time 2:24.3 (new record).

440-yard women's senior—Won by Kight, Homestead; second, Clark, and third, Gorman, both of Homestead. Time 5:39.3 (new record).

880-yard men's senior—Won by Lindberg, Homestead; second, Smith, Erie; third, Yermak, Homestead. Time 11:42 (new record).

220-yard men's senior breakstroke—Won by Stano, Erie; second, Smith, Homestead; third, Persianoff, Erie. Time 3:08.1 (new record).

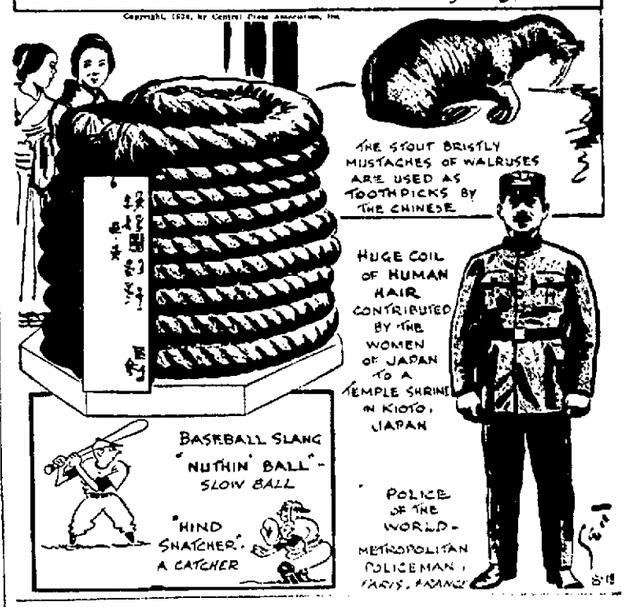

Rads Will Play Valley Champs

Radiator softball team will play the Beaver Falls championship team at the Radiator Field Sunday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Last Sunday the Rads defeated the Ellwood City All-Stars 9 to 5 at Ellwood City.

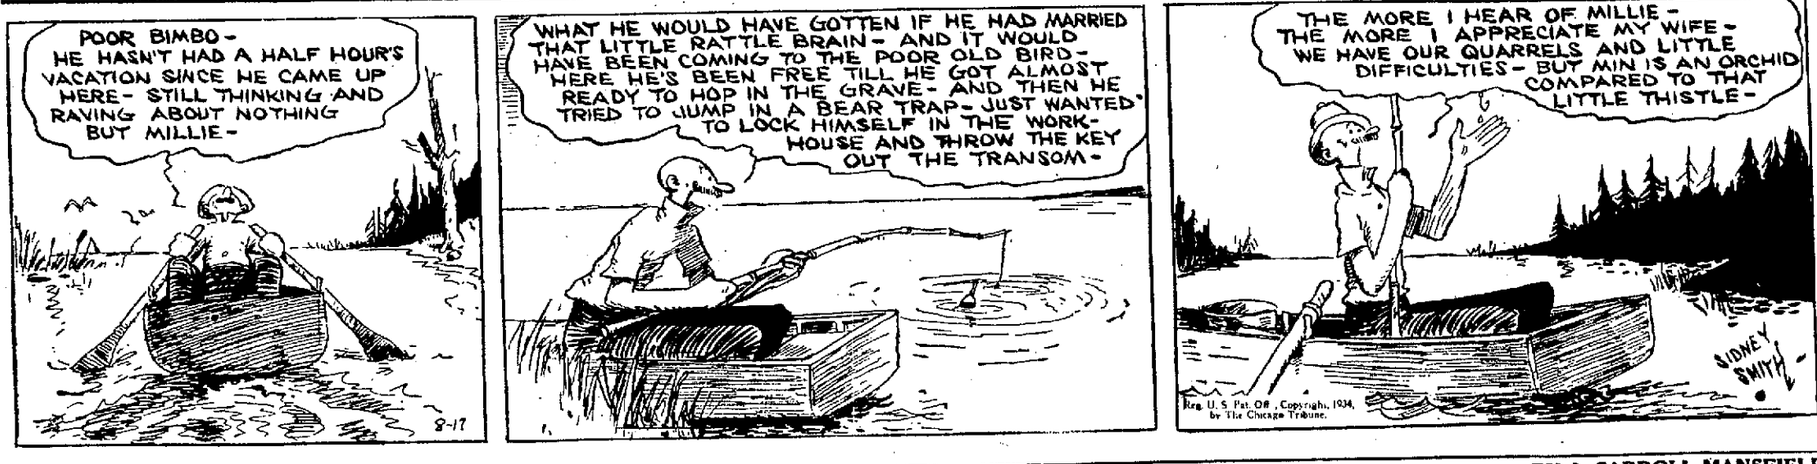

The Beaver Falls champions will come here with the idea of taking the measure of the Lawrence County league champs. Either Mauri or Pezzone will go against the valleyites.

Weakness In Commodity Market Deters Stocks From Further Vigorous Effort

PRICE CHANGES VERY SLIGHT

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Aug. 17.—Weakness in the commodity markets deterred stocks from any further vigorous effort today and the list as a whole marked time right from the opening.

With the exception of a few fractional gains in the gold mining and several other issues, the main body of stocks showed little change from yesterday's closing levels.

United States Steel opened fractionally higher on a small volume of trading and then just managed to hold its own. Other industrial shares gave similar performances.

Scattered selling was evident in the utility shares. Consolidated Gas, American Water Works, and Columbia Gas were inclined to be sluggish and heavy.

Railroad stocks were generally mixed with Union Pacific off about half a point while Atchison and New York Central showed fractional gains.

In the commodity markets wheat lost from fractions to more than a cent a bushel, and cotton sold down about 75 cents a bale.

General Motors and Chrysler were dull and firm. Aviations were sluggish with United Aircraft down fractionally. Liquors, specialties and chemicals were quiet. Oils marked time.

95TH TIME IN COURT

(International News Service)

SALEM, Mass.—Police believe that Salvatore Vitale, elderly Beverly resident, holds some sort of a record. He has been in court exactly 95 times on various minor charges. His latest appearance brought an indefinite sentence to the state farm on a non-support and drunkenness charge.

Anyway, when that grass finally grows in the city streets, it will come in handy to resod the farms.

"SPAGHETTI" TRIMS GREEN CREPE

Whether you like the Italian dish or not, you'll enjoy the effect of the "spaghetti" trimming on this pale green crepe frock worn by Mae Clarke in a recent picture. Notice the jeweled rings holding the trimming in place, and which are matched by belt buckle.

Love Conquers All

Ellis Loeb, scion of New York banking family, wasn't daunted when Hella Toros, Italian opera singer, refused to wed him because of the difference in their religious affiliations. He followed her to Europe to overcome her parents' objections and then her own. They'll be married in Milan at Christmas. (Central Press)

In Shadow of Electric Chair

Prosecuting officials at Cooperstown, N. Y., are seeking death penalty for Mrs. Eva Coo, innkeeper, on trial charged with murdering Harry Wright, invalid, in an insurance plot. Another woman accused of aiding her, Mrs. Martha Clift (inset), mother of two, will be tried separately. Mrs. Coo is shown in jail, before judge banned photographers from trial. (Central Press)

LIFE ONE CIRCLE AFTER ANOTHER

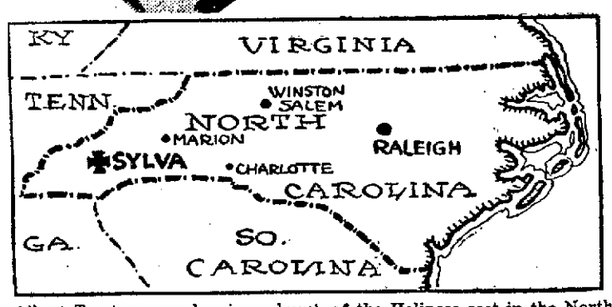

Reuben Young

Here is a man who has been going around in circles most of his life, and he likes it! He is Reuben Young, of Salt Lake City, who is believed to be the national champion of the merry-go-round, having been working on the amusement contraptions for the past 22 years. He is shown with "Silver King", the favorite among the wooden chargers on his merry-go-round.

Pastor Winning Bout With Snake

Albert Teester, preacher in a church of the Holiness sect in the North Carolina mountains, near Sylva, used a snake—purported to have been a venomous rattler—in his pulpit to illustrate a sermon on faith and, it is reported, was bitten. He has survived more than a week, having refused all medical attention in accordance with the tenets of the church. (Central Press)

Doug, Hollywood-Bound, Mum

Doesn't Want Another Snake Bite

Albert Teester, Sylva, N. C., preacher who survived rattlesnake bite he received during sermon on faith, is telling the world, "I wouldn't touch a rattler again for all the gold in the United States—unless God tells me to!" Other Southern pastors promise similar demonstrations with snakes. (Central Press)

Store Employes In Merry Outing

CONTESTS, DINNER AND ACTS FEATURE

Featured by novelty contests, a delicious picnic dinner and an evening of hilarious stage entertainment, the annual outing of employes of the New Castle Dry Goods company last night at Camp East Brook of the Y. W. C. A., near East Brook station, broke all standing records for merriment so far as the store's past social functions are concerned.

A caravan of motor cars carried almost 140 clerks and office workers and officials to the East Brook celebration.

The store ceased activity at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon to allow the employes to reach the camp ground early and in time for the special outdoor contests which Frank Perry and his able sports committee had arranged.

The dinner, served in the camp's regular dining hall, came in between the novelty events.

General Chairman H. J. Culliford and his host of aides wanted to make sure that the evening hours would be as amusing as the before-dinner period was, and, with their offering of "The Squeedunk Quire Rehersel" and "A Womanless Wedding," comic stage acts, they certainly succeeded. Featuring the evening also was a specialty dance which one of the talented department heads, Horace Morgan gave. Hazel Roberts accompanied him.

Culliford was general chairman of the outing, ably assisted by Miss Marjorie Kuhn, advertising manager. Mrs. Margaret Heckart and her hard-working dinner committee handled all the dining arrangements, Frank Perry and his aides directed the sports, Dorothy Pregenzer and her aides handled the entertainment and Blake Waldo and his assistants took care of the transportation.

In "The Squeedunk Quire Rehersel" the following girls appeared:

Margaret Travers, Elsie Warner, Virginia Shafenocker, Eleanor McConnell, Mrs. Leon Drum, Elizabeth Reese, Hazel Roberts, Pearl Douglas, Bess Ramsey, Carrie Swanson, Mrs. Anna Phillips, Mary Woodrow, Betty Kehna, Gladys Irwin, Bertha Miller, Bill Bilger, Anna Huckles, Dorothy Pregenzer, Mrs. McComb and Katherine Kurtz.

Participating in the "Womanless Wedding" cast were these:

Bride, Charles Crowl; groom, James Martin; preacher, H. J. Culliford; flowers girls, Bill Bilger and Gene Brotmarkle; uncles, James DeVore and Paul Reffner; suitor, Mr. Meyer; baby, Clifford Barr; dad, Horace Morgan, and mother, James Marshal.

The entertainment committee of Miss Pregenzer was composed of Margaret Travers, James DeVore and Charles Crowl.

Results of the novelty contests which came before and after the dinner were:

Obstacle race for girls—Jean Wallace.

Obstacle race for boys—Willis Kneram.

Balloon race for girls—Mrs. Eleanor McConnell.

Balloon race for fellows—Henry Snyder.

Egg-throwing race—Paul Reffner and Willis Shellenberger.

Banana-eating race—Clifford Barr and June Montgomery.

Peanut-carrying race for women—Caroline Richards.

Peanut-carrying race for boys—Robert Stillwagon.

Cracker-eating contest—Henry Snyder.

Children's peanut-carrying contest—Dulcie Culliford, nine years old.

Juicy tomato-eating contest for officials and guests—John Crowl.

Pep singing featured the intermission between acts during the evening and at the close the group joined in bingo. Prizes were given to winners of the contests.

Store Managers J. W. Staudinger and A. L. Bintz, Jr., attended with their wives and joined in the outing fun.

Issues Warning Counterfeit Bills Are In Circulation

Three Men Are Arrested On Charge Of Passing Bogus Bills

(International News Service)

PITTSBURGH, Aug. 17.—William A. Landvoight, district chief of the United States secret service, today issued a warning to merchants and civilians throughout western Pennsylvania to be on guard against $10 counterfeit federal reserve notes which have been rushed into the district within the past few days.

He announced his department had found counterfeiters have brought in large quantities of the spurious bills which are drawn on the New York, Philadelphia and Richmond, Va., federal reserve districts.

Three men were arrested in the government's general drive to stop bogus money passing. Accused of possessing counterfeit notes, those held by the United States commissioner are Philip Beroway, $5,000 bail; Sam Malnek, $3,000 bail, and Stanny Bugohanot, $3,000 bail. They were arrested in Glenview, Clearfield county.

Sues Father-In-Law For Alienation Of Husband's Affection

(International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 17.—The accusation that her father-in-law defamed and tyrannized her after she repulsed his advances was contained today in a $25,000 alienation of affections suit brought by Mrs. Isabella Takvorian, 19, against Saragan Takvorian, a merchant tailor.

The girl asserts in her bill of complaint that she was married to Takvorian's son in December, 1932, and shortly thereafter her father-in-law began courting her. When she persistently rejected the man's advances Mrs. Takvorian alleges he uttered "malicious slanders" against her, influencing her husband to become "quarrelsome and inattentive."

The young wife also accuses her father-in-law of numerous acts of brutality which culminated in her expulsion from the tailor's house where she and her husband were living.

CITY DADS DIDN'T LEAVE ANYTHING

(International News Service)

ERIE, Pa., Aug. 17.—Sneak thieves evidently didn't like the looks of the place, or they were frightened.

At any rate, after troubling themselves to smash the lock on the door, they "nosed" around the city hall interior for a few minutes, then departed without ruffling a single paper.

It was the second intrusion in four days. In the first entry, sneak thieves escaped with $75 in cash from various offices during the noon lunch hour.

Every president should have eight years. It takes four to clean up the mess left by his predecessor.

Correct this sentence: "I like a few snorts of hooch," said she, "but I won't stand for petting."

Conductors And Wives Gather For Picnic Thursday

Picnic Supper Is Enjoyed By O. R. C., Ladies And Families

Because of the inclement weather the Order of Railroad Conductors and Ladies' Auxiliary met for a picnic supper in the city building instead of Cascade Park as had been planned.

Guests numbered about 45 and the delicious supper was served at 6:00 p. m.

Later card playing was an interesting diversion. The ladies' prize went to Mrs. William Saul and the men's prize went to William Frew. The youngsters were presented with lollypops during the evening.

Arrangements for the affair were made by Mrs. W. P. McGrath, Mrs. Ed. Gilbert, Mrs. Alice Guy, Mrs. Fred Flowers, Mrs. H. S. Gillespie, Mrs. Charles Thompson, Mrs. Clarence Armstrong and Mrs. Joseph Frew.

Observations In 7th Ward

"Bandit" is the game enveloping the attention of a band of little boys here and if you hear any "bing bings" it is likely a machine gun or a sawed off shot gun, not a call for Crosby. The object of the game seems to be "not to get shot" and if you should, perchance, get shot, not to admit it. The guns are handmade affairs shooting large rubber bands.

"Mac" McConnell who operated one of the street cars on the Mahoningtown line, says that not a passenger did he get for Cascade Park until noon yesterday but then they began boarding the car and by late in the afternoon he had transported dozens of seventh warders to the Old Timers Day setting.

The insultingest insult in use among the little boys just now is to call another "Cabbage Head."

RURAL ROADS BAD

The severe rain storms of the past several weeks, with yesterday's drizzle adding some to the condition, the unpaved roads of Rural Route No. 8 are in bad shape, almost impassable in some places. Several landslides were caused by the heaviest cloudburst, and, although the damage was repaired to some extent the roads are not in the good condition they were a month ago.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

Jay Huffman, of Akron, O., superintendent of signals for the B. & O. was in seventh ward Thursday on business.

Thomas Parks, Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Parks, Mrs. Cecile Brown and son Cecil Brown, all of Oakmont, were Thursday visitors in Seventh Ward.

Friends learn that the condition of Mrs. Frank Nelson, of Cleveland, O., is very much improved. Mrs. Nelson, who has visited here frequently, has been critically ill.

Division Employes At Meeting Here

Pennsylvania railroad employes from all over the E. & A. division were here Thursday to attend the periodical meetings of the division's loss and damage prevention and safety committees.

Superintendent E. S. Reed presided over the safety session and E. A. Fenton, supervising agent, over the loss and damage meeting.

FORMER MERCHANT IS ILL IN IRELAND

Mrs. D. D. Valensi, Lincoln avenue, has received a cablegram today that her father, Thomas McCormick, is ill at Analong, Ireland.

Mr. McCormick, a former merchant of Long avenue, has been visiting relatives in Ireland for several months, but expected to return to the states in June. No word was received as to the seriousness of his illness.

SOLONS USE THREATS TO COLLECT TAXES

(International News Service)

LEBANON, Pa., Aug. 17.—City council members have hit upon an effective way of bringing in delinquent taxes.

Announcing that all taxpayers in arrears would be subjected to the embarrassment of seeing their names listed in the local paper unless they "paid up" by the first of the month, the solons witnessed an immediate pick-up in tax collections.

Correct this sentence: "John didn't like my hat," said the wife, "so I took it back and exchanged."

You can tell a home of the poor. If a home is in a mess, the lady is rich enough to have servants.
